THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

"First the blade, then the ear, then the full grain in the ear,"

NATO

The Monitor's view

What future for Africa?

called up images of old Africa to generations of outsiders who barely knew one African country from another. But the Zambezi's route to the sea is through Mozambique, whose final independence from Portugal this week will be followed by that of Angola in November, virtually completing the continent's stormy transition to a new Africa free of colonial rule. When future generations hear "Zambezi," will their images be of an Africa where strife continued and freedom dwindled again — or of independence wisely used after being bravely won, and of fruitful interdependence among African lands and with the rest of the world?

Not encouraging is the trend toward military authoritarian rule in still young indepen-dent nations. Economic and health problems remain severe. Tribal animosities linger. The threat of famine is seldom far away.

But the momentum for independence continues. (Spain last month announced it would give up Spanish Sahara.) And hope for peace and individual rights inches forward a shade more than it drops back in conflict-ridden

The leaders of three clashing liberation movements in Angola announced efforts to permit the decolonization process to return to normal." The progress toward constitutional reform in Rhodesia moves back one day and forward the next, as the white government and divided black nationalists wrangle over preconditions.

In the latter situation, hopes are bolstered by the impetus toward settlement being given by Prime Minister Vorster of South Africa. even though he remains firm on his basic racial policy, with some concessions, within South Africa. South Africa has failed to meet United Nations demands to act quickly and decisively in ending its illegal occupation of Namibia (South-West Africa). But South Africa's position stated to the United Nations last month seems less obdurate than two years ago. It can be nudged further in this direction by world opinion, even without the mandatory arms embargo which was vetoed in the Security Council by Britain, France, and the

As for the new Africa's emerging position in an interdependent world, there has been progress through recently agreed-on linkages with the European Common Market. Out of the UN food conference came considerable

China and sports

China, with its population four times that of the United States, should have great potential as a power in international sports.

During the recent tour of American track and field athletes to compete in China's major cities, the Chinese showed intense interest in U.S. athletic techniques. Clinics held by the American coaches drew dozens of their Chinese counterparts and lasted hours. The friendly, patient, disciplined attitude of the Chinese, in addition to their vast numbers, strongly impressed their more athletically advanced American visitors.

Mina a spalitarian society which amphasizes the societies? Societies? The said, "is a commodity of the capitalistic world - the desire to work hard to get that second Cadillac, to outdo the Joneses, be the best."

One can be a partisan of athletic success for the Western democratic powers and still question the coach's linkup between athletic meentive and materialistic success. The impulse to excel in sports or any other field is not necessarily connected with a hunger for fame or wealth. Would any amount of money daugled in front of Bach have improved his compositions? Could any external reward have made Einstein's discoveries more brilliant? Did Roger Bannister's sub-four-minute mile result from "capitalist" incentive?

Printed in Greet Britain by King & Itstichings, Urbridge, Middleser for The Chrollan Science Publishing Society. One Norsky Street, Boston, U.S.A. Landen Office, 418 Growtendr Place, Lönden, S.W.1.

more and more in international assemblies.

But, in many ways, Africans still understandably feel neglected. Some leaders have been outspokenly concerned about the U.S. replacement of Donald Easum, with all his experience and goodwill in Africa, by Nathaniel Davis, whom they opposed, as Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs. But Secretary Kissinger has placed the appointment in a context of showing not less but greater regard for Africa — an intention that

Crisis in Uganda

The threatened execution of a British author in Uganda presents a particularly serious and delicate situation, especially in light of the troubled history of Ugandan President Idl Amin's four-year reign.

The death by firing squad of Denis Cecil Hills, charged with treason in the writing of a book critical of President Amin, has been postponed until July 4 pending Britain's response to a demand that Foreign Secretary James Callaghan come to Uganda to discuss "political aspects" of the case. Mr. Callaghan so far has refused, saying that capitulation in the Hills case could open the way for Uganda's using any of the 700 other Britons living in that country as hostage for future demands.

Great Britain is dealing with an autocratic ruler who has used ruthless tactics in the past to work his politically chauvinistic will. It still can be hoped that reason and mercy will prevail on Uganda's part, and that perhaps the United Nations or perhaps more practically the Organization of African Unity may be able to intervene. But in any case, Britain must proceed with the utmost of caution and political acumen if tragedy is to be averted.

World focus on women

ence, now under way in Mexico City, serves both to reemphasize the progress yet to be made in alleviating sex discrimination and to point up the differences between developed and "third-world" countries.

And this is as it should be. For the success of this natural sequel to last year's United Nations-sponsored conferences on population and food production depends on maintaining a global view of the role and rights of women in a world that seems to shrink almost daily.

Women have made gains in recent years. The U.S. House of Representatives increased its female membership from 12 to 18 last year. and the number of women in state legislatures doubled to 600 in 1974. A woman now heads one of Britain's political parties. But nine UN countries still do not afford women full political status, and the women's movement in the United States, as feminist Betty Friedan writes in a recent issue of Saturday Review, seems to have "turned inward on itself," leading to a "paralysis of action. The stalling of the equal rights amendment to the U.S. Constitution whose to

The United Nations is not a model of affirmative action. It has no female undersecretaries-general and but one (out of 16) assistant secretaries-general is a woman; only 16 percent of the 11,000 professional UN ployees are women. The world body proyided meager funding for the International Women's Year and had to be prodded into scheduling a conference.

The UN is no doubt the only organization that could have acted as structure for such a gathering, however, and with 123 countries represented and 4,500 women in attendance. the Mexico City conference should not lack the resources to draft a 10-year "world plan of action" for improving the position of women.

The selection of a man as co-head of the U.S. delegation, the election of Mexican Attorney General Pedro Paullada as president of the conference, and the fact that two men (UN Secretary-General Waldhelm and Mexican

The International Women's Year Confer- President Echevarria) were the first to speak at the inauguration ceremony also have caused anger among both government and private delegates.

The meeting has been marked by disagreement between feminists concerned with political rights and third-world women who want to concentrate on the "new economic order," or redistribution of the world's resources. There remains division between the UN conference and an unofficial women's meeting across town.

But active participation and vigorous dis-cussion of such basic issues as health care, education, economics, and politics is necessary for the conference to amount to more than the "hours of chatter" that Germaine Greer has predicted, and essential if International Women's Year is to serve as a stimulus for future action.

Press threat

The attempt of printers unions in Britain to control by discuptive incline the aditorial

In the latest case the presses of London's News of the World were stopped to protest a front-page article that criticized worker wage demands in Britain generally, and that newspaper's "overstaffing" in particular.

Granted it might be construed imprudent, if not a provocation, to discuss an internal labor situation so prominently. Still, freedom of speech cannot be curtailed by worker groups, or outside groups, acting as self-appointed censors.

Printers unions should have the opportunity to express their views, and if the views have standing as news to have them objectively reported. But to stop the presses in pique, or as part of a strategy to control editorial policy, can only reduce freedom of expression and media effectiveness.

Britain's economic situation is so grave that the British public, including the printers, cannot afford to slience any voice seriously seeking solutions.

Readers write Anti-materialism.

Amitat Etzlone's vision of an ethically ad piritually regenerated America, described in the recent article by David Anable, is a

Monday, June 30, 1975

In one sense Dr. Etzione's "pragmate idealism" is upbeat problem-solving in the best and brightest American tradition (and this may account at least in part for its appeal to the public and private agencies which have funded his research projects). But there is another dimension to the problem, suggester perhaps by the hesitancy of these same agencies to underwrite his proposal of ### depth study of the value-criteria that ###### govern the daily lives of individual Amer-

Surely there are few educated maricular who would contest the destrability of "higher values or even the notion that they are ideally union" or superior to the simple imperative to "win" or to "make a buck." But in a society as vast and explosively interogerapus as the U.S. any real challenge to the allent consensus that "conpelitive, materialist" values (in Dr. Eizlore's phrase i do in fact, provide the ultimit the business of living must threaten stability and viability of the socioecodom organism itself.

Isn't modern America's spirit and genis, the proverbial "dream" that binds its million into nationhood and organizes their energies. fundamentally, irroversibly 'materialis' in the amplest sense of the term? Perhaps it is well that a society engaged in the grid enterprise of generating the highest material standard of living for the greatest number of people. people in recorded history can hardly afford to pay more than lip (or research funding service to Dr. Elzione's demand that rededicate itself in midstream to the grafication of its citizenry's "higher needs." San Juan Island, Wash.

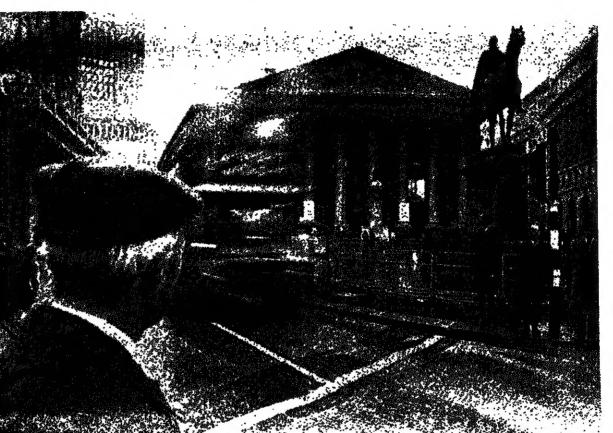

Letters are welcome. Only a selection can be published and none individually ooknowledged. All are subject to conWEEKLY INTERNATIONAL EDITION

THE LIBRARY - THE UNIVERSITY OF JORDAN

THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

In the battle for solvency

Workers hold fate of Britain in their hands

City of London: New confidence in the pound after Chancellor's pledge to curb inflation

Staff correspondent of

All eyes in Britain are fixed on the unions to see whether they will accept the statutory wage controls they had vowed never again to

Although Chancellor Denis Healey's precise plans remain to be spelled out in a white paper this week, it is generally agreed that the ten percent freeze on wages, prices, and dividends he has imposed means statutory wage controls in all but name.

The miners, whose Scottish and Yorkshire regional unions intended to demand £100 per week (about $230) before last week's precipitous fall of the pound, will be meeting in annual conference in Scarborough next week. The week after, the railwaymen will be holding their annual conference in Jersey.

A third powerful union, the seamen, is even now polling its members on whether or not to accept a 29.2 percent raise rejected by the union executive. To a country in such parlous economic state, and so dependent on foreign trade as Britain, a seamen's strike later this summer could be disestrous.

As a somewhat embarrassing footrfote, members of Parliament, who have not had a raise since 1972 and who earn only £4,500 ($9,900) a year, are hoping the 10 percent limit will not be applied to them until proposals upgrading their salaries by up to £3,000 ($6,600) a year have

It was the drastic decline in the value of the pound sterling on foreign exchange markets that forced the Labour Government to act. The fall, in turn, reflected a withering away of foreign confidence that Britain. bedeviled by a 25 percent inflation rate, would be able to manage its economy. Tuesday, after Mr. Healey made his dramatic announcement in Parliament, the pound bounced upward and share prices also made a

Mr. Henley's goal is to bring inflation down to 10 percent by September next year and to single-digit figures by the end of that year. Businessmen and the opposition Conservatives generally reacted favorably to his announcement, while cautioning that details were not

Moscow A sad day in India

rushes to fill Asian power vacuum

China's concern about Soviet expansionism in Asia became louder and stronger this last week as Moscow became the prime outside supporter of India's Indira Gandhi.

The message (of Chinese concern) has been audible, for some weeks, indeed since the beginning of American withdrawal from Indo-China. But it came through louder and clearer in Peking last Monday night (June 30) than

The occasion was the formal reopening of diplomatic relations between China and Thailand, The official spokesman and new "front Teng Haiao-ping, as it was two weeks ago, when the guest in Peking was President Marcos of the Philippines.

On that occasion deputy Prime Minister Teng warned against, "letting the tiger in through the back door while repelling the wolf from the front door." Mr. Teng said:

"The spectre of its [Soviet] expansionism now haunta Southeast Asia, as it hankers for converting this region into its sphere of influence some day."

Peking's concern seems to arise partly out of rumors that Moscow is seeking naval base rights at Cam Ranh Bay in South Vietnam (built at huge expense by the United States) and also by the obvious strengthening of ties between Moscow and the present leadership of India: Prime Minister Gandhi's assumption of . Tionse turn to Page 14

Few protest Mrs. Gandhi's stern crackdown been handled with ease by the police. It

Staff correspondent of The Christian Science Monitor

What has shocked many Indians who consider themselves liberals is that Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's assumption of emergency powers and the crackdown on her opponents has stirred little protest or resist-

"For those of us who have liberal pretensions, the sad and shocking thing is that there has been no upheaval," said a wellknown Indian newspaper commentator who government censorship.

There has been very little protest anywhere, and I expect we will find that the majority of the people accept what she has done," he said. "For those of us who were brought up to believe in the rule of the law; this is a very sad day indeed.

"She has won the first round," he said. "I don't know how many more rounds there will

United States uses a stick and carrot technique with Israel

Washington

Small and scattered demonstrations against Mrs. Gandhi's action, including one by fewer appeared that the arrests of a number of opposition political leaders was enough to immobilize their followers for the time being. At a briefing Sunday night, a government spokesman declined to give new figures for the number of persons arrested since the state of emergency proclamation was issued five days ago. But he said the number was obviously now "much larger" than the previous official figure of 900.

Prior to the imposition of emergency measures, Mrs. Gandhi had been fighting for her political life in the face of an election majoractices conviction and widespread calls for her resignation. Mrs. Gandhi said the emergency measures were necessary to counteract an alleged antigovernment complicacy.

One of the emergency measures has been government conspiracy.

The conservation of the press, and so far it has been more severe than anything seen

. Until just a few days ago, Indian newspapers were as lively as any to be found in Asia, Press freedom befitting the country known as the world's largest democracy allowed for hard-hitting critiques of the government, and quite a few newspapers had been sharply critical of Mrs. Gandhi.

Among those arrested has been K. R. Malkari, editor of the conservative paper called the Motherland, which speaks for the opposition Jana Sangh Party. In a recent editorial his paper had said of Mrs. Gandhi: "She must go. With the stigma of corruption stamped on her forehead, she just cannot continue in office." But within a matter of days, the Indian press has been reduced to echoing the official line. Many Indian news-men seem too stunned to know how to read.

*Please turn to Page 14"

*Please turn to Page 14

Staff correspondent of The Christian Science Monitor

New elements of a carrot-and-stick approach toward Israel by the United States have surfaced here in recent days. On the one hand, Defense Secretary James

R. Schlesinger has indicated that if Israel signs the 1968 treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons, the U.S. would include Israel under its nuclear umbrella, Israel, then, would have the same kind of status as Japan under the "umbrella,"

Mr. Schlesinger's remarks, made at a breakfast with newsmen July I, suggest one way in which the U.S. might guarantse Israel's security. Washington has never for mally made such a guarantee.

So far, Israel has refused to sign the inspection of its own nuclear facilities by the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA). It has been widely reported that Israel has the capacity to manufacture nuclear weapons on short notice.

On the other hand, in what is seen here as the "stick" side of the U.S. approach, President Ford has told the Washington Post newspaper that unless the Arab-Israell deadock in the Mideast generally is broken soon, the United States would have to recommend a broad settlement. He denied, however, that the U.S. would "impose" a settlement. He also denied reports from Israel of a U.S. "ultima-

Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin has said that he expects any broad U.S. plan would not be to Israel's liking.

FEATURES

Arts		26
Books		26
Chess		29
Commentary		35
Editorial	-5	36
Education		20
Financial		24
Home	•	* 28
Home Forum		32, 33
Opinion		34
People		29
Science		25
Translations		30, 31
Travel		 -27
	•

WHERE TWO CHINAS MEET

John Burns has just left Peking after four years there as a news correspondent. In an article on page 18 he compares his impressions of Peking with those of Hong Kong.

THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

Goton Highing Carlle Particular Particular Maryle Particular Maryl

Published daily except Saturday, Sunday shd Holidays in the LLS A. Weekly international Edition (systilicities outside of North America body) is composite of selected material in daily North American editions and material property exclusively for the international Edition.

Subscription Rates

Horri American Edition.

Subscription Rates

Note American Editions:

One year $46, six months $24, borrowings and finance international Edition:

One year $25, ab months $12.50, for the "land bank."

Surface meal perpent throughout the braid. Air mail rates

The socialist argume

Surace mel bostpaid throughout the world. Air pasi yates toon request.

Pot request.

Pot request.

Pot request of the Newspaper with the C.P.O., London, England. Address of the News, Circulation, or Advertising Representative in your community will be sent promptly on request.

For best service, changes of address should be received four vests in solvance. Changes are made for two weeks or more at early given address.

Advertising reles biven on acceptables. Ministensive is in advance, changes are many to the deduction of the provided p

FOCUS

Rhodesian farms on alert

By Henry S. Hayward

Salisbury, Rhodesia You can't help admiring the courage of white-farmer wives living in the northeastern corner of Rhodesia, known as "the sharp end." For them and their settler families, "the terror," as they call it, never really has gone away. The "terrorists" are still around, despite a dubious cease-fire of last December.

North of the Zambezi River in the nations of black Africa, these same men are not considered terrorists. There they are freedom fighters and black African liberation

Meanwhile they hide in the hills or slip into the African villages that spring up around the larger Rhodesian farms. "You know they are out there, watching and waiting," a young farm wife and mother explained. "But you can't see them."

The white husbands and fathers frequently must be away from the isolated rural homesteads for several weeks at a time for duty with the special police.

That leaves the wives on their own. They see themselves as an African version of the pioneer women of the American old West. In addition to minding the children, seeing that cows are milked, and tending the vegetable plot, they then run the farm as well when their husbands are away. This means watching over crops of tobacco, maize, and cotton, and keeping tabs on perhaps 50 African farmhands.

It means also never quite forgetting what might be lurking on the other side of the floodlit chain-link fences.

When portions of the operational area in "the sharp end" became quiet months ago, the regular security forces moved out, leaving patrol work in the hands of local special police. With the curve of guerrilla activity once more rising, these part-time guards are expecting the regulars back

The policeman-farmers in short want to get back to their crops and families.

Meanwhile they venture into the hills and tribal trust territories in search of guerrillas and their arms caches. In the early days of the cease-fire agreement, African nationalists often buried or hid their weapons and melted away across the Mozambique frontier. Some returned to their main base in Zambia.

Now they are coming back for they hidden guns and land mines. And some are finding unpleasant surprises. The location of their caches has been found, the arms in the caches have been booby-trapped. A land mine which two guerrillas were planting recently on a rural road leading to a farm, blew up, killing both men.

For their part, the guerrillas have been working on local African villagers. While Rhodesians say they intimidate the villagers to get them to support the liberation movement with food and shelter, or perhaps forcibly recruit some young men into their ranks. Deliberate torice of village. unknown, the border farmers my.

To prevent guerrilla inflitration, the African compounds now have been fenced in like the farm homesteads to provide greater protection for the workers.

"Worker families are loval to their farm," a wife who lives near Centenary said. "We house, feed, educate, clothe, and pay them. We tend them if they are sid. They don't want to be terrorists, and they don't want terrorists around."

But those grim, determined, unrealisable men in the hills are still there, nevertheless, keeping black and while Rhodesians very much on edge.

Who owns Britain?

The socialist plan for the Englishman's castle

Is the Englishman's home still his castle? And, come to that, has the Palace of Westminster become a dormitory?

Both questions have been raised by the Labour government's latest reform bill, dealing with the subject of land ownership and development in Queen Elizabeth's over-crowded island. The draft law, known as the Community Land Bill (or Communist Land Bill to the Tories) is meant to meet two problems: the accumulation of huge capital gains by non-constructive landowners, and the difficulty experienced by local governments in getting their paper plans actually carried out in bricks and mortar.

The quick socialist answer would be Nationalization. But for a start there is no money to pay compensation, and furthermore the Labour Party cannot quite bring itself to antagonize Britain's small farmers and home owners. As it is, wealth, gift and death taxes are making it almost impossible for them to pass their properties on to their children; something has to be left to them in life.

VIEW FROM LONDON

So instead of Nationalization, the idea of 'community ownership" of the land was devised. Local or county councils will raise House by borrowing prochase all the and and then sell or lease plots to would be developers, including individual home owners, provided they conform to the approved development plan. The law is so devised that the authorities will be able to buy at an artificially low price and sell as high as they can, pocketing the difference to pay off borrowings and finance further acquisitions

The socialist argument is that since it is the go to the community, not the landowner who has done nothing to deserve it. But the ultimate effect of the new law will be that there is no privately owned land for sale: the

For many years, British planning laws have firmly controlled the siting and appearance of new buildings and alterations to existing ones. The main intention has been to preserve architectural harmony, prevent overcrowding and protect the vanishing countryside. The Labour government vows it will continue this policy. Labour and Tories alike are agreed that spectacular land profits should be taken away. But critics reading the Bill suspect it of trying to go much further.

In spite of Labour election promises, the text contains almost no safeguards for the ily home owner. Strictly enforced, it would compel a man who wanted to convert his loft into an extra bedroom to sell the house to his local authority, and then persuade it to sell his own home back to him —with permission to make the alterations. Further reading suggests that local government could compulsorily purchase anyone's house, gar-den, paddock or even farmland without giving any public reason at all, and without any right

In a desperate attempt to after the Bill in committee, the Tories have been keeping up two 27-hour sessions twice a week — doing all the talking, while Labour supporters slumber on camp beds in the next room, in case a vote is called. All of which says something about the more ludicrous rituals of the Mother of Parliaments insists that the Tory objections are a scare. Ministers say they have given solemn undertakings that the small man's home and garden are perfectly safe. Besides, they add, the voters of each community will keep an eye on things and guard against corruption.

But there are two quite serious counterobjections. The safeguards promised by the government are still not part of the Bill itself; they are to be incorporated in subsidiary community and its planning laws which create high values for building sites, the profit should with little or no control by Parliaments. with little or no control by Parliament. That way, say the critics, lies creeping socialism even communism. As for "community control" — nabody is quite sure what the community is. Seeing that the voter turnout in only supplier of new building lots - whether. British local elections is 20-40 percent, it will for homes, offices, shops or factories — will be be hard to claim that the people are watching the community or, as some prefer to call it, with hawklike eyes to ensure fair play.

Soviets seek frontier pledge

Staff correspondent of The Christian Science Monitor

West European governments are hopeful they can get the Soviet Union to accept the possibility of peacefully changing international frontiers.

If this hope is realized, it would represent a startling change in Soviet positions at the 35nation Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe (CSCE), which has been going on in Helsinki and Geneva for two and a half

After months of somnolence, the CSCE has sprung to life. Cables hum between Geneva, where the conferees (33 European states plus the United States and Canada) are meeting, and the various national capitals.

The Soviets seem to be working against a self-imposed deadline to clear the decks for a grand finale in Helsinki at the end of July bringing together 35 heads of state from President Ford to Rainier Prince of Monaco.

Washington is more skeptical than the West Europeans about any meaningful change in Soviet attitudes. Yet several West European governments have the impression that Washington is as eager as Moscow to conclude the CSCE with a spectacular, almost totally ceremonial summit meeting.

Perhaps, some West Europeans reason, U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger looks on CSCE as one aspect of superpower relations with Moscow, a happy resolution of which would help other aspects of that relationship. Perhaps Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev needs the CSCE summit to consecrate his detente policy before the 25th congress of the Soviet Communist Party.

Both American and West European officials insist there is good coordination between them. But the United States has chosen to let the West Europeans carry the ball. The Americans have spent more time in corridor diplomacy than in taking headline-catching initiatives within the conference and its

With the warning that the situation remains highly fluid in these hectic days leading up to the finale, informed sources here depict the present state of play as follows: There will be a final declaration enumerating 10 principles, followed by specific agreements on the three major "baskets," or topics, of the conference; basket one, security; basket two, scientific, technological, and economic cooperation; basket three, freer movement of people, ideas and information. There is a fourth basket regarding what form the follow-up to the CSCE should take.

Of the 10 principles, the one that is the most important to the Soviet Union is the third, the inviolability of frontiers, This was the Soviets' main purpose in calling for the CSCE: to get final, solemn Western acknowledgement that the frontiers Moscow and the East Europeans obtained as the result of World War II cannot

As things now look, this principle will stand. But the Western contention is that inviolability does not mean immutability. So, in principle one, which deals with sovereignty, there will be provision for changing frontiers cefully, in accordance with international law, and by agreement, Moscow has agreed to such a provision, which would go further than what the West Germans were able to obtain in their treaties with East European states and would technically leave the door open for eventual German reunification. But the text of this provision has yet to be finally approved. and the question is whether the wording proposed by the Western countries means the same thing to the Russians as to the West.

In basket one, security, the British advo-cated, with the support of their allies, that military confidence-building measures such as notification of major troop movements and maneuvers be instituted. What specific measures will be taken is still the subject of active discussion. This is one of the areas the Soviets are under pressure to settle before getting a Western commitment to attend the summit.

Europe

When the princess walked out on the gentlemen of the press

By Stewart Dill McBride Staff writer of The Christian Science Monitor

Hamilton, Massachusetts

Princess Anne had a tougher time with the press than with the international horse trials. She wanted to be treated as "just one of the British team" here for the U.S. Open Horse Trial Championships. The news media wanted to cash in on a royal story.

The encounter between Princess and press came on June 26 after local pressmen had spent five days badgering for an interview with Princess Anne and her husband Capt. Mark Phillips.

Before the meeting, Edward Glover of the British Embassy insisted "this will be a press conference with all the British team, not just Princess Anne and Captain Phillips. When the Princess is home she is treated differently. She does not normally make herself available to the press so please don't stick a camera in her face.

"When she is competing, she is a member of a team and wants to be treated that way," stressed Mr. Glover who said the meeting was ! to be a "notepads only" occasion with no cameras or microphones.

The British equestrian team met the press at a Hamilton country estate. The Princess was dressed informally in a red and white striped jersey, blue ten worn corduroys threaded with a brass-buckled leather belt. Captain Phillips stood at attention, also in blue corduroys, a beige shirt: with the sleeves rolled to his biceps. A green tweed cap was tucked under one arm.

Neither smiled. They stood with their arms folded as Col. William Lithgow introduced the team and then pronounced: "You are all now invited to mix informally." The press momentarily balked. It was a setting they were not familiar with. An informal but posh press conference with a Princess in corduroys. The Princess was clearly not comfortable with a crowd of reporters. with a crowd of reporters.

A woman reporter ventured forward and meekly peeped "Your Highness..." The press conference was off to the races, Notepads were drawn from hip pockets. Reporters

engulied the royal couple, leaving the rest of the British team standing on the fringes. "You can put away your notepads or leave,

The press protested. A heated discussion of because this is off the record," said Princess

the ground rules followed and the notetaking Asked why she disliked the American press she responded, "I'll tell you that tomorrow

after I've read the papers." "Let's put it this way, everything I've read so far has been a copy of every falsification

Another reporter observed that "with inflation and the falling pound many Americans fear Britain may be slipping down the drain.

What sort of solutions do you see?" "What an amazing question! Do you really. expect me to answer that?" the Princess

"Yes, I do," the reporter replied. She thought and then said, "Well...I don't think we're slipping that fast. There's hope for

The dialogue then turned to the horse trials and her decision to bring her 8-year old gelding Arthur of Troy instead of Goodwill.

She spoke more easily.

Capt. Phillips stood on her right looking

Two reporters began to query the 26-yearold officer of 1st Queen's Dragoon Guards. "What sort of professional rivalry is there between you and your wife?" somebody

The captain smiled. "It's only natural to have one. Obviously Princess Anne and I are competing against each other. Someone has got to win."

Which of you is the better rideb? He paused "You don't expect me to answer that, do you?".

Do you have any trouble getting time off from the Army to compete in horse trials?
"Obylously the two do conflict. But somehow we muddle along. Actually I've had less free time to myself than before I was married because of extra obligations."

With an impish grin a reporter asked, "Do you expect Prince Charles will have any nephews or nieces in the near future?".

He broke into a broad smile. "That's a rather leading question, don't you think?" Captain Phillips turned toward his wife as the volume of conversation between her and the press mounted, A reporter was asking if she thought her royal birth had any effect on the trial judges' scoring.

"It probably works out about even in the end. And after a while a rider probably just becomes another number to them."

The press's post-Watergate irreverence for privilege was reflected by a well-dressed ewsman in front who asked why she wanted to be treated like everyone when "by accident of birth" she was not like everyone else?

At this point the British hosts stepped in. But neither side was ready to disengage and Princess Anne had no intention of backing

She came back with. "Why do you treat me any differently? Do I have horns sticking from my head? Do I talk any differently than the other girls? Do I look any different?"

An American representing a London paper shouted from the back of the crowd, "The $84,000 you are paid every year, doesn't that make you different?" Her face flushed beneath her sunburn and she said, 'I want to be treated as norms' ink about that." At that point she and Captain Phillips walked out. The team photograph scheduled to be taken by the adjacent packyard swimming pool was cancelled. I thought we had planned everything so well. It was all buttoned up," sighed Colonel Lithgow afterwards. 'She'll talk to you all night about her horse or whether this is a better course. But she feels strongly that this sort of expedition is not a royal tour and people should respect that."

The press remained behind a bit flabtergasted by the royal couple's walkout. Reporters continued to bicker over whether it was their rude questions or the Princess' quick temper which precipitated the clash.

One photographer grumbled about not getting the picture he needed. He sighed as he left the tent, "You might say it was a hot night in Toledo."

Algarve near deserted

Tourist famine hits Portugal

Special to The Christian Science Monitor

Political uncertainties here have dealt a heavy blow to one of Portugal's main sources of foreign income. With lixury hotels empty and sandy beaches described, the country has awaked to another summer without tourists.

"1974 was bad enough, but 1975 looks catastrophic," said one Lisbon restaurant 'And without tourists, Portugal is

In 1973, 4 million vacationers spent some $500 million in Portugal, making tourism this country's second largest source of foreign exchange after emigrants' remittances. Then came 1974, with an outbreak of cholera and a specially a specially without the special was mainly contined to the sums of the largest cities.

Allow, despite the sums summer weather that normally attracts the temples in droves and an intensive six month publicity compaign by the Portuguese tourist office, Lisbon hotels like the Sheraton remain yawningly empty. In Estorii, the Riviers style resort near Lisbon, the famous Palace Hotel is 70 percent down on its usual earnings, With its marble pillars and crystal chandeliers, it was once the easis for Europe's aristocratic refuonce the casis for Europe's aristocratic refugees, who often paid for their stays with the diamonds and rubles they had managed to bring with them. Today, the Palace looks more like a described film set.

The hardest-hit area is the southern Alous of 24 hours, leaving tourists with unmade beds garve. With its hundred miles of golden beaches, this region relies on the vacationer for 80 percent of its income. More than 200,000 of its workers are involved in the tourism

In desperation, four-star luxury hotels here are offering rooms with full board for $10.50 a day instead of the usual $40, and throwing in several days of free rent-a-cars as an added attraction. In a medium-bracket hotel, tourists can find rooms with breakfast and dinner little confidence in Europeans looking for vacation homes. Construction is consequently

In fact, Portugal's internal convolutions - almost at a standatill.

These rock-bottom prices have been to no avail. Contract after contract has been canceled by American and European travel agencies, who have switched their block reservations to countries they consider more politically stable. One of the Algarve's best hotels when recently visited was found to have only two guests amid the 200 employees, and a And, because most Paris newspapers are gote the Algarve's construction business.

Two years ago, holiday villag and apartments were rising like mushrooms and being immediately snapped up by European buyers.
Today, the prevailing rash of hammers and sickles painted everywhere and the numerous communist demonstrations have inspired little confidence in European leading to the confidence in European leading to the

Some papers are simply going under. Last year the left-wing Combat and the Gaullist La Nation folded. The government stepped in to give financial aid to La Croix on the political right and to the communist dally L'Humanite to offset the increased cost of newsprint, which may go up another 5 to 10 percent shortly, according to reports from Finland.

two countercoups since the left-wing military coup 14 months ago — have only mildly affected the tourist. Apart from a 30 percent What are newspaper owners doing about it? increase in prices, the worst mishaps to befall the holidaymakers have been strikes that in to drop his regional editions and concentrate to drop his regional editions and concentrate on a new tabloid for Paris alone. The communist dominated print union has occupied his printing plant in central Paris for the last six weeks, but he has had varying success. May closed hotels and restaurants for periods

If they do, the U.S. may be forced into costly reequipment program of its on, with lant ICBM in the bunch, could be developed both as a fixed-site and land-mobile rode.

prepared to press home the full advantaged the gains they have made, particularly b

It remains to be seen if the Soldy

SALT: playing nuclear chess

By Kenneth W. Gatland Special to

The Christian Science Monitor

Thorny questions affecting the balance of ower between the Soviet Union and the Inited States must be solved if the strategic arms limitation talks (SALT) are to make headway when they are resumed in Geneva

The talks have been delayed 10 days at Moscow's request to allow both sides to find compromise positions on the difficult problem of verifying whether a missile in its stio has a

So far Moscow has opposed on-site in-spection of intercontinental ballistic missiles

ICBMs) and both superpowers rely on spy satellites to police arms-limitation agree-

The U.S. negotiating position already has been seriously undermined by the speed with which the Soviets have developed a new family of powerful ICBMs - the SS-16, 17, 18, and 19. Unless the size, power, and number of multiple, independently targeted re-entry vehicle (MIRV) warheads can-be restricted, these large missiles could give the Soviets

It already is apparent that the understanding reached between President Ford and Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev in Vladivostok last November (setting guidelines for the SALT 2 negotiations) contained many loop-

- It decreed that neither superpower should have more than 2,400 strategic land-based,

airborne, and submarine nuclear delivery systems — of which no more than 1,320 should have MIRVs. But the weight of thermonuclear explosives that these missiles can carry was

The evidence suggests that the U.S. has been badly upstaged by a massive Soviet arms drive of which the Defense Department repeatedly has warned while Congress appar-

The big SS-18, of which 10 already are deployed in siles in the U.S.S.R., is capable of launching a single 50-megaton "city buster"

warhead or eight MIRVs in the megaton range. This can be only a first-strike weapon to knock out the U.S. ballistic deterrent force of 1,000 Minuteman, 54 Titan-2 ICBMs, and

The three-stage SS-18, the only solid propelently has remained unattentive.

other key strategic largets.

single or a multiple warhead.

overwhelming superiority.

 Expansion of the Trident submidules gram with missiles of 4,200 paulies sik

 Production of the B-1 supersonic bonds plus, possibly, the Boring air lunched state

 Production of the 150,000 point M-X to tercontinental ballistic mails (line out of the continents). the M-X program is put at 121/00(a)

The scale of the problem should be seen clearer in the coming weeks. Already the strategic arms available to both sides top "overkili" capability and, despite Mostri obvious determination to gain an advantage thermonuclear firepower, everyone hope that the Kremlin will be prepared to take throw weight of the MIRV missiles his is SALT 2 formula

Even so, there are a number of subday problems. How does one compare the law weight of bombers with that of minimal bombers and missiles are counted in thate total, does one include the Soviets' Bails supersonic bomber? The Soviets day to Backfire has an intercontinental applicate. but it could reach parts of the U.S. if which

On the other hand, the Soviets are appealed sive of the R-1, which can hedge ho s approach its target at high altitude add more than twice the speed of sound. If the H is put into production the Soviets wellight feel compelled to back a massive new dish ground-to-nir defenses.

Therefore, the B-1, carrying up to 5 lest conventional bombs, could become putals trade-off against Soviet concession i heavyweight missiles.

Another bargaining counter in the bal U.S. negotiators is the AGM-80A siches cruise missile (ALCM), which Bod() developing to provide the B-1 with state capability. Designed to fly up to 1,500 mis after release from the mother place is subsonic ALCM will fly the last 50 miles bla target below the radar screen at a helded

French press: days of gloom

By John Cadman Special to The Christian Science Monitor

French newspapers are in trouble. Only Le Monde, the most serious and best of the dailies, is making money.

The reasons why lie in a combination of circumstances. Newsprint costs have risen 80 percent since 1973. The economic recession has cut advertising revenue by as much as 30 percent, and increased rates have caused advertisers to back away. Wages are up between 20 and 30 percent in the last two newistands, a rise in postal rates has worsened an already bad situation. A six-week strike last fall by postal employees was prohibitively costly for the papers.

The owner of the Parisien Libere has tried at getting the paper printed in Belgium and a Paris guburb. Paris has been without newspapers with the last six weeks because of one by ships by printers protesting threatened by the altuation has even led to a series. Bernard Cabanes, a senior adile with Agost France-Presse, the French news against fatally injured by a bomb a self-bouse of the didts of Paris when he was mistaken for the didts of Parisien Libere, who has the same name.

Almost everyone connected with the find press seems deeply troubled these days. A France-Solr, a popular daily, journalist at up in arms at not having been consuled on the applicance of the applicance of the section the assignment of a new chief by their party energiant & sizable chunk of Le Pigni far. The future of L'Aurore also may l'identified doubt once its aged owner, interest Marcel Bounsac, no longer is on the state

Marcel Boussac; no longer is on the scale There seem only two encouraging spit this otherwise gloomy picture. One is that year-old left-liberal daily le Quoide to year-old left-liberal daily le Quoide to Paris le still in business. Indeed, it offering space last week to the Portuguese socialist paper. Republic the Portuguese socialist paper. Republic the other sign is that Le Monde is still selling of even at the price of more than 30 cents and 30 cents a even at its price of more than 30 cents for the first its little complacency, in significant the fortunes of their colleagues on compilifications. It its been proved conclusive papers. It its been proved conclusive papers that once a newspaper closes, its majority of its readers do not smile it majority of its readers do not smile its papers. Instead they switch on raise another paper. Instead they switch on the

Romania seeks to broaden international relations

By Eric Bourne Special correspondent of The Christian Science

Vienna

Romania, ever concerned not to have all its eggs in one basket, wants still more links outside the communist world. It seeks to forge a general community of interest among small and medium-sized countries with no ideological affiliation. A member of the Soviet alliance, it also is urging adjustment of Warsaw Pact priorities to the mood of manding greater assistance Austria and Britain both to ers. within Comecon (the Eastbloc trading community) for less-economically developed members such as Romania

Romania's recent moves on the international front

tudes), including an agreement to speed up joint construction of a Danube power expand trade and to promote bilateral companies for joint ventures in the metallurgical, power, and oil in-

 In Latin America, a partnership with Ecuador, providing Romanian experience · Improved contacts with and equipment in prospect-Bulgaria (a frequent critic of ing and exploiting Ecuado-

Romania's reserved bloc atti-rian oil fields in return for A request to close friend and neighbor Yugoslavia to · Negotiations with gov-

All these moves are part of Romania's increasing endeavors to diversify and broaden its international relations and to advance the claim that smaller and medium countries, as well as the developing nations and the nonaligned, should not be excluded by the superpowers from the solution of major nternational conflicts and af-

The world economic and energy crises, the Romanians insist, call for new

of international cooperation in which the views and needs of the smaller and weaker nations are better taken into

> These ideas have been extended to such a far-away state as North Korea, whose leader Kim II Sung visited Bucharest last month. The visit produced predictable reaffirmation of Romanian support for Mr. Kim's proposals for reunification of the two Koreas and withdrawal of the UN peace-keeping

Eastern Europe

But the special political weight the Romanians attached to the occasion was apparent in their media comment and in the treaty signed by Mr. Kim and President Nicolae Ceausescu. This is a very different accord from the customary style of communist treaties. It has no military clause, which is geographically understandable.

But it is unique in stressing basic principles which nowhere figure in the Warsaw Pact treaty network - the autonomy and independence of (communist) parties and of states, and a community of interest based on the kind of neutralism Romania exerta In issues like the Sino-Soviet rift and the Middle East and on cooperation with developing and noncommunis

On the recent renewal of the Warsaw Pact, Romania again emphasized proposals that both it and NATO be dismantled and military blocs dissolved as further logical steps in detente.

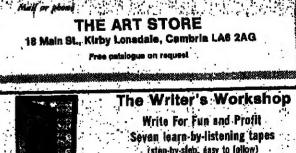

Meanwhile, it said, the Soviet alliance should give greater priority to developing equal political and economic cooperation which now is more important than the military aspects of the Bucharest's present activity and evident anxiety seem o stem in part from acute disappointment at continued delay over the trade agreement with the United States, including the most-favorable-nation clause first promised by former President Richard M. Nixon in 1969.

The agreement, signed April 2, immediately encountered opposition in the U.S. Congress, which is deferring ratification because of Romanla's failure to bring its emigration policies into line with the requirements of the 1974 Trade Act.

Germans as well as Jews are involved, and where the latter are concerned, Romanian procedures over the years have been as restricted as the Soviet Practices which first made the issue a factor in determining U.S. trade policy vis-a-vis the commu-nist states.

Romania, echoing the Soyiet line that emigration has nothing to do with trade, has so far given no more than vague assurances that "hu-manitarian cases" will be handled sympathetically.

Living

Fourteen Lives

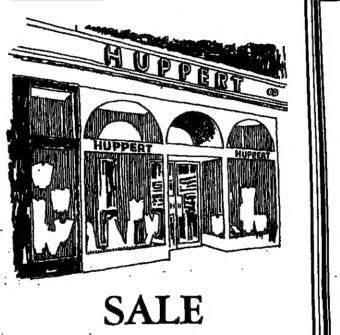

(step-by-slep, éasy to follow) Will show you how to write articles, reports. Writing is a craft that you can learn

Send for free informative brochure P.O. Box 1716, Newport Beach, CA 92663 (25 Beacon Bay) CONSTANCE S. SAMMIS Author, Teacher, Newspaper Columnial B.S., Mass. (not. of Tech., MS., Univ. of Calif., L.A.

Oil threat

The Hague Officials from seven countries bordering the North Sea have decided to set up a special group to study how to protect offshore oil rigs and gas pipelines from terrorist attack and sabotage. Dutch Defense Minister Henk Vredeling, speaking at a one-day conference on protection of North Sea installations, warned that such installations were highly vulnerable to attack.

NOW ON

HUPPERT The Knitwear House

onday-Saturday, Thursday till 7 p.m. Tel.: 01-734 0195

of PICCADILLY CIRCUS · SW1

photoco STORE

pholoco

photography needs

REALLY HELPFUL

SERVICE!

6, Norfolk Row, Sheffield.

Tel: 22079 33-37 Charles St., Sheffield

8. Holme Lane, Shaffield.

Also at Chesterileid, Worksop, Leads & Stockport

IFEED UP

Tel: 349723

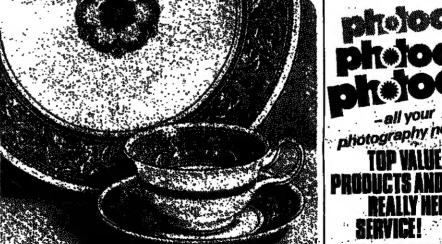

TEL: 01-930 3181

Christian Science

by Marcy Babbitt £4.75, inc. p.p.

Foreword by Brwin D. Canban

NOW AVAILABLE

American connoisseursbuy direct and save 50% on Fine English Bone China

Our direct mail order service offers the highest standards of quality at astonishingly low costs. Please write for our

Leather & Snook 167 Piccadilly, London W1, England

Asia

Peking charges Moscow with 'wild ambitions' in S.E. Asia

By Ross II, Munro Special to The Christian Science Monitor © 1975 Toronto Globe and Mail

In the strongest expression yet of its concern about Soviet intentions in Southeast Asia, China this week accused Moscow of harboring "wild ambitions" that threaten peace in the

The attack came from Teng Hslao-ping, the highest-level Chinese leader to appear regularly in public now that Chairman Mao Tsetung and Premier Chou En-lai restrict their activities for reasons of age and health. It was delivered at a banquet given in the cavernous Great Hall of the People for visiting Thai Premier Kukrit Pramoj, who Tuesday cosigned a communique formally establishing diplomatic relations between the two coun-

In an apparent reference to the rumored interest of the Soviets in establishing a naval base at the U.S.-built complex at Cam Ranh Bay in South Vietnam, Mr. Teng charged that Moscow "insatiably seeks new military bases in Southeast Asia."

Consistent with the Chinese style, Mr. Teng did not mention the Soviets by name, even though he left no doubt which country he was talking about. By seeking new military bases and sending its naval ships into the Indian and West Pacific Oceans, Mr. Teng said, Moscow is "posing a menacing threat to the peace and security of the Southeast Asian countries."

"The specter of its expansionism now haunts Southeast Asia as it hankers for converting this region into its sphere of influence some day," he charged. Replying to Mr. Teng's remarks Premier

Kukrit indicated he shared at least some of China's concern about the Soviet Union. "Efforts to establish hegemony and spheres of influence have not declined, and the countries of Southeast Asia continue to have to oppose all manner of subversion from outside," he Hegemony has become a code word for accusing the Soviets of military expansionism. Consistent with the Chinese concern about by the Americans, Mr. Teng did not offer one word of praise or even comment about Thailand's call on the U.S. to close all its bases in that country by March, 1975. It was yet another indication that China will accept a U.S. military presence in Asia as long as it helps to inhibit the Soviet Union.

By Dana:Adams Schmidt

In his speech, Premier Kukrit broadly hinted that he expects China also will not interfere in Thailand's internal affairs now that diplomatic relations are being established. He endorsed the principle of "noninterference, in either direct or indirect forms, In the internal affairs of each other." This appeared to be a reference to certain statements by Chinese leaders that China is dutybound to support revolutionary movements that express the will of the people.

During the mid-1960s, Thai revolutionary organizations based in China were given extensive publicity by the Chinese press. Peking still is accused of allowing a Thai revolutionary movement's radio station to operate in Yunnan Province in southwest

Premier Kukrit and his large entourage are scheduled to fly to Yunnan Thursday. The rationale for his one-day visit to Yunnan is that that province is the home of many Chinese citizens of Thai origin.

The opposite situation holds true in Thailand, where there are 4 million Chinese, most of them well integrated with the overall population of 35 million. Once diplomatic relations are formalized, some 420,000 stateless Chinese in Thailand will be forced to choose between Thai citizenship and that of the People's Republic of China.

Diplomatic ties between Thailand and Taiwan already have been severed. The staff of the Taiwan Embassy in Bangkok has been given a month to close up shop and go home. However, trade and investment links between Taiwan and Thailand will continue, just as they have continued with most of the other countries that have recognized the People's

Panmunjom: American military policeman keeps wary eye on Korean gund

Park tightens hold on S. Korea

Citing danger of attack, President clamps down on press, students, and religious workers

Staff correspondent of The Christian Science Monitor

The communist victory in South Victnam has had a significant emotional effect on South Korea, and President Park Chung Hee has capitalized on it to the greatest possible

Using the fear of an attack from North Korea as justification, the South Korean leader has tightened controls over his domestic opponents in recent weeks. At the same time, given the overwhelming concern that many South Koreans feel for national security, some of Mr. Park's critics have grown more willing than they were previously to accept limits on individual freedoms. But the hopes that some of them had for the opening of a constructive "dialogue" with the Park government have proven ill founded.

Others among the critics who would like to continue an open struggle against the government now seem more discouraged than they had been at any time over the past several years. They have all but given up hope that the United States Government or Congress will. exert any pressure on Mr. Park to loosen his -

"There is now a feeling that there is little we can do, said a foreign missionary who has worked closely with the young Roman Catholic priests who seemed to be such a threat to the government just a few months ago.

"Most people feel that if they campaign against the system now it will contribute to disunity and benefit the communists," said a leading opposition politician.

Several university professors who openly accused the government of using the Indo-China debacle and resulting fears as a club against the opposition have been forced out of their jobs.

A handful of Protestant ministers who have been working to improve conditions among sium dwellers and ill-paid factory workers are under intense surveillance and pressure from the police and the Korean Central Intelligence Agency. In government briefings they some times are accused of being tools of the urban poor have been on trial under 📽 bezzlement" charges. The West Game Protestant organization which gave a ministers. A lawyer from the World Courid Churches denounced the government stigated trial as a farce. But apparently in of this makes any difference.

most influential newspaper, has been reached to virtual impotence, thanks to government pressure that has forced important advertises to withdraw their patronage.

The thousands of university students who one time or another have demonstra against the government are being lold the they must undergo intensified miller half-ing because of the threat from the North. There is increasing concern that the millery training program will be used by the green ment as one more means of exerting count over students. over student organizations and activities.

Catholic church leader who was Intelligence Agency.

lunch," he said. "They did not ask for t

"Then President Park came and sale PART EXCHANGES to us," he said. "The next day the paper

"People will become so passive that it will be vulnerable to a kind of psychological infiltration," he said. "I think this spin infiltration," he said. church leader said.

telescope, spectrographs, and protuberances on the sun." (Novosti, the Soviet press agency, reports that the solar telescope is being used to investigate physical processes in active areas

The two "forgotten" cosmonauts, still orbiting the earth in the three-room Salyut 4 space Morale aboard the station is good. On one occasion the crew roared with laughter in a station, set a new Soviet space record June 23 exceeding the flight duration of the Soyuz 17 crew — the first boarding party — who were in communications session with mission control.

space for 29 days, 13 hours, 20 minutes. Soviet space chiefs are elated by the apparent success of this latest mission as a curtain raiser for next month's meeting of U.S. and Soviet astronauts in the Apollo-Soyuz test project 140 miles above the earth.

By Kenneth W. Gatland

The Christian Science Monitor

Special to

Lt. Col. Pyotr Klimuk and flight engineer Vitaly Sevastianov, cosmonauts who reached the station in the Soyuz 18 ferry May 25, have been able to extend the experiments of the previous occupants by making detailed observations of the sun using a powerful solar telescope, observing geological features on earth, and growing peas and onions in a

They also have measured gas, plasma, and meteoroid particles in space.

Amateur radio operators in Europe tuned to the Salyut frequency have been listening to regular broadcasts from the station. Sven Grahn, reporting from Sollentuna, Sweden, of the sun's surface and the solar atmosphere.

Salyut 4 is in a nearly circular orbit, some 220 miles up. All its on-board systems are reported to be working normally.

Mission control is laying great stress on research projects aboard which are "preparing the way for flights lasting many months." In time the Soviets say they will use higher plants and chlorella to generate oxygen for cosmonauts to breathe while absorbing

The crews have been trying out a system for condensing water evaporated by both men and plants within the station, up to a limit of about one liter per man per day. They used the recycled water for drinking and preparing

Cosmonauts Klimuk and Sevastiano brought with them replacement films and a whole range of experimental subjects. Little has been said, as yet, of photographing the Soviet space chiefs elated by Salyut success would end after 30 days but that there was a possibility it might continue for 45 days. the mission was spent loading cameras and [A high-ranking Soviet space official said it was possible the two Salyut-4 cosmonauts setting up basic equipment.

On the night of May 26 the station was hit by a laser beam projected from a Soviet ground station as part of a program for developing high-accuracy satellite-tracking and distancemeasuring systems.

European observers thought the flight

By Dev Murarka

Special to

The Christian Science Monitor

Strong and unqualified support is being given by Moscow to Indian Prime Minister

Indira Gandhi in the face of her current political crisis, Soviet commentators are stressing the peril from what they term right-wing reaction in India. They fear that if Mrs.

Gandhi were to leave the political stage it would be a big setback for the Soviet position

The aim of Mrs. Gandhi's unprecedented measures, as Moscow sees it, was to cool an overheated political atmosphere.

The Kremlin backs up Mrs. Gandhi

Soviet Union

to the steps taken by the Indian Prime Minister, it is realized that they can be only a short-term palliative. Therefore even Moscow hopes that these measures will not be pro-would still be in orbit at the time of the Soviet-

American space linkup in the middle of next

Even so it will be a long time before the Soviets can match America's space record.

The last Skylab crew was in space for 84 days.

month, Reuter reported from Moscow.]

Were that to happen, the Soviets worry that the backlash, when it comes, would quickly and completely sap the power of Mrs. Gandhi. making it awkward for the Soviets to maintain unqualified support for her.

The Soviets had been growing increasingly uneasy as Mrs. Gandhi came under fire from opposition political elements. In Moscow's new these elements are too bound up with the American, or pro-Western, lobby in India, and were they to succeed in unseating Mrs. Gandhi they would have switched the country to the Sino-American sphere of influence.

While Moscow has no ideological objection focus on london england is a man you have confidence in. We have quality gems, silver and gold. Fine workmanship and experience at your service.

Your jeweller

Langton

E. G. Langton A. D. Langton R. A. Morris 1 Museell Hill Broadway, London N. 1 it This Address Only Tel. 01.883 6050 Agent for Omega, Tisset, Bulana and Zenith Watches

FURNITURE ... BEDDING ...

We supply everything for the home.

We are storage and removal experts.

THE FURNISHERS 509-537 Norwood Road Wast Norwood, S.E.27

01-670-1156

PERSONAL LABELS

Mini Labels Self Adhesive 700 £2.66

Mini Labels Gummed 500 €1.69 1000 £2.06

PERSONAL STATIONERY

BRI-MER, 212 Durnsford Road, London SW19 8DR

01-736 6185

J B SHEARS & Sons Ltd PRINTERS & PUBLISHERS

189/191 NEW KINGS ROAD, LONDON SW6'4SP

Silversmith Watchmaker

READ (RESPOND)
TO MONITOR ADS

London, W.S. 01-802 3139

MAGNET BUILDING SOCIETY

& CO. LTD.

FLOOR COVERING

Specialists

and Consultants

EXTENSIVE

CARPET LIBRARY

TESTING SECTIONS

CONTRACT CARPET

A SPECIALITY

Tel. 01-723-8217/8

21-23 Chilworth Street, Paddington, W. A.

AND

To: Magnet Building Society. Please send me details of Monthly Income and Ordinary Share Accounts,

DAVID MURE

FLOWERS	TAILORING fine hand tailoring:
ls and	Mr. Alex Salisbur well-known Londo West-End Tailor, vi ils busy executive for built orders an
Segar LTD.	filtings (or at Savi Row, W.) Reduce prices to all reader of The Christian Sc ence Monitor, 94 Old Brompton Road, S.W.7 'Phone 01-589 2454 LONDON, ENGLAND.

S. SALISBURY

(Tailors) LTD Appts., 01-807 1945

Mr. Alex Salisbury, well-known London West-End Tallor, vis its busy executives

prices to all readers of The Christian Sci-ence Monitor, for buil orders and fittings (or at Spylle

in all departments to those of the weapons.

Staff correspondent of The Christian Science Monitor ... Washington After 10 days during which the determination of the United States to defend South Korea was asserted, explained, and reasserted four times by Secretary of State Henry A. Kis-singer and once each by President Ford, his press officer Ron Nessen, and Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger, some diplomats may have been inclined last weekend to quote Hamlet's "The lady doth protest too much, methinks:". The comment implied that the plethora of administration assurances — in the wake of the collapse of South Vietnam and Cambodia - might cover inner uncertainties in the minds of American leaders concerning North Korean intentions. American analysis, however, noted that the warnings from U.S. leaders was not based on any particular new sign of North Korean eggressives atouts a Trans. The North Kor-President, is unpredictable and is known to regard the reunification of Korea as the central aim of his life, he is thought to be restrained now by several hard facts:

* During his visit earlier this month to Communist China the flery toast he offered at his first official banquet was answered by Chinese officials with pronounced emphasis on "peaceful" reunification, And President Kim thereupon changed his tune.

thereupon changed his tune.

He later told Japanese journalists that the "objective conditions" for reunification were not right at present.

 Despité the rigorous efforts he has imposed on his people, North Korean armed forces, based on a population only half as great with Korea's 32 million, remain distinctly Korea: would U.S. go nuclear?

Reinforcing these points, the analysts add, the U.S. Government has in the past two weeks received repeated official and unofficial assurances from Peking that the Chinese. would not back North Korea in any military

While the succession of public statements about Korea seems less alarming in this perspective, the accompanying news conferences elicited from the President and Secretary of State disclosures about what seem to be major shifts in U.S. nuclear weapons policy.

Dr. Schlesinger at his news conference on June 20 disclosed that in addition to the tactical nuclear weapons the U.S. keeps in this . country and in Europe it has a nuclear arsenal in South Korea. He said it would be used, "if circumstances were to require," namely an overwhelming North Korean attack.

President Ford at his news conference on the White House lawn June 25 did not rule out first strike use of tactical nuclear weapons in have a strong deterrent force, strategically and tactically, and of course those forces will be used in a flexible way."

Press Secretary Nessen later insisted that the President did not intend to make new policy with these statements, by leaving open the possibility the U.S. might be first to use nuclear weapons. All past presidents, he said, had insisted on maintaining flexibility regarding nuclear weapons use. But it was the impression among some close observers that in their anxiety to ensure the defense of South Korea Dr. Schlessinger and the President had moved away from past policies, which insisted the U.S. would never use nuclear weapons first, toward a policy that threatens possible first use of tactical nuclear

Four Korean Presbyterian ministra in have dedicated themselves to helping in money that supposedly was embezzled in expressed its belief in the honesty of the fall

The Dong-A libo, South Korea's largest at

A standing committee of Catholic historian automored in May that the bishops would attempt to avoid confrontation with its government and world instead seek a logue." But the catholic instead seek a logue." ogue." But the only effect this seems (a) had has been to subdue the young priest.

"There has been no real dialogue." recently, along with some other comments leaders, to a briefing by the Korean Comments and Comments of the Com

They gave us a briefing and a very

it was a dialogue. "Our real concern is that the government will allegate people to the point whet is don't care what happens to the country is thurst less than the country is the country in the country in the country in the country is the country in the country in the country in the country is the country in the country in particularly to the young people who experience the war."

MONTHLY INCOME © ORDINARY SHARE ACCOUNTS

Lebanon: can avert civil war?

By Joseph Fitchett Special to

The Christian Science Monitor

Hope for an end to Lebanon's latest week of

Mr. Karami and his prospective ministers were summoned to a meeting with Lebanese

President Suleiman Franjieh after talks be-

Their task was to form a government capable of turning around this country's quickening slide into civil war, and the growing intervention by forces outside Leba-

[Authoritative Washington sources said there is evidence that Col. Muammar al-

Qaddafi's Libyan government, which heads an Arab "rejection front" opposed to a peaceful

Arab-Israeli settlement, is spending up to $1 million daily to fan the flames in Lebanon.

Libya is believed supporting violence by Muslim leftist partisans and by snipers who rekindle the fighting during calm periods by shooting at both the leftists and their mainly (Egyptian President Sadat has publicly charged that Colonel Qaddafi's intervention in of fighting here which led up to Premier-

Designate Rashid Karami's announcement that a new government was imminent, following his day-long negotiations with President

Christian rightist adversaries.

tween the country's veteran politicians.

intercommunal fighting emerged last week as Premier-Designate Rashid Karami formed a six-man cabinet.

Beirut, Lebanon

new cabinet

By Humphrey Tyles Special to The Christian Science Monitor

Cape Town The cost of operating "apartheid" in a time of world economic crisis and inflation is forcing South Africa's white minority government to modify its policies.

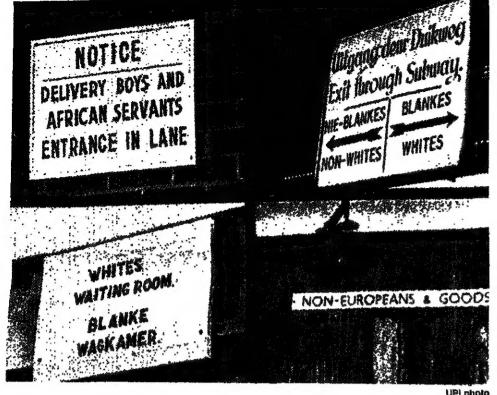

The system of duplicating many state services and public facilities - an inherent part of the apartheid program to keep the races apart - is being reviewed. The government has announced that in the future, "any legislation that could have a cost-raising effect" should be "re-examined."

At present it looks as though South Africa might end the year with the highest inflation rate of any industrialized country in the world. with the exception of Britain and Australia. This despite the fact that South Africa is remarkably rich in gold and uranium and other raw materials and has a huge and relatively cheap black labor force.

Much of the inflation is imported, as with other countries. But a lot of it is homegrown. In addition to the enormous cost of "running" apartheid, labor mismanagement in general contributes - especially the restricted use of black labor to "protect" white workers, Mutterings from white workers, the very people the government is supposed to be "protecting," are getting louder as costs escalate and money dwindles in value.

In response, the government has announced a full-scale attack on inflation. It will be directed by a committee of cabinet ministers who will be advised by senior government officials at a private commercial leaders. And it will contain a series of plans for the more efficient use of labor — black and white — and an extension of special training schemes for all races in all areas of the country.

Street signs in South Africa

The government has even told those white trade unions and employers who have previously closed their doors to black workers that if they do not now accept blacks voluntarily the government will force them to do so by legislation or some other means.

This has already happened in the motor trade, where garage owners and the trade unions came to a closed shop agreement that shoddy workmanship,

necessarily break down within a few years.

There are numerous examples in almost every area of society of waste running into millions of dollars a day because of the apartheid duplication. Two buses run on many routes, one for the whites the other for the blacks. Two trains serve the same areas frequently, or, at least, the same trains have separate compartments for blacks and whites.

Many hospital services, including ambulance services, are duplicated so that "white" ambulances sometimes fail to pick up black patients, and vice versa, prevented any white journeyman from training a black apprentice. The result: No black motor mechanics, a shortage of staff in general - and soaring repair prices and

The government now has opened its own trade school where black mechanics are trained, and, after a trade test, allowed to work where they want. In theory, these black mechanics, who are not tied by the closed shop agreement, will train more blacks and the whole apartheid situation in the industry will in remote country districts that Prime ister Vorster is "going too fast" with soil changes, including the desegregation of or tain amenities, and that he is "selling out" h white man in nearby white-ruled Rhodesia.

White extremism strengthens in South Africa

By Humphrey Tyler Special to The Christian Science Monitor

A white extremiat political party led by a scrnwny, bearded political hard-liner manel Dr. Albert Hertzog has made telling gains in two parliamentary by elections in Afrikaan speaking country districts. This is clear indication that conservative whites are new vous about attempts by Prime Minister John Vorster to liberalize some of the ruling Cape National Party government's policies.

Dr. Hertozog's party, called the "Hersigie."

Nasionale Party" (HNP), was formed by group of National Party dissidents two years ago basically because they considered that the NP was "going soft" on race relations he HNP claims to represent the "purified" principles of the original founders of the National Party, and its members are m plicitly racist.

They oppose any form of racial integration, are appalled at the idea of different races using the same public facilities, and believe that not only is racial discrimination come nient for the white man, but declare that it is morally right as well.

In election after election, they have a tracted votes from a hard core of right wingers. But usually their representative have suffered the humiliation of losing the monotary deposit all candidates must pay to run for election to Parliament because the falled to win the required fifth of the votes.

But last month in by-elections in two Transvaal Province constituencies, they at only retained their deposits, but garnered much bigger share of the votes than they had had previously.

The National Party candidates in the contests lost support - although they we still able to win the seats reasonably confid-The reason for the HNP advance is com

Suleiman Franțieh. Mr. Karami appeared optimistic, for the first time in the crisis, as all major Christian leaders and Muslim representatives held a "reconciliation banquet" at the presidential palace. It was attended by the Syrian Foreign Minister, Abdel Halim Khaddam, who is back DOUGLAS, ISLE OF MAN

G. & R.

Ridgway

WATCHMAKERS

IEWELLERS

33 STRAND ST.

Villa Maritia Arcide

Omega Rolls Tism Ingersol Watches

Quality Gifts

Manx Souvenirs

TEL 5437

Phalangist youth opens fire from behind oil drum barricade during Beirut street fighting

A government along these lines, it is thought, would be strong enough to circums-cribe the spreading violence here. Lebanese security forces, which have intervened more actively, say they lack enough men to police Beirut — (despite reliable reports that 2,000 soldiers have been transferred to the security offensive to link the main Christian area,

Ashrafiyeh, to outlying Christian localities. Messages on the Phalangist walkie-talkie network could be overheard indicating serious the formula in outline.

forces).

for his third attempt to mediate in the current

Lebanon is almed against his campaign for a negotiated peace with Israel.] Frequent secret telephone contacts between the Lebanese President and the Syrians in As many as 100 people were reported killed and several hundred wounded in the 24 hours recent days have been reported by Nahar, a well-informed paper here.

The compromise formula is believed to be a small government, comprising between four and eight cabinet ministers, temporarily excluding both right-wing Phalangists, led by Pierre Jemayal, and the Socialist opposition, led by Kemal Jumblatt. After a month's cooling off, the government would be enlarged to include all factions. The government meanwhile would refrain from any legislation on matters affected by sectarian dispute here. This formula, which has the assent of Phalangist forces appeared to suffer heavy losses late Sunday when they mounted an pledge of Palestinian noninterference in Lebainfluential former Christian President Camille Chamoun, appears to minimize the con-cessions being demanded from the Phalangnese affeirs. In a nationwide message carried on Beirut television recently, Mr. Arafat appealed for an ists, who heretofore insisted on a role in any cabinet. Sunni Muslim leaders also have made end to the factional and sectarian fighting here for more than two months. conciliatory remarks about the Phalangists. Emphasizing the Palestinians' anxiety to Mr. Jumblatt was believed to have agreed to woid getting involved in Lebanese affairs, Mr. Arafat stated that "the PLO has no opinion about the political system or social and economic policies Lebanon wishes to have for

Middle East

Mr Arafat's statement received wide coverage in the government-controlled media here as well as the Beirut newspapers — an ndication of official satisfaction.

The PLO leader's statement is a blow to Palestinian extremists, particularly the "rejection front" which is closely involved with Lebanese left-wing factions as part of its strategy of protracted confrontation. The 'rejection front" wants to wreck current Middle East peace efforts.

Mr. Arafat's stand is the latest development in the growing confrontation between the PLO A general strike was in effect last Monday. Although the current unrest has lacked any leadership and the front, led by the Marxist specific anti-American overtones, the trickle Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine under George Habbash. of Americans leaving the city is rapidly

The degree of Mr. Arafat's authority remains to be demonstrated. Left-wing Lebanese newspapers have been reticent, and "rejection front" forces are bitterly critical of Mr. Arafat's stand.

EIGHT PROGRESSIVE STORES IN NEW ZEALAND

HAMILTON WANGANUI PALMERSTON NORTH

at Any D. I.C Branch

Men's and Boys'

Hallensteins

Obstacles liitter black Rhodesians' path to the conference table

By Henry S. Hayward Staff correspondent of The Christian Science Monitor

Salisbury, Rhodesia Divisions among Rhodesia's black African leaders are giving Ian Smith's white minority regime additional grounds (as he sees it) for delaying the holding of a constitutional conference on the country's future.

The African National Council (ANC), the umbrella organization representing Rho-desia's black nationalist organization, wants the conference held outside Rhodesia. Almost anywhere will do, it says, including neighboring black Botswana or adjacent white-ruled South Africa if Mr. Smith prefers that locale.

Not so, says Mr. Smith in effect; So crucial a parley about Rhodesia's future must be held in Rhodesia itself. His clear implication is that Rhodesia is a sovereign state, even if Britain and the black nationalists dispute this point.

Moreover, he argues, if the ANC leaders cannot negotiate black majority rule here, they will not be able to do it elsewhere either. Underlying this controversy over conference locale, however, are other factors. The major one is that the Rev. Ndabaningi Sithole. a prominent member of ANC and also head of the Zimbabwe African National Union (ZANU), is outside Rhodesia and at present campot return without print but back indeed beten indeed to another the and it not actions to start talks with

Mr. Smith without having Mr. Sithole on hand. But thus far the government has made it fairly clear that if the ZANU leader comes back, he faces jall again.

With Mr. Sithole kept at a distance; moreover, the stature of the rival Zimbabwe African People's Union (ZAPU) led by Joshua Nkomo inevitably is enhanced. Mr. Nkomo is regarded as more moderate. The circumstances are tempting for him to make a bid for power — or a deal with Mr. Smith. He vigorously denles such suggestions.

Still another black nationalist leader, James Chikerema, has been sniping at Mr. Nkomo from exile. And Enos Nkala, presently spokes man for the Sithole ZANU group in Rhodesia has said he would boycott the ANC congress if the organization tries to hold one.

Thus it is clear that the soft-spoken, smallstatured ANC chairman, Protestant Bishop Abel Muzorewa faces formidable problems in trying to hold his team together in the current sparring. Time and again, Salisbury rumors have claimed the bishop was on the way out as ANC leader, but he has proved durable as well as determined.

The bitterness between the ZANU and ZAPU factions erupted into violence recently. It also is assumed to cause great annoyance to Zambia's black President Kaunda, who along with South Africa's white Prime Minister John Vorster is anxious to see meaningful talks get under way lest further bloodshed

ISLE-OF-MAN.

MILNE'S HOTEL

Queen's Promenade

Douglas - 0624-5546

All the entertaining rooms, the entrance hall, Oak Room, Dinling Hall and Deuce Room are decorated in Old English Style.

Accommodation for 150 guests. Sathing from hotel to beach opposite. Lift to all floors. The atmosphere is free and easy and our principal aim is to make your holl-day enjoyable.

TERMS ON REQUEST

BARONIAL HALL

Come and Dine in the Olde World Charm
of This Superb Hall

For a welcome

that's warm and a meal that's great

For Reservations Douglas 5823

LUNCHES TEAS SHORE CAFE Lower Promenade · ICES MINERALS The Cafe with the View OPEN 10 A.M. DAILY

DOUGLAS, ISLE OF MAN

ART

STORE

FOR

FINE QUALITY

GLASS, CHINA,

AND

MANX POTTERY

49 Strand Street

and Villa Marina Arcade

Tel. STD. 0624 Douglas 5369

PORT, ERIN, ISLE OF MAN

DOUGLAS, ISLE OF MAN PROMPT TELEFLOWER FLOWERS BRIGHTEN THE DAY floral designs Edwin Dudley

2 WINDSOR RD., DOUGLAS TEL. S.T.D. 0624, 6298 PRESH PRUIT & PLOWERS. DRIJVERED DAILY

BVERY YOU TAKE BE A HAPPY ONE IN SHOES FROM

KERMODE & BIGNELL

WHO CATER FOR ALL THE FAMILY LADIES SHOP. 1 & 3 CASTLE ST. MEN'S & CHILDREN'S SHOP 12 CASTLE ST. DOUGLAS, ISLE OF MAN

Partners Fully Appointed Travel Agents 42 Duke Street Tel. STD. 0624 - Douglas 4312 Telegrams Gellingrav Douglas (Telex 62633 - Ans. Back Gellings)

DE WESTERN AUSTRALIA THE PACESETTER OF THE WEST! 11 Stores Serving WESTERN AUSTRALIA Perth • Innaloo Garden City Morley Kwinana Hub Carousel Grove Bunbury Melville Albany Geraldton growing. So far, there are no confirmed reports of foreign firms planning to move operations away from Beirut. Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) chairman Yasser Arafat has given a public -

at Your Service in

WELLINGTON LOWER HUTT CHRISTCHURCH DUNEDIN INVERCARGILL

Remember You Can Operate on Your Account

Hallensteins

clothing and footwear throughout New Zealand.

Hattensteins is New Zeelend's biggest and best-known name in Men's and Boys" clothing. Hallensteins fame has been built on yatte — real value. With 50 shops, Hallensteins buy big at keen prices and pass the sayings on to you — our customers. You'll find a Hallenstein's Men's and Boys' clothing and footwear shop practically envertee in New Zeeland, and 16 of these locations have a full Women's Children's footwear department elso. John the hundreds of thousands of New Zealand people who shop and save at He Rehatelris.

WON'T

 Australia

Culture boom spreads across Australia

By Ronald Vickers Special to The Christian Science Monitor

Sydney, Australia There has been nothing quite like it since the gold rush: the Australian man in the street has discovered culture.

Not many years ago any Australian male brave enough to admit enthusiasm for art, poetry, or opera was considered odd, if not

But with the great influx of Italian, Greek, and other European immigrants and with the building of the famed Sydney Opera House, the traditional "he man" mystique is crum-

Not to be outdone by Sydney, every other state capital is building or has finished a cultural center of comparable, if not bigger, capacity. Melbourne's impressive multipurpose Arts Center is more than half finished; Adelaide's new Festival Hall is already in use; Perth's new concert hall is also in use; and Brisbane has a cultural building on the drawing boards.

But the biggest surprise connected with the culture boom is the rapidity with which Australians have swung from apathy (if not distaste) to enthusiasm toward the arts. The Australian Opera doubled box-office receipts from 1973 to 1974, filled an average 89 percent of seats, and needed less than a 50-percent subsidy compared with an 80 percent subsidy

In Australia, it's David Jones

Australia's store with 25 branches across the nation. Since 1838.

as far north as Cairns, as far west as Perth. David Jones' serve customers all over the are proud to be Australian, to

we have extended our services

... 25 stores across the continent

David Jones' is your store,

in Hamburg, for example, which would be expected to be far ahead of Australia.

Bernd Benthaak, who has been producing opera here since 1970, says, "The Australian Opera is developing fast — artistically as well as in size. Regional opera companies are going ahead, too. Many fine Australian singers who've been working overseas think it worthwhile to come back here now. . . . That's never happened before."

The Australian Broadcasting Commission maintains six full-time symphony orchestras, a training orchestra, a choral group, and two show bands.

Names of visiting artists brought here by the broadcasting commission suggest an international who's who of celebrities. In one recent week American planist Stephen Bishop, French planist Michel Beroff, and Peruvian tenor Luigi Alva headed the list.

The Australian Ballet, virtually unheard of outside this country until the 1960s, made a coast-to-coast tour of the United States in 1971 with Rudolf Nureyev. Nureyev came to Sydney again in June; the also highly acclaimed Mikhail Baryshnikov has not long

An exhibition of modern paintings from the New York Museum of Modern Art, which arrived here in April, so far has drawn more than a quarter-million visitors, most of them waiting in long lines for half an hour or more. Local newspapers carried rave notices about the exhibition.

Sydney Opera House: opera is catching on

Many local artists, to their considerable surprise, now can make more money than sheep shearers. Barry Stern, proprietor of one of Sydney's leading commercial galleries, commented: "When I first started in Paddington [a Sydney suburb] there were three galleries. Now there must be more than to But Australians are chauvinistic buyers."

Chauvinistic or not, few Australians complained when the government paid $2 million of the taxpayers' money for a painting for the national gallery. And in spite of the recession the Labor government's subsidy to the arts in 1974-75 was up 42 percent from the previous year to $27 million — a payment that even 10 years ago would have bought Labor a ticket to the political wilderness.

Brisbome Australia

Shirley Mc Leod

HARRODS

Offers you a wide range of exclusive Fushion for the Discriminating Smart Woman

Specializing in . . . Frocks . . . Suits . . . Pant-Suits Coats . . . Bvening Wear . . . and DRESS JEWELRY for all Occasions!

So call in and let our Specialized Staff attend to your needs Sizes XSSW to O.S.

246 Queen St., Brisbane Tel: 21.0892

PERFECTO GATES AND WIRE WORKS

WROUGHT IRON

- imentai Stael Doors Step Stringers
- Tubular Roof Supports Tel. 97,4228 12 Jellicos St. Coorparoo

ADSETT

Quality Leather Goods Novelty Gift Ideas

City and Suburban Branches

Monitor ROS stand for QUALITY

edward Street, City . Garden City . Indocroop

The best stores

for menswear

prices, Rothwells stores prov-

de the ensiver with every item hopping for menswear is rade easy with your very own othwalls credit card. See our

> DECORATING PAPERHANGING

W. A. BIGG & SONS

Tel. 59.2139

114 Main Avenue, Wavell Heigh

ASTER TOWN FLORIST Gavina Rounsefell

Delivered Daily Anywhere

MEMBER OF INTERFLORA Ron & Dianna Walker, prop.

Perrott's

R. E. NOBLE Polishing Service

Specialising

General Office Cleaning 55.2325

43 Norman Terrace For Cafetena or Coffee Lounge

'RING" SHOP

every occasion

ENGAGEMENT DRESS FRIENDSHIP ETERNITY

If you want a ring You'll find it at

ian H. Trethan T& G Bldg. Corner Arcade and Albert St. Tel. 21.0962

Brisboune Australia

GAYTHORNE

FOOD STORE

FREE DELIVERY GAYTHORNE ALDERLEY

ENOGGERA

V. E. & K. P. Smith

454 Samford Rd.

PHOTOGRAPHIC

All your

Herbert Small's Grand Central Arcade Tel. 21 0355

Tel. 55.1256

Camera Centre

New Valley Centre Tel. 52.8571

An Invitation to visit our Salon

and view

our wide range of

FASHIONS

and nowest

ACCESSORY IDEAS

FELWAY

FASHIONS

9 Stewart's Rd., Ashgrove

38.2318

Personal attention to each customer

Nicholson's Dannes

416 George Street, 25 1641 338 George Street, 25 2331

CURE-ALL PEST CONTROL

SAM the MOWER MAN Momber Pest Control Assec., Q'land

(S.S. Smith Pty. Ltd.)

ALL top quality Domestic Mowers

Sales — Service — Parts

Q'Id Distributors Ransomes grass-cutting machinery

WE care for YOU

Use our Free Stroller Service

Shop for the entire family's complete wardrobe

MC Donnell & East

George St. Brisbane/Garden City Mt. Gravatt

WHITEHOUSE BROS

OUEENSLAND PIPE ORGAN BUILDERS

Member I.S.O.B.

PIPE ORGAN SPECIALISTS

AUSTRALIA-WIDE SERVICE

Pipe Organs supplied to — First Church of Christ, Scientist, Brisbane

Also First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Sydney, Adelaide and

Tel: 36.5360 (S.T.D. 072)

Our only address 61 Musgrave Rd., RED HILL Kevin M. & Valma M. Whitehouse ath 897954

· For Home Requirements

For Home Dressmaker Needs

Use our Free Car Park

Whilst you . . .

591 Wynnum Rd., Morningside

TRAVEL A.C.T.

Activity of Christian Tourism

Individual or Special Conducted Tours within Australia or Overseas

> 313185 Canberra Building, Ann Street

Dry Cleaning

If you like

Personalized

274 Edward St., City 452 Brunswick St., Valley 223 Hawken Drive., St. Lucia Tal. 52,1791

SANITONE CERTIFIED MASTER DRY CLEANER

TO MONITOR ADS

Specialising in

Bird Proofing White Ants
 Borers ALL kinds of Pest Control

FĀEE QUQTES — WORK QUARANTES 49.8572 (all hours) 37 Benaud St., Upper Mt. Graval

PRINTERS STATIONERS

Victory Press Printing Co. PTY. LTD.

Wedding Invitations No-carbon

Buainess Forms Accounting. Machine Forms

Representatives Call 21,5425 HENRY STREET SPRING HILL, BRISBANI

MIM. Whiteoakes

BRISBANE

HOME MADE CAKES

38 2191

We WON'T be undersold on INDERSOLD the same item. same brand, same quality on the same conditions.

At David Jones' we've the best range in Brisbane, all the famous brands. all the latest styles, and at the lowest prices! Because we WON'T be undersold! That's our guarantee that you get best value at our 3 stores.

49 8844; Toombul 67 2222

records, stereo hifi. sheet music, etc.

THREE STEPS TO COMFORT AND

FOOT FASHIONS MATHERS

> Shirleys. Vic Jensens

Mail Orders Stores: Brisbane - Suburbs and Country

> A Good habit is to CAB IT!

Black & White - Blue & White Cabs

Phone 32 0151

24 Hour Service

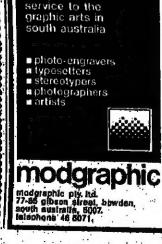

buy them at retail stores throughout Australia E. Walker & Son Pty. Ltd. 31 - 37 Dison Street Sydney, N.S W 2000

lapidary findings

for the most comprehensive

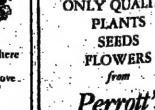

J. Y.

given Next Season's "look"

10 Stewarts Road, Ashgrove Tel. 38.2761/38.4787 After hours 87.8467

337 George St. 212388 154 Adeta-de St. 212577 38 Bosen Bridge Rd., Brisbana 52,7877

Read&Respond

Red tape snarls women's conference dialogue at the Tribune on issues of concern to women than at the government con-

Once the major countries had made their speeches at the governmental gathering,

the business before the conference was more concrete

"The World Population

Conference in Bucharest, Romania, last year," said Eliza-

Latin America correspondent of

The Christian Science Monitor

plois to assassinate Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro and the slaying of a Chicago crime-syndicate leader have derailed the movement toward reconciliation between Ha-

Although the setback is probably only temporary, there is little likelihood that there will be much action on reconciliation until the CIA issue is resolved. Currently, there are two congressional probes into the reported CIA-sponsored assassination attempts in the 1980s. The slain Chicago gangster, Sam Giancana, figured in one of these alleged plots — reportedly first conceived in late 1960 and scheduled to be carried out in early 1961. It involved the hiring of a Cuban assassin to kill not only Dr. Castro, but his young brother

Raul, and Ernesto Che Guevara, the Ar-

The plot was never carried out, but Wash-

His recent slaying is shrouded in mystery.

One theory is, however, that it was somehow connected with the CIA probes now under way in Washington. Mr. Giancana was expected to Australia.

Coming to Australia? Then we'll turn

We'll arrange your flights (to or from accommodation, hire cars, credit facilities.

anywhere in Australia or Papua New Guinea), pioneer many parts of Australia, and now we want to show them to you, from the bustling cities, each with its own unique character, to Come, see Australia with Ansett, we've

AANSETT

You see Ansett Airlines actually helped to

'down-under' the right way up for you.

tours, luggage, just everything!

the last frontiers of the 'Red Centre'.

got a lot to show you.

Petrol, Diesel L.P. Gas

Battery Electric

2,000 LB. TO 80,000 LB.

551 2177

HYTECO PTY. LIMITED

FAIRBANK RD., CLAYTON MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA

Service

Spares

HIRE, LEASE LONG TERM

RENTAL

ington sources say Giancana was the key gentine-born close associate of Dr. Castro.

vana and Washington.

figure in the plot.

Alleged Central Intelligence Agency (CIA)

United Nations

Food council meeting brings little hope to the hungry

Special to The Christian Science Monitor

Millions of hungry and undernourished people in Africa, Asia, and Latin America drew scant encouragement from the first meeting of a new United Nations body, the 36member World Food Council, which ended in Mexico City

By Jo Ann Levine

Staff correspondent of

The Christian Science

Monitor

The International Women's

Year Conference has had to endure complaints of confusion, of lack of progress, and of political polarizations

- such as those between

Egypt and Israel — which have nothing to do with

Elizabeth Reid, who is an adviser to the Australian

Prime Minister on domestic affairs and for the welfare of women, is - according to feminist Betty Frieden - the only really major voice that has emerged at this conference. She points out that the UN mode of operating causes

more and more tensions: "It is very like a huge bureaucracy: If it is something straightforward, you will have more trouble doing it than you will doing some-

Elizabeth Reid says it is usual in UN conferences for the traditional game to be played-delegates give set speeches, praise their own country, say nothing is wrong with it, and then display all

The Australian delegation

head also mentioned the lack of documentation services and the lack of translation services as factors slowing

One reason for the technical confusion here is that the conference was moved from its originally planned site in

Bogota, Colombia to Mexico

City only last October, and the Mexican Government has not had time nor supplied the full facilities for a confer-

At the nongovernmental

Tribune, where space and organization are also problems, the confrontations have

Tel. 328-3192

down the conference work.

their ancient hostilities.

thing pointless."

China and the Soviet Union.

bickering between "have" and "have-not" countries. There was a conspicuous failure to provide the political persuasion necessary to get both developing countries and rich grain producers to modify domestic policies to take nto account needs of the hungry.

A caucus of 22 have-not states protested American domination of the council secretarfalling apart.

women.' "

chaos and that conference was indeed in dire fear of in the population conference.

Here they are the majority, and in many cases they have succeeded for the first time in saying to the politicians of their governments: 'If you want to raise political issues, show us how it relates to

'Women were not included

there has been more direct beth Reid, "was in total

Americans. They also objected to what they termed paternalism in the food aid business and called for fair access to rich countries' markets in order to raise themselves out of subsistence level economies.

Less militant have-nots like Pakistan disagreed with more militant ones such as Senegal and Algeria, which seemed always ready for a public showdown.

The council's director, Dr. John Hannah, formerly of the U.S. Agency for International Development, received in effect a vote of "no confidence" from the hungry nations. His position now is considered untenable despite his impeccable credentials.

Dr. Addeke H. Boerma, retiring director-general of the UN Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO), struck the most positive note at the meeting. He blamed both developing and rich countries for the world food

How far, he asked, are the developing countries prepared to make the internal policy changes necessary to reform agrarian structures and improve income distribution?

To the haves, Dr. Boerma asked the crucial question, "To what extent are the developed countries as a whole now prepared to open up their markets much more generally to the agricultural exports of developing coun-

A personal disappointment to Dr. Boerma was the failure of the European Common Market to increase its contributions for the

Rome on formation of the International Agricultural Development Fund, promised cash by the United States and rich Arab oil

If this sort of financing can be provided for agricultural investment in the third world it might provide the one bright spot on the world food horizon. But already France, Japan, the Soviet Union, and Italy have said they cannot world's hungry this year, though the United States, Canada, and Australia have all done so, Experts continue discussion this week in states. The fund's first year's budget is to be about $1.25 billion, rising to $5 billion year by

The WFC meeting showed there is little evidence yet of a universal reordering of priorities to cope with the world food problem.

If money is all you need, see us first.

Who wouldn't like a colour telly? All your favourite shows in living colourlike seeing them at the movies!

You could buy one now with the help of a National Bank personal loan. Ask and see. You don't have to be a current National Bank customer to get one. Why walt?

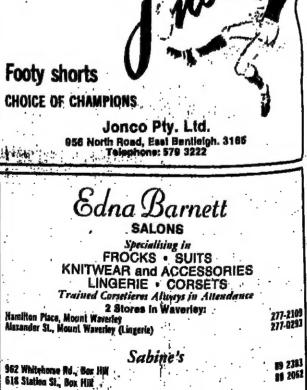

been more between radical and moderate groups. But many acknowledge that Office Furniture and Desks Systems Equipment
Loss Leaf Equipment
Refoder and Revoluter

Experi Advisory Service Consult MELBOURNE C. E. CLAYTON CITY-CHADSTONE-NORTHLAND ASSOCIATES 451 Elizabeth Stree

ANSVAR'S new Improved HOUSEHOLDER'S POLICY provides the cover you need, saves you time and trouble! Ask for tree brochure. ANSVAR AUSTRALIA INSURANCE LTD. Insurance for non-drinkers

For non-drinkers!

MONITOR ADVERTISERS

Blinds & Curtains Pty., Itd. (W. V. & Y. COLE, Props.) CURTAIN & BLIND MAKERS MAKERS OF ALL TYPES OF CURTAINS BLINDS, PADDED PELMETS, CURTAIN TRACKS FABRIC AND WALLPAPER BLINDS BEDSPREADS - LOOSE COVERS AND UPHOLSTERY EXPERT ADVICE. SAMPLES AND QUOTES IN YOUR HOME WITHOUT OBLIGATION OR VISIT DUK SHOWROOM TERMS AVAILABLE! 56 JACKSON CRT., 848-4280 848-2124 testify soon before the Senate committee investigating intelligence activities. We've got a lot to show you.

PROMPT, COURTEOUS ATTENTION

LAY BY IF YOU WISH

HYSTER FORK LIFT TRUCKS NEW AND USED MEN'S AND BOYS' WEAR . TOP BRAND NAME DINNER SUIT HIRE

37 Hamilton Place Mt. Weverley 277 9200

Also at: 81 Church Street Maidle Brighton — 92 5491 240 Springvain Rhad Springvain — 545 9001

According to this theory, Mr. Giancana had become a liability to the underworld. While the Senate committee was looking into CIA connections, it is thought underworld figures in Chicago were concerned that Mr. Giancana might disclose syndicate secrets during the investigation.

The Senate committee, it is understood, has substantial evidence that a CIA plot did in fact exist and that it was spawned in the final months of the Eisenhower administration in late 1980 and was due to be carried out in the first months of the Kennedy administration.

But Senate investigators are looking carefully at the alleged Castro assassination plot and others developed in late 1980 against Gen. Rafael Leonidas Trujillo Molina of the Dominican Republic and Dr. Francois Duvaller

General Trujillo's assassination on May 30, 1961, is thought to have had a tie-in with the CIA. But in the case of General Trujillo. evidence now has come to light suggesting that several earlier CIA-sponsored plots against the Dominican leader were worked out in late 1960.

The rationale behind this alleged CIA plotting remains elusive. Dr. Castro, a Cuban nationalist, was adopting a strongly anti-United States policy, while General Trujillo, in office for 30 years, enjoyed much support in the United States.

Mob 'hit' perils U.S.-Cuba ties Mrs. Peron: gravest crisis yet

Latin America correspondent of The Christian Science Monitor

Argentine President Maria Estela Martinez de Peron is on a collision course with the nation's powerful trade-union movement. The issue is her veto of a massive 100 percent pay boost for the nation's workers. In taking the action late Saturday, she is risking a clash with the major Argentine labor group, the Confederacion General del Trabajo (CGT), which has long been the backbone of the Peronista movement she now heads.

The CGT had staged a general strike and mass demonstration in support of the demand for payment of the wage boost.

Mrs. Peron, arguing that the increases would fuel greater inflation and unemployment in an already troubled economy, went on nationwide radio and television to announce her rejection of the increase. She ordered an all-around increase of only 50 percent, effective last June 1, and called on the nation for austerity to get it through the present economic crisis

"It seems the leaders of unions and political groups do not yet understand the difficulties we face," she said. Labor Minister Ricardo Otero promptly resigned - a tipoff that labor would probably resist Mrs. Peron's decree. Mr. Olero had strongly supported the 100 percent increase.

Latin America

CGT leader Casildo Herreras rushed back to Buenos Aires from Geneva where he had been attending an International Labor Organization session. He called a general CGT meeting Monday to decide what action to take.

With the anniversary of her inauguration as President coming up July 1, Mrs. Peron faces her gravest crisis in the year she has been in office. The CGT has 3 million members and for 25 years has served as the underpinning of her late husband's political movement.

Without CGT support, Mrs. Peron will find the going increasingly difficult. Her political base is limited at best. Moreover, her closest advisers, including Social Welfare Minister Jose Lopez Rega, are bitterly disliked by labor and by many other Argentines. The CGT last week called for Mr. Lopez Rega's ouster.

How our double-knit shirts lead a double life.

Unlike most knit shirts, the Fletcher Jones double-knit shirt looks great out. Or tucked in. With a cleverly detailed collar that looks great open. nuttoned or with a cravat.

In a superb, fine-knit, pure new wool, In a magnificent range of colours. Carnel, grey, pale blue, ginger snap and stone.

The way we style our double-knit shirts, they suit every occasion. And, they're just a part of the expanding range of Pletcher Jones co-ordinates.

The price, just $20.45. Small price for traditional Fletcher Jones. Where quality costs less than you think.

Walker's Rug & Upholstery Cleaners

Boston & Europe RETURN $887-50 This is the Full Cost for a Round World Excursion

Air Ticket during Low Season which includes a Stopover in Boston.

(From Sydney & Melbourne - other Capital Cities quoted

PHONE, WRITE OR CALL TO ANY STEWART MOFFAT TRAVEL OFFICE FOR FULL DETAILS

Stewart Moffat Travel

MELBOURNE: Cor. Collins & William Sts Tel. 26 6631 409 St. Kilda Road. 286 Foorak Rd., Sth. Yaira:

15-23 Bligh St., Tel. 233 5255 BRISBANE ADELAIDE: PERTH

> Tel. 87 3721 Tel. 21 2424

JEFF'S Bulk Appliances P/L APPLIANCES

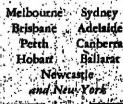

Tel. 21 3922

STEREO - TV FURNITURE and RECONDITIONED APPLIANCES . Big Discounts

Save Many Dollars

327 Stephensons Road Mt. Waverley 277 5522 Also BELGRAVE (MAIN ROAD) 754 5881 MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA

Choose.

OPPICES IN

From page 1

*Mrs. Gandhi's crackdown

Some papers expressed their disagreement with the censorship this past weekend by leaving some columns blank, but were thereafter forbidden to do that again.

Some of the papers appear to be deliberately refraining from publishing any photographs of Mrs. Gandhi, and one has pleaded in an editorial for more freedom. That is about the extent of visible protest from the press so far.

Mrs. Gandhi defended the censorship in a recent speech on the grounds that "some newspapers in the recent past had been spreading and writing all sorts of stories." The Prime Minister said she was sure the censorship would soon be lifted.

In addition to controlling the local press, the government has been heavily censoring outgoing news dispatches as well. One British newsman who tried to file what he considered to be a factual, low-key dispatch this past weekend found that the government censor rejected about 90 percent of it. He was left with only a few lines considered acceptable for transmitting overseas.

Another correspondent who wanted to transmit quotations from an Indian newspaper editorial concerning the need for press free-

Prime Minister Gandhi

though the editorial had appeared in the paper itself without being censored.

From page 1

★Britain's future

What the businessmen fear is that a strict curb on prices could drive some enterprises to the wall.

Labour's left wing, however, and many unions expressed dismay and anger. Stalwarts of Labour's left, like former Industry Minister Eric Heffer, accused the government of reneging on the "social contract" — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's original policy of holding down wages through voluntary agree-

While hoping for voluntary agreements between unions and management under the new 10 percent ceiling, Mr. Healey said he would propose legislation if these agreements falled to come within the limits he has imposed. Unions will not be penalized, but employers, whether public or private, will not be allowed to raise prices, nor will they be wing will back down.

GREATERMANS

YOUR COMPLETE DEPARTMENTAL

in our MAIN STORE you'll find leading fashions and personal requisites. . . Relax in our Restaurant for delicious lunches and teas.

Visit our HOME CENTRE where you can get the fi-

Electrical appliances, furnishings, crockery, novel-ties and kitchenware, tools and House Linen.

nest merchandise for your home . . . Furniture,

DURBAN. West Street (Formerly Payne's of Greatermans)

DISCOVER TOTAL VALUE AT

subsidized should their wage settlements exceed 10 percent.

Labour's left wing and the more militant unions face a dilemma. If the left wing consistently votes against the government, it could force party moderates into a coalition with the Conservatives

If the unions strike and thereby bring the economy to a halt, they could also cause a change of government. The result, from their viewpoint, could only be a reactionary coalition or a reactionary Conservative govern-

Much as they dislike what Mr. Healey has done, do they really want to bring their own government down? Messrs. Wilson and Healey are gambling that when faced with the alternatives, the unions and the party's left

From page 1

* Moscow and power vacuum and Mediterranean basins.

Capitol IIII.

Symptomatic also is the fact that the la foreign policy issue in Washington today be nothing to do with Asia, but everything to do with Europe. It is the controversy over the "detente" policy toward the Soviet Union.

It still is the official policy. It is defended daily by Secretary of State Henry Kissings. But it is coming under increasing critician or

The latest development in this mounting assault on official policy was the appearance in Washington of justly hands noted

Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn, Hecmen a grain George Meany of the AFL-ClO. Molecules speech which in strongest possible bema identified "detente" as appearement of solid tyranny. If Mr. Solzhenitsyn had his we Washington would reopen the "coldwar" a do its utmost (short, presumably, of nuclear war) to overthrow the present regue in Moscow, break up the Soviet empire, and liberate its captive peoples.

It seems probable that "detente" 1 become the prime foreign policy issue in the 1976 political campaign in the United State 1

has replaced Asian policy, which has all ha

emergency powers in India and the jailing of leading members of the political opposition corps, which has been trained and organized for helf a century for playing a set have shocked the capitals of the Western for half a century for playing a primary role have shocked the capitals of the Western world, but have drawn only sympathy and and retrained for a role in the North Allang.

Viewed from Peking (and from Washington as well) it is now in order to talk about a Moscow-New Delhi "axis." India seems drawing ever closer to the Soviet Union. Peking sees the danger of a new "domino theory" working in Asia. As the Chinese read it, Soviet influence, based firmly on India, could all too easily sweep eastward around the southern rim of Asia. Peking is naturally concerned at the prospect of being embraced by Moscow and its clients on north, west, and south. If Soviet naval units then obtained naval base rights at Cam Ranh Bay, Peking would Indeed have occasion both to worry and to seek even friendlier relations than it yet enjoys with both Japan and the United States.

All of this is transforming the pattern of world relations. Sino-Soviet rivalry in Southeast Asia was foreseen as a long-term consequence of American withdrawl from Indo-China but few dreamed that it would come with the rush it has displayed. Moscow, as expected, has moved deftly though cautiously into the vacuum. But each move produces a higher decibel level of expressed concern in

A companion to all of this change of patterns in Asia is a continuing turn of Washington's disappeared as a political issue. It is at the face from Asia to Europe. Symptomatic is America has willed itself to forget Asia.

From page 1

★Israel and U.S.A.

On nuclear weapons, Egypt, which has signed the treaty, has said that it will not ratify it unless the Israelis do likewise.

Mr. Schlesinger recalled that President Lyndon B. Johnson at the time of the original nonproliferation-treaty signature in 1968 had indicated the U.S. would seek Security Council action in support of any signatory who was threatened with nuclear aggression.

in 1964, President Johnson said that "nations that do not seek national nuclear weapons can be sure that if they need our strong support against some threat of maker; blackmail then they will have it."

President Ford in his interview dead reports that he had at a meeting with indi-Ambassador Simcha Dinitz on Friday 🎮 him an "ultimatum" that the U.S. will "impose a settlement" if the Israelis did

But he went on to may that the reassess of U.S. Mideast policy is "no charact ! "we are doing to make a decision."

MAIN STORE

HOME CENTRE

WEST STREET, DURBAN

 \dots everything for the home under on 100

for family fashions and accessories ::

plus a large Restaurant and milk bar for

BLINDS PRICED AT 80 x 135 cm 2.99 90 x 135 120 x 135 cm 5.50 150 x 136 6.99

TEL. 63666 P.O. BOX 210. DURBAN.

183 x 135 cm 7.99 90 x 183 cm 5.50 6.99 8.99 183 x 183 240 x 183 13.99 EASY TO CLEAN EASY TO INSTALL. 425/433 West Street, Durban

(1st Floor Hub) West Street, Durban

Permanent Waving

Tinting Specialists CUTTING MODERN STYLING

PLAIN SETTINGS Phone 22930 312746 29767

Come see our selection of Genuine Leather Handbags, Purses, Wallets at

Umbrella Shop

17 Salisbury Arcade

For the Best Selection of Books on Every Subject Consult Durban's Oldest Bookshop

ADAMS & CO. LTD

341 West Street Durban Phone 69381

FILESING STATION Const Soldiers May and Field Swift Ourban Phone 240M

Specializing in Shell Lubrication Oris - Petrol Engine and Chara

THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

year which would mean:

Bumper harvest expected

By Robert M. Press Staff correspondent of The Christian Science Monitor

Latest signs point to record grain crops this

1. For shoppers: Lower prices next winter for eggs, corn-fed poultry, pork, and beef. Also greater availability of Japanese cars, Latin American bananas, and a variety of European goods purchased with foreign exchange from sales of U.S. agricultural goods

2, For many farmers: Ironically, lower incomes as their bumper corn and wheat crops flood markets and bring prices down.

 For the hungry abroad: A greater chance of getting some surplus U.S. grain as it starts to pile up this fall. As the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) prepares its key July 10 report on this year's crop-production estimates, most signs such as weather and acres planted point to the record yields predicted earlier this year.

Previous USDA estimates were based on what farmers said they intended to plant. The

SAVE, INVEST AND INSURE

THE CAPE OF GOOD HOPE

SAVINGS BANK

Special Deposits Earn:

notice of milidrami

no stady halpuce Subject to 31 DAYS

HEAD OFFICE:

BRANCHES;
Gardens Shopping Centre, Mill St., Cape Town
Roggebasi Branch, African Eagle Centre Riebeeck Street, Cape Town
Regent Road (Opposite Odean), Sea Point
owing Centre, 110 Main Road, Claremont

SOUTH AFRICA

CHECKERS

WHERE GOOD FOOD

ORDINARY SAVINGS

117 St. George's Street, Cape Town BRANCHES;

01/2%

en dady balance subject to 185 DAYS notice of withdrawal

SPECIAL SAVINES on daily balance minerous balance 8200

Phone 43,5001

5 1/2% ON DAILY BALANCE P.A.

crops in the fields.

"I think we're going to have a good crop," says Walter Goeppinger, chairman of the board of the National Corn Growers Association in Boone, Iowa.

But, he adds, "we've had tremendous losses from rain" in parts of northern Iowa and

But the excessive rains, which slow growth, have been the exception in most corn-growing areas. Normal weather favorable to growth

Similarly, in some wheat areas, excessive rains, even hail, have hurt crops in recent weeks, but most areas are doing well.

Dennis Roemer in Gove, Kansas, expects to get 45-to-50 bushels an acre on his wheat farm this summer "unless we keep having a lot of rain." Last year he got 38-to-40 bushels an acre when heavy rains, then a drought, hit his and many Midwestern farms.

Combined winter-planted (the larger portion) and spring-planted wheat production is estimated at a record-shattering 2 billion bushels, up from the previous record of 1.6 billion for the 1973-74 crop.

HENSHILWOODS

THE

FAMILY STORE

FOR ALL YOUR FAMILY

REQUIREMENTS

·Clothing

Piece Goods

Haberdashery

Sports Goods

Garden Shed

Gifts Novelties

Meet Your Friends for Lunch or Tea at

"The Town Square" Restaurant

In HENSHILWOODS of CLAREMONT

Phone 6.8511 or 65.4040 Cape Province - South Africa

Which should come first jobs? Or the economy?

Staff correspondent of The Christian Science Monitor

Congress prepares to leave Washington for another 10-day recess with one of the sharpest ecoomic issues in 40 years dividing the Democratic legislature from the Republican

"Congress has done nothing," asserted President Ford of the energy problem at a plorful outdoor press conference on the White House south lawn June 25.

"The all-time, record-breaking no-jobs President," shouted House Speaker Carl Albert, waving his arms on the floor of the House and denouncing his former colleague, President Ford, for allegedly obstructing job issue between them is technically

In the worst recession since the Great Depression, Mr. Ford puts emphasis on curbing inflation while the Democratic activists put emphasis on cutting the 9.2 percent memoloyment rate — 8 million unemployed. Among other points at his press conference.

- Declined to say whether the United States would use nuclear weapons if attacked in Korea - Declared further price increases by the oil cartel would be "totally unacceptable." - Said he may ask Congress to continue recently reduced income-tax rates another year if the alump continues. - Denied that Russia has violated the strategic arms limitation (SALT) agreement. Economic indicators put in their own twoents worth in the increasingly bitter White louse-congressional argument: the federal composite index advanced for the third straight month in May, signaling continuing recovery.

United States

And the Democrats failed once more to override a presidential veto, this one on the $1.2 billion housing bill, declared by sponsors to offer 800,000 potential jobs. The vote: 268 to override, 157 against, or 16 short of the twothirds needed to override Mr. Ford's veto.

Although Democratic activists have been clobbered four times in recent attempts to override vetoes - farm, emergency jobs, strip mining, and housing - and although top presidential economic adviser Alan Greenspan has declared the recession has touched bottom, important considerations yet remain in the basic energy-jobs clash that is coming to dominate politics in Washington:

- The administration's own economic projections look to unemployment of around 8 percent (7,500,000 unemployed) through calendar 1976.

- The oil cartel gives signs of boosting prices again, representing a multibillion-dollar sales tax on the United States and world consumers which Mr. Ford told his press conference might have a serious effect on the U.S. recovery. The urgency of the oil situation apparently still is not realized by the U.S. man in the street, and no consensus is reaching Congress to take form in affirmative action of the kind Mr. Ford laments he is failing to get. Asked about this failure to emphasize the situation, called by some a "crisis," Mr. Ford answered in general terms and cited energy-saving devices of government agencies.

The Senate's scheduled vacation over July 4 rides on the effort to limit a filibuater on the contested New Hampshire seat. It has failed three times to get the majority necessary to apply cloture.

Shop Ahead

The suburban departmental store that takes pride in its air of old world courtesy. Service to our customers is our pleasure, and your satisfaction is our first objective.

SOUTH AFRICA

WE'RE AS MEAR AS YOUR TELEPHONE!

Now open to serve your every fashion need with complete stocks of all ladies' wear. Accounts gladly opened at any time 189 Church Street, Pietermaritzburg.

Phone 28992
and at DAPHNE'S of Port Shepstone.

Make sure The Food Corporation make it

And you're sure of the best

Willards Crisps and Snacks Hinds Spices

ProNutro Piccadilly Sweets Hinds Baby Food

The store that specializes in quality.

Quality in service and quality in merchandise.

Trusted names in RHODESIA and SOUTH AFRICA

For Your Home and Friends Say it with Flowers FLORETTE

GOODYEAR 12 Salisbury Arcade

Phone 25729 25652 24101

TOURBANT KNOLE SALON FURNISHERS Buyers and Sellers

> New, Used and Antique Furniture

Corner of Smith and Park Street Durban -Phone 27884, 61710

Moyeni Road Gillitts Natal

Students of Christian Science Lovingly Welcomed

For particulars please write to P.O. Box 1281 Durban 4000 Natal, South Africa LIZETTE

Specialists in Umbrella Repairs and stockists of the widest range of umbrellas, sunshades in Durban.

P.O. BOX 210

AUSSIES

TEL. 63666

COSTS YOU LESS Branches throughout the Cape Peninsula

CAPE TOWN

SOUTH AFRICA

Who's to blame for the 'phone?

Special to The Christian Science Monitor

Was the telephone invented in Canada or in the United States?

Everyone -- except the Russians perhaps agrees Sir Alexander Graham Bell invented the contraption. But a controversy is raging over where he actually put the talkinglistening device together.

It all began when the latest Washington, D.C., telephone book came out recently.

On the cover, depicted as an "American" hero, is Alexander Graham Bell, The directory, published by the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company, a division of American Telephone & Telegraph Company, says the telephone was born in Boston on March 10.

This "theft" of a Canadian invention though Bell was born in Edinburgh, Scotland - infuriated the Canadian Embassy in Washington.-First Secretary Keith de Bellefeuille Percy issued a protest, concerned that the same misinformation would find its way into the remainder of America's 180 million phone

He quoted Sir Alexander himself as saying in Ottawa in 1910: "It was I who invented the telephone, and it was invented wherever I happened to be at the time. Of this you may be sure, the telephone was invented in Canada."

Bell told his Canadian audience he found it "curjous" there should be a dispute even then about where the phone was invented.

But he suggested the device was "made" in the U.S. and invented in Canada. "The first transmission of a human voice over a telephone wire, where the speaker and the listener were miles apart, was in Can-

The dispute was front-page news in many Canadian newspapers last week, and telephone historians are busy trying to resolve the

"It's easier to read," says a subscriber, responding to The Christian Science Monitor's new page

'Each article really stands out. I can quickly sort out what I want to read without overlooking anything.

> "Somehow, I feel I'm getting more for my money!

explains a spokesman for the association. "The old school can't come face-to-face with

In simple terms, the association is demand-

In Ottawa's Rockcliffe Park

Behind the glamour

Mutterings among the Mounties

Special to The Christian Science Monitor

The scarlet-coated Mounties, who occasionally have played the role of strike-breaker in Canadian history, are saddled with a labor problem of their own.

A burst of mild trade unionism has developed in the 16,000-member federal police force, long considered to be a most unlikely place for union activity of any kind.

A group of restless Mountles, small but vocal, has sprung up to challenge some of the procedures and policies which have guided the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) for Between 300 and 400 Mountles have risked incurring the wrath of their superiors by joining a national "RCMP Association" to represent their interests in salary negotiations and other matters.

"The old benevolent godfather is being threatened," explains a lawyer who represents the group of dissident redconts formed in

Ottawa earlier this year. By "godfather," he means Commissioner Maurice Nadon and the ultra-conservative band of men who run the prestige-laden paramilitary RCMP, which only this year began admitting women members.

The commissioner has not publicly attacked the fledgling RCMP Association, but his enthusiasm for a tame, "in-house" staff association he set up last year is evident. The commissioner refuses to grant interviews on the subject - snother sign of his displeasure concerning the association's exis-

"If they insist on having high school and university graduates in the ranks, they are going to come up against this trouble," this desire of people to have an input into decisions which affect their lives and their ing four basic changes in the way the Mounties operate. It wants:

 Commissioner Nadon to surrender hts power to dismiss a Mountie without benefits due process of law.

The RCMP association categorically release

Solicitor-General Warren Allmand, white

ports to Parliament of RCMP matters, dismissed the group as "a few fellows selly i membership i cards" in Ottawa. But he's promised to take it more seriously should a symbol of Canada. Their romantic some

tures on the frontier have contributed to the image as an efficient, dedicated band of pa

who, according to the saying, "always fol

In recent years, the RCMP has come with increasing attack from critics who complise that its Hollywood-generated image must

The appearance of this unionlike ROP

Association is particularly ironic, since in federal government often has used the Mountles as an effective instrument lo que

In a study of Canadian Industrial relation published several years ago, Prof. Smit.

Jamieson remarked that the Mounties into vention in strikes has had "a protond off on the climate of labor relation in this

The RCMP presence has been effected enough, he said, "to tip the scales of battle's tupelwater the said," hundreds of strikes and labor demonstra-

Mountles' internal labor difficulty is still to doubt, but it seems evident that the association is seems evident that the association is seems.

Which way the scales of ballle will tipinthe serious internal problems.

labor uprisings.

internationally, the Mountles are knows association," says one member.

gain majority support.

· A board set up to hear Mounties' appear against convictions on service offense m public complaints about RCMP conduct. · Federal legislation changed so to Mounties, like other government employer, could negotiate salaries and working codtions through an independent association. "Merit" to govern promotions, as the time-honored principle of seniority.

the idea that policemen have the right strike. "We're not a union - we're only a

florists BLAKES OF CHELSEA, London 53
Sloane Sq. S. W 1. Tel. 01-730 3821
All Floral Work.

food products

CONTRAI CAINTOFNIA

CITRUS AND CATTLE RANCH Loscaled in the San Joaquin Valley astride scenic Kings River 935 acres high producing citrus; 10,000 acres excellent winter range supplemented with 370 acres irrigated pasture $6,325,000, plus crop expenses Principals only, Box L-18, One Norway St., Boston, MA 02115 U.S.A. food products DORIS PUSEY. High-class dress-making including Readers dresses. Alterations Remodeling 23 Loveday Road, West Ealing, W.13. Tel: 01-

ST. ANNE'S MANAGEMENT Selection and Employment Agency, 42 High Street, Addissione, Surray, Weybridge 48134/5/8. Covers all hairdressers

Weybridge 48134/5/8. Covers all grades of steff throughout the U.K.

estate agents

ROSS & ROSS LTD. Auction & Estate Offices Estate 1890. Sales Valuations — Rents Collected — 231

Brixton Road, London SW9 6LN — Telephones 01-735 2847/8/9.

Hair Cressers

HAIR BY JOHN & MARGARET Specialized cutting — Ladies & Gents 40

North Parade, Chessington, 01-397
2188, and 39 Tattenham Gross, Tattenham Corner, Epsom, Burgh Heath 51639.

Holiday accommodation
CORNWALL—ROOM, BREAKFAST,

CORNWALL—ROOM, BREAKFAST, avening meal for adults near fishing villags. Weekly-forthnightly bookings. 01-520 3385. All types of insurance Sea few yards. "The Cottage", Port-CHARTERED SURVEYORS Structural Surveys. Valuations. Investments. Houses and Flats. Hooper & Jackson, 46 Futham High Street, London 8W6 3LQ. 01 736 Natrobles and All March Stree

EDUCATIONAL

Applications are invited from suitably qualified persons for one or more of the following positions:

CLASSIFIED ADS houses for sale
BETWEEN WEYBRIDGE & WOKING Unique family house 5 Beds. (4 will

Byfleet 43413. COBHAM — SURREY — ENGLAND We offer one of the finest Special terms available for readers of The Christian

LEISURE DRINKS IMPORT A WIDE range of interesting non-sicoholic drinks Weddings a speciality. Please the deletted a speciality of the second control of th

LEISURE DRINKS IMPORT A WIDE gas-fired heating, attractive 3 acre garden. 45,000 pounds. Sharples, drinks Weddings a speciality. Please ask for details. Leisure Drinks Ltd., 4 Aston-on-Trent, Derby. Tel: 0232. PUCKS. NR. WINDSOR M4 LON-792538. BUCKS. NR. WINDSOR M4 LON-DON 3 acre lovely woodland setting. 5 beds. 2 recepts, cloakroom, gas C.H. garage carport 34,000 acres for new 8 used cars. Servicting. Fig. Repairs. Self-drive hire cars 8 vans. Cobham (Surrey) 4444. Induses to let house, long term, Living-room, large kitchen, 4 bedrooms, ameli garden, garage, near shope and station. Mrs. Harria, 130A Sidney Roed, Watton-on-Thames. Tel. 42415.

Insurance

Street, London SW6 3LQ. 01 736 1161.

NAIROBI, KENYA. House available
Nairobi summer and autumn with all staff. Private safaris to game parks.
Children welcome during holidays.
Children welcome during holidays.
Inclusive rates within Kenya from 5100 per person each day. For details contact Tippetts Safaris, Sherwood Farm. Harriey Witney, Hamp-site, England. Box 43806. Nairobi, Kenys.

Flat wanted

FLAT OR PART HOUSE with garden plot available. To rent or buy required in mid-Cheshire country area by retired couple. Details to Tel. 061-928-6615.

BARINGBI, KENYA. House available of Gotto let OUTSKIRTS OF ZURICH, SWITZER-LAND. Floor of harmonicus house available in middlet new tenant: 4 of-lices, Sw. Fr. 1840.—, with bathroom, sill memediate new tenant: 4 of-lices, Sw. Fr. 1840.—, with bathroom, sill parking lot, post, bue, rallway station. Please call: 01 65 45 81.

BUEROS ZU VERMIETEN IN HARMONISCHEM HAUS am Stadt-rand von Zürich warlet Etage dringend auf neuen Mister: 4 Büros, SFr. 1840.—, mit Badezimmer, grosspar and with car if possible. Bungalow and garage near Heethifield, E. Suseex. CSM HS, 4 Grosvenor PL, SWIX 7JH.

BARIND RICHARDON SWITCH, SWITZER-CHAIND. Floor of harmonicus house warls immediate new tenant: 4 of-lices, Sw. Fr. 1840.—, with bathroom, signed new tenant: 4 of-lices, Sw. Fr. 1840.—, with bathroom, signed new tenant: 4 of-lices, Sw. Fr. 1840.—, with bathroom, signed new tenant: 4 of-lices, Sw. Fr. 1840.—, with bathroom, signed new tenant: 4 of-lices, Sw. Fr. 1840.—, with bathroom, signed new tenant: 4 of-lices, Sw. Fr. 1840.—, with bathroom, signed new tenant: 4 of-lices, Sw. Fr. 1840.—, with bathroom, signed new tenant: 4 of-lices, Sw. Fr. 1840.—, with bathroom, signed new tenant: 4 of-lices, Sw. Fr. 1840.—, with bathroom, signed new tenant: 4 of-lices, Sw. Fr. 1840.—, with bathroom, signed new tenant: 4 of-lices, Sw. Fr. 1840.—, with bathroom, signed new tenant: 4 of-lices, Sw. Fr. 1840.—, with bathroom, signed new tenant: 4 of-lices, Sw. Fr. 1840.—, with bathroom, signed new tenant: 4 of-

TECHNOLOG'

4 Richmond Road KINGSTON-an-THAME Tel. 01-548-1231

MOUNTLANDS

post vacant

a Christian Science House Due to retirements vacancies will r shortly for the positions of HOUSEKEEPER and MAINTENANCE MAN

RIVERSIDE

ORGAN STUDIOS LTD.

celections of ORGANS &

home, church or school,

Science Monitor.

Credit terms available.

Part exchange Free delivery U.K. Open 9:30-6.30 Mon.-Sat.

PIANOS in the country for

Ideal opportunity for a married couple wishing to serve. Congenial work in pleasant surntial posts if desired. Apply to: The Superintendent Mountlands Trust (Bowdon) Ltd. Bowdon, Cheshire, WAI4 2NS Telephone (061) 928-3896 don, SW1X 7JH.

small hotels & pensions uste completing bilingual English/French secretarial training Near town centre & seafront. Garden seks employment French speaking with heated swimming pool. Summer Europe or Canada from September. CSM HT, 4 Grosvenor PI., SWIX 7.1H.

WORTHING, SUSSEX — CUMBER-LAND Hotel. On sea front west of WANTED in Western Europe. Willing to work hard for good pay. Write: terms for residents. Send for bro-Elisabeth Jordal. 15610-72nd Ave. Chura, Mrs. Chisnall, Resident Director call (206) 743-7716.

soloists wanted TEA ROOMS OR CAFE REQUIRED with living accommodation. Or small shop and work rooms. To rent or purchase, Any area in Britain considered CSM HX, 4 Grosvenor PI., London, SW1X 7.JH.

small hotels and pensions

WINDERMERE LAKE DISTRICT

Raymond Guest House, Holly Road. Tel. 2219. Small quiet comfortable. B&B. Loungs. TV. Good reasonably shop Monitor

advertisers

2 BED. COTTAGE TO RENT. Furnished or unfurnished, up to 4 yrs., Claremont area. Exc. refs., if re-quired. Please phone evenings, Crowthorne (Berks) 5137. RETIREMENT HOME FOR THE EL-

wanted to buy

DERLY. Whimple, Devon. Pleasant level grounds. 1% miles Ottery St Mary. Enquiries please to Mrs. Whyte, tel, Whimple 822196. Devon County Council Registered.

2 BEDROOM UNIT or similar dwell-ing, off street parking, $20,000 East-ern Suburbs, Sydney, Australia. Phone 661 4070 or 31 5721.

WHITELEAF HOTEL 66/68 Inverness Terrace, London, W.2. Tefephone 01-727 0681 or 01-229 1826. A vary comfortable bad and breakfast only holel. Full central heating. Near Kensington Gardens, Bayswater/ Queensway tube stations. Single from 4.95 pounds. Doubles from 7.95 pounds, fully inclusive of b/fast and tax. All rooms with 1/phone and radio. Brochure Afrmalled.

JOHANNESBURG
Specialist in Homes BURLT TO ORDER & architect-designed NEW HOMES ready for immediate occupation in JOHANNESBURG & MATAL.
Small deposits, guaranteed mortgage finance & immediate freshold title.
Multiply your capital — buy Bouth Alrica, Further Information (24-in: service) phore Johannesburg 21661 ext.
1760 Day or Night: loave name, phone
no. & address ... or WAITE
STUANT ROSS-ADAMS
Box 288 Germiston 1400 South Africa

help wanted

She brings love, patience, and skill to her work. She also maintains the uplifted view of herself and those. Caring for people as they re solving physical problems through prayer is the essence of Christian Science nursing. It's an ideal avenue of expression for people Cause,

Could Christian Science nursing be for you? Inquire about our Training Program for Christian Science Nursea. As a member of The Mother Church

For information, write to either of the following:

The First Church of Christ, Scientist Christian Science Center, Boston, MA, U.S.A. 02115 Department of Care Committee for Great Britain and Ireland

London, ENGLAND WC2R 3DX

Senior Tutor

$15,954 - 18,544 $21,537 - 25,034 £9,413 - 10,941 $11.033 - 15.644 $14.894 - 21,119 $6,509 - 9,230 $ 8,288 - 9,842 $11,188 13,286 $4,889 5,806

Built in 1970 and located 8km from the centre of Perth. Mount Lawley College is a modern, multi-purpose tertiary institution committed to a philosophy of small group and individualized learning involving the applications of Educational Technology throughout its teaching/learning programs.

The College already has a large well-qualified and experienced staff engaged in the design, production and utilization of a variety of learning resource materials. Available to staff are some of the best facilities available in Australia. The accelerated development of course offerings in this field is now proceeding.

The commencing salary will be negotiated within the above ranges at the time of appointment.

It is hoped that appointment of the Senior Lecturer-in-charge of the teaching program can be made in the near tuture, with other appointments to be finalised before the end of 1975.

APPLICATIONS

Applications close 1 August 1975. Applications (with full curriculum vitae, including the names of 3 referees) and anguires should be directed

The Academic Registrar, Mount Lawley College, 2 Bradford Street, MOUNT LAWLEY 6050 WESTERN AUSTRALIA

Bring the world up close to you, every week. Just send in the coupon to start your Monitor subscription. 6 mos. The state of the s Liter par (mail Money Ordante rollow Denk Draft eaglosed (U.S. Dollars)

THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR.

DOOKS

Idensive carpet library and testing fing Tadworth, SunBesseld in Natural History, (Variabrate By.

English Colory, Carabrate By.

Cienning services

Ciennin

ation is ready for a long fight.

ROEHAMPTON, LONDON, Furn Dist. Bed-shtting room to let in HOEHAMPTON, LONDON, Furnished Dbi. Bed-shting room to let in quiet garden fint in private house inc. weshfoom, WC, CH, CHW & election of K & 81 garden, garage & phone. Terms by agreement. References etch. Phone owner 01 788 5901, Egham 3666, or write 3 Nepara St., Roehampton SW15.

CARAVANS A SELECT SITE in at CARAVANS A SELEC

DAVID MURE & CO., LTD., 21-23
Chimonh Street, Patidington, W.2
Telephone D1-723 8217/8. Fidor covering specialists and consultants. Extensive corpor library and testing sections. Contract carpat a speciality.

Company of the carporal services of the carporal services of the carporal services.

Company of the carporal services of the carporal services.

MOUNT LAWLEY COLLEGE A College of Advanced Education, Perth, Western Australia Senior Lecturer Lecturer/s

Appointers will be expected to contribute to and participate in courses in Educational Technology in the following

Graduate Diploma in Educational Technology (planned for

A one year full-time or equivalent part-time program for the post-graduate training of specialists in Educational Technology and for educationists generally.

Oldows of Teaching (Existing course).

A three year program of teacher training (primary). It is planned to offer a basic core course plus a range of electives and major options in Educational Technology within this program. tois program. Bachelor of Arts Degree and other Graduath Diplomas in Education (Planned for 1976-78)

A range of service units in Educational Technology will be

QUALIFICATIONS

Applicants should possess at least a recognized University degree of equivalent with specialist qualifications and/or extensive experience in one or more of the following areas; Educational Technology; Educational Theory and Practice; Curriculum Theory and Design; Learning Resources Design, Production, Evaluation, Organization and Hillistration

Appropriate postgraduate qualifications would be essential for any senior appointments.

CONDITIONS OF SERVICE

Payment of travel removal and settling in expenses for pointee and dependents: cours (permanent appointment) ofter twelve months salisfactory service. Generous leave conditions (including Annual, Long Service

She's pretty special. She's a Christian Science nurse

you could qualify for this uniquely satisfying career.

Personnel Department Room 308, Arundel House, 13 Arundel Street

Equal opportunity employer.

... to the raffish, exuberant confusion of Hong Kong and even the air is different

John Burns has just left Peking after four years there as correspondent for the Toronto Globe and Mail. In this article he compares his impressions of Peking with those of Hong Kong where the roar of traffic and garish neon signs give way to the tinkle of bicycle bells and glant hoardings of the Chairman's utterances in the Chinese capital.

By John Burns Special to The Christian Science Monitor (a) 1975 Toronto Globe and Mail

Hang Kung The name means "fragrant harbor," but the first thing that strikes a travelor crossing into the British crown colony of Hong Kong from China is the smell of humanity, of refuse, of freight cars loaded with animals for the sloughterhouses.

Set against the cleanliness and unpoiled air across the frontier in Communist China where soldiers sport khaki meakers and carry automatic rifles, it manifests the gulf that communism and capitalism have opened up between two parts of what was once a single China.

The contrasts are multiple and complex. After living for years in a country where newspapers print only what suits the Communist Party, it is almost a luxury to be pestered the moment you step across the frontier by small boys and wizened old women competing with one another to sell local papers with headlines such as "Mao frail - who comes after?" and photographs of scanilly clad starlets.

You buy a paper for double its newsstand price of a Hong Kong dollar (20 cents) and then you see beside the masthead, in heavy type, the legend "complimentary

Here it is enterprise

What you are looking at is another face of capitalism. recycled" — delivered to a China-bound traveler in his hotel room that morning, read by him on the train up to the border, collected by hawkers from the seat where he left it, refolded, smoothed fiat, and sold for a clear profit;

In China they would call it profiteering and reward it with a dose of re-education, or worse.

To a conscience infused with a sense of the dignity and self-worth that communism seems to have given to the ordinary man beyond the frontler, it seems

y call it enterprise — and point to the said like that, in overcrowded n to build fortunes that are

Those are from the southern Chinese city is an idyll; the spotless airg an unobstructed view over a ve been gardened.

des a traveler see a more Nombre in of what the collectivization ed than these lush rice paddies t leave not a patch of cultivable where in Asia will he encounter hat than the ope that greets his n Hong Kong, begotten, stiffingly hot train final 30 miles of the journey of Kowloon, a passenger sees that lie untended and over-administration deems overry concern a tenfold explosion y 5 million people has brought Complete is the railway line just south of Kong Golden Scolony's European elite and the front peen able to afford it (since the colony's European elite and sen able to afford it (since the dropped some years ago) hree 18-hole courses on land he dozens of tanneries that r south, giving off a foul odor, burbs of Kowloon. Here the fic jams, with their pollution and noise; the mass of humanity, with whole families crowded into single rooms in cheek-by-jowi tenements; the commercialization, with neon signs and painted shingles shouting their messages from a million storefronts.

All of it, emblematic of the capitalist ethos, assaults senses accustomed to Chinese cities where the most persistent noise is the tinkling of bicycle bells, where the sidewalks are rarely as densely crowded, and where the only advertising permitted, spart from discreet storefront shingles, is political — red-and-white alogan boards, at intersections, bearing quotations from Chairman Mao.

Before leaving the train at Kowloon station, there is another reminder of what it is to cross the ideological divide. In Communist China, guides caution travelers that there are bad elements abroad in the society and advise that baggage be locked and wallets guarded accordingly.

The fact is, that a foreigner could scatter the contents of his wallet in a crowded railway concourse, slip away, and still stand a good chance of having every cent!

'Peculiar environment' blamed

In Hong Kong, a traveler places his wallet on the stalic society of revolutionary China.

In Hong Kong, a traveler places his wallet on the stalic society of revolutionary China.

In half a decade the physical aspect of Hong Kong has takes an inapector to clip his ticket, when a fellow a shaded dramatically. While a visitor to Canton has to passenger, a local Chinese, least over and advises more strong with the case evidence of change since his last visit, a strong traveler of the control of the tion. "You are not," he says, smiling, "in China anymore."

The China Travel Service, the Peking-run organization that arranges all travel across the frontier, has its own euphemism to cover such matters: In a leaflet handed to travelers, the organization: requests that special care be taken of all personal ngings due to Hong Kong's peculiar environment.

The warning is best heeded, for legion are the tourists who have lost wallets, handbags, and suitcases in a moment's inattention. Or who, seized by the acquisitive urge prompted by Hong Kong's tax-free prices, have laid out small fortunes for watches, ewelry, or cameras only to get them home and find they are not what they seemed.

Against all this there is still much that speaks in Hong Kong's favor, There are the hotels - clean, efficient, and modern, a welcome change from the creakily run hostelries across the border where cockroaches await the visitor in dark, dank bathrooms and where it can take half an hour to get a fellow guest's room number from the reception desk: There are differences in entertainment, in books and magazines, in food, in architecture, in everything that money can buy.

Spontaneous exchange

Perhaps most important in Hong Kong is the pontaneity in human relations — the ease with which a waiter will talk about his life and aspirations, criticize his boss, or castigate the colonial administration with nary a backward glance; whereas his fellow Chinese across the frontier will always restrict his exchanges with foreigners to the approved formulae of commendation — for his job, for the party, for the system.

There is, too, the sense of dynamism, of growth and change, that contrasts strongly with the relatively traveler has only to be gone from Hong Kong for six months for another 30-story skyscraper to appear on the waterfront.

Whether this represents real progress in human terms is a question that the people of Hong Kong seem content to leave to posterity. Besides, the strictly material indices of progress — new buildings, new roads, increased prosperity—are precisely those that are most often cited to visitors across the border in Communist China, where material growth is so much

By Don Sellar Special to The Christian Science Monitor

Canada is waging a painfully slow, frustrating battle to become a truly bilingual country. And while the odds remain heavily stacked against total bilingualism, there are hopeful trends:

The Liberal government of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau is encountering less public opposition to its plan for a functionally bilingual federal public service by 1978.

Census takers discovered a 30 percent increase in the number of Canadians claiming to speak both French and English between

Even though the federal government has no constitutional authority in education, it is pumping nearly $100 million a year into second-language training in the 10 provinces.

There is evidence that many Canadians living far away from the predominantly French-speaking province of Quebec are beginning to develop facility in the French

As a 14-year-old Ottawa high school French immersion course student put it, "There are countries in Europe with three and four languages, and they get along all right. We should be able to keep up with two, I think it is valuable to learn a lot of languages," she adds.

As the home of Canada's Parliament and its federal public service, Ottawa is a crucial testing ground for bilingual attitudes and programs. Reporters here are constantly amazed at the number of civil servants who leave their desks for months at a time to study French - the language of 27 percent of Canada's population — at government-run training schools.

There seems to be an increased acceptance of bilingual training, and negative sentiments surface less frequently in the capital now.

Today, you can visit Ottawa schools and watch kindergarten and first grade publis speaking the second language, either English or French, to their teacher outside the classroom. And they speak that second language nearly as well as the one they hear most

High school students - whose day is split between classes in their native tongue and immersion classes — tend to revert to their first language outside the classroom.

In general, immersion courses make use of techniques different from ordinary classroom dialogues. Teachers constantly ask questions,

Ottawa: crucial testing ground for bilingual attitudes and programs prodding their students to respond and develop the topic, be it mathematics, reading, or geography. Language immersion teachers do Artually no lecturing, depending on this 'Socratic method' to keep their pupils engaged in active participation Federal bilingual courses are administored by Secretary of State Hugh Faulkner. "The najor problem across the country is the shortage of teachers fluent in both languages." he told an interviewer recently. 'There is also a shortage of adequate textbooks. Then there is the shortage of cash to train the teachers and write the texts."

This year, Mr. Faulkner was able to announce a five-year renewal of the federal-provincial program on bilingualism in education launched with $200 million in federal

This program has two stated objectives, in keening with Parliament's passage of the Official Languages Act designating English and French as the country's two "official" tongues. First, to ensure that wherever possible, Canadians of oither official language have the opportunity to educate their children in their own language, and second, to give students across the country a genuine opportunity to learn the country's other official

The cooperation of all ten provinces particularly in the use of immersion teaching methods -- is considered an essential feat of the program, which now encompare several thousand students.

HE CHRISTIAN SOFNCE MONTO

In addition to the basic grant pro-Officer is providing fellowships and bus for post-secondary students and second gaages teachers, as well as funding less training institutions and bilingual or mind language past-secondary schools. Its grants allow minority-language duck unable to study in their own language at less to visit other parts of the country where by can do so. And, until 1977, any province sella up or improving a language training center a tenchera cultego una be reimbursed to be tune of $100,000 from the federal program.

happe MuThrsdat ToMuThrILoverou Frum Lazette

etter from a 5-year-old By a stall correspondent of The Christian Science Monitor Wright

Tompe, Arizona Ti was the last session of a graduate course at Arizona State University in methods of teach-Arisona State University in methods of teaching individualized reading under the direction of Dr. Jeannette Veatch. Each member of the class told of some new way he or she had tried to improve his teaching of reading with toddlers as well as high-school students.

Diane Wright, a kinder garten teacher at the Glendale Elementary School in Glendale, Arizona, told of her project — each five year old was asked to write a "letter" to mether for old was asked to write a "letter" to mother for Mother's Day.

Lazette Schieberl - who gave permission for her original letter to appear in the Monitor —earned high praise from her teacher for her effort. And in turn, Dr. Veatch praised Diane

Yet there are those who do not approve o this type of teaching. The incorrect spelling of mother," they argue, causes confusion for the young learner and should be corrected so that the child is not influenced or impressed by the "wrong way." The same with the word

While other teachers, and Dr. Veatch is counted among them, feel it is important for young children to try out language. They see in this simple unpunctuated composition real beauty. And the clear beginnings of a good

For her part, Lazette was very proud to take this home and share it with not only her mother, but the whole family.

CITY SHOPPING GUIDE

VISIT.THE BIRDCAGE AND RELAX IN COOL, ELEGANT SURROUNDINGS

ENJOY EXCELLENT "MORNING COFFEE" A DELICIOUS LUNCHEON OR A REFRESHING BEVERAGE

SANDERS Salisbury Box 583 Telephone 706801

LISBURY

Rhodesia's Leading Department Store

91 Manica Road SALISBURY hone 61491 P.O. Box 287

rhodesia

Pompadour Ladies Hairdressers SAVOY HOUSE

(FIRST FLOOR) INEZ TERRACE P.O. Box 734 Tel. 23707 DISTINOTIVE SERVICE IN COOL DAYLIGHT

ALISBURY MEIKLES Everything FOR YOUR HOME

> RADIO LTD. SALISBURY

UMTALI

BULAWAYO

THE CHASE, MOUNT PLEASES

P.O. Sex 189, Salisbury, Rhadel Phone 47246

ALISBURY Mount Pleasant Paint & Hardware STARKE-AYRE SEEDS

LANDSCAPES

NURSERY

Rhodesia's best planned

Hursery; widest range of exciting colourful plants on Solichory on the Enterprist to

TOOLS, FERTILIZERS POOL CHEMICALS KITCHEN GADGETS IMPERIAL PAINTS

Telephone 33529 SALISBURY, RHODESIA

CITY SHOPPING GUIDE

THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONTOR MONDAY, JULY 7, 1975

republic of south africa

cape province CAPE TOWN

> PORT SERVICE CENTRE

Main Chrysler Dealer Valiant • Hillman Dodge Colt and Avenger

Quality Tested" used cars

Specialised Service for all makes 7 Main Road, NEWLANDS nat to Christian Science Churc Phone: 69,4126

natal DURBAN

TRAVELLING? NOW? LATER when you are to travel as we can cope with all

BY AIR, SEA OR LAND Consult TURNERS INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL SERVICE

(PTY.) LTD. Mercury Lane, Durban Phone 314191 — P.O. Box 1935

JOHANNESBURG Ronald Sanders

CURTAINS CARPETS UPHOLSTERY FURNITURE

57 DE VILLIERS STREET Tel. 23-7553 P.O. BOX 967 JOHANNESBURG STER CITY

Tel. 44711 PRETORL JOHANNESBURG

Marie Distler

Ladles' Hairdressing Merle Norman Cosmetics

APPOINTMENTS 24-5183 24-5225

> 444 Commissioner St. Pairview Johannesburg

JOHANNESBURG

NAPIER & HALL LADIES'

Footwear • Accessories
Outfitters Swiss Embroidered Blouses

48b Wanderers St. Tel: 724-5110

PIETERMARITZBURG McDULING'S

ELECTRICAL 192 Commercial Road. Pietermaritzburg

FOR ELECTRICAL AND REFRIGERATION REPAIRS SALES AND SERVICE

Telephone 21551 All Hours

PIETERMAHITZBURG WINDSORS

FOR MAN

AND

HIS CLOTHES

Southern Life Building

257 Church Street

Pietermaritzburg

Telephone: 56482/51611

Forsyth & Co.

(PTY.) LTD.

The Leading Jewellers

57 CHURCH STREET PHONE 54420 PIETERMARITZBURG

IETERMARITZBURG

PIETERMARITZBURG

DHODAS

Discount Fruit & Vegetable Supermarket

Where Shopping is Not Just A Way of Saving

Branches at 77 Church Street and 16 Commercial Road Pietermaritzburg

PIETERMARITZBURG

BACKHOUSE (Pty) Ltd.

The Practical

Printers

81/3 Church Street Phone 20761

BOX 106 PIETERMARITZBURG

PIETERMARITZBURG

JOHN

212-216 CHURCH STREET

PIETERMAR ITZBURG, S. A.

PHONE 28771

FASHION SPECIALISTS

Consult the Store

which has given more than 100 years of superb service

IRELAND'S

PIETERMARITZBURG, SÓ. AFRICA

IETERMARITZBURG

FURNISHINGS

DRAPERY and

FOUNTAIN PENS BOXED NOTEPAPER BALL-POINT PENS LEATHER GOODS Plus All Your

Stationery Requirements Contact Charles Nixon

TEL: 22-5221 & Co. (Pty.) Ltd. 165 CHURCH STREET and G66 Lasger Shopping Center Phone 52425/24684

PIETERMARITZBURG SYDNEY

ACCIDEN' PIRE

ORR'S INSURANCE At Competitive Rates Maritzburg's busiest CONSULT THE Department Store Commercial Union at the weeks with the state of the

> Monitor advertisers value your

new south wales

BYDNEY

HOWARTH'S

The World has learned to trust OMEGA Get yours from

> OUTFITTERS AND GIRLS' and BOYS' SCHOOLWEAR

14 Willoughby Rd., Crow's Neel 219 Church Bl., Parrametts 328 Forest Rd., Hurafellie

transvaal BYDNEY

> Rice, Wells & Co. (PTY.) LTD. PRINTERS AND.

STATIONERS 97 Commissioner Street Johannesburg Telephone No. 834-8761 69 John St.

ORUBRINAHO

Carrie Johnson Corsetiere

For all Your Corsetry Requirements

56a von Brandis St. Johannesburg Berween Market & President Su.

australia

new south wales

MARIN

Assurance Company of Australia Limited 109 Pitt St., Sydney ; Ail Enquiries Welcome -CALL OR PHONE 2-0314 State Manager: H. H. PISKEN appreciation

new south wales

Able Electric

Pty. Ltd.

19 Hill Street, Roseville.

PH. 415036

All Classes of

Domestic and Commercial

REPAIRS and INSTALLATION

Get the babit of calling

Heaths of Rose Bay

Radio & TV Repairs

TV Hire

Electrical Repairs

WATT & CO.

LICENSED

ELECTRICAL CONTRACTORS

AND SUPPLIERS

Electricai Repaira

Modern Lighting Showroon

south australia

SCRYMGOUR

& SONS

PTY, LIMITED

PRINTERS' AND

STATIONERS

104 King William St.

KENT TOWN

Phone 42 4594

ADELAIDE

SYDNEY

SYDNEY Rose Bay

SYDNEY

For Freshness and Economy Buy your foods in bulk from

FOOD STORE

53 Old Barrenioey Road Phone 918-3387

BEARE & LEY MEN'S and BOYS'

Specialists

OUR RECORD BAR 718 New South Head Rd. ROSE BAY

Leichhardt

A. E. Richards Printers

Lithographers Phototypesetters

660,3055

SYDNEY Mosmari "MICAWBER'S"

ANTIQUES A FINE ART Exquisite Antique Jeweilery Georgian & Victorian Furniture Oriental & Goodental Places

Valuations carried out Principal: Mrs. A. Oesterlin

Shop 15 322
Yentworth Hotel Military Road
Philip Street
GYDNEY
Tel. 233 2515 Tel. 90 6861 SYDNEY

General and Commercial

Printers and Stationers

CARD SPECIALISTS

OFFICE EQUIPMENT

597 MILITARY ROAD

TEL. 969.2244

M. AMOS

PTY. LTD.

Furniture Moved

and Stored

Overseas and Interstate Transport Work Our Specialty Hambur British Aus It International Purniture Removers

TEL 989-8222

SYDNEY

DELAIDE

When Buying or Selling a Home, Land, or Just Looking for an in-vestment in Real Estate W. E. Crossman Contact

> J. C. ADAMS M.R.E.I. Licensed Land Agents 163A Grange Rd Boverley 5009

Phone 268-1822 After hours 43-8613 (Late Effle Tapner)

ADELAIDE Exclusive. REAL ESTATE For 46 Years

Deane Hill & Partner Licenced Estate Agents

Member Real Estate Institute 41 King William St., Adelaide South Australia elephoņes (Sales) 51-377 (Letting) 51-7450

ADELAIDE

south australia

Rex Mac Tavish & PARTNER

Cane Furniture Specialists Soft Furnishings Floor Rugs

481 TAPLEYS HILL RD. PHONE 567186

The Co-operative Insurance Co. of Australia, Ltd.

FIRE-MARINE MOTORS-GENERAL CO-OPERATIVE INSURANCE HOUSE

81 Franklin Street (Adelaide) Phone 51-2136 ADELAIDE

Lasscocks

Drive-in Garderi Centers Henley Beach Road LOCKLEYS

PHONE 439174 Also at : Marion, Modbury and Morphett Vale

228 OXFORD 87, WOOLLAHRA 387-2333 victoria

> Walter L. Carr & Sons

Estate Agents Valuers Insurance Consultants

37. MALOP STREET, GEELONG PHONE GEELONG 9-6071

GEELONG

Polar Dairies Pty. Ltd.

AND CREAM Biggmsbury St., Chilwell

PASTEURIZED

BOTTLED MILK

MELBOUANE Tapner & Southey

Tel. 21-2099

DUPLICATING MAILING LISTS Specializing in ,

All Ruled Forms and Music

108 QUEEN STREET

?". Tel. 67.4948

Response to an ad means another ad!

CITY SHOPPING GUIDE.

POOLE AND DISTRICT

MELBOURNE JEFF'S

Bulk Appliances P/L APPLIANCES
SEWING MACHINES

• STEREO — TV • FURNITURE and RECONDITIONED APPLIANCES Big Discounts Save Many Dollars

327 STEPHENSONS ROAD

277 5522 MOUNT WAVERLEY Also BELGRAVE (MAIN ROAD) 754 5881

MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA

MELBOURNE PAINTERS CARPENTERS

Office and Home Renovators CONTACT

H. OLIVER & SON PTY. LTD.

434 Toorak Road, Toorak Tel. 24.1100 24.5 After Hours 544.4397

MELBOURNI

MR. IGOR'S BEAUTY SALON

SPECIALIZED HAIRDRESSING Individual Attention TEL. 82 5157

235 Camberwell Road CAMBERWELL JUNCTION

These Advertisers

look forward to serving you!

MELBOUANE

CHEMISTS Flint's

Toiler Requisites I ID GLENFERRIE ROAD MALVERN 50 2132

Monitor advertisers value your appreciation

MELBOUANE

MELBOURNE

QUALITY MEAT and SERVICE

McCartin's BUTCHERS

272 Stephensons Road

Mount Waverley

277 1302

Gunn & Taylor

PTY., LTD.

PRINTERS

PUBLISHERS

6-20 HOWARD STREET

North Melbourne

Telephone: 30-2891 (3 Lines)

PAPERHANGING

PAINTER

DECORATOR

8 LOWEN RD.

GLEN WAVERLY

233-2639

FOR PRINTING

ADVICE & QUOTES

Contact Mr. Shipp

Glen Press

PTY, LTD.

709 Glenhuntly Road*

WREN-O-VATE

through

WRENS

Painting and

Glazing Contractors

new zealand

53 1893

MELBOURNE

MELBOURNE

P.O. Bert 5017

new zealand

You Can Buy With Confidence at

HYNDMAN'S

N.Z. Published Books

A Speciality

(Write to us)

HYNDMAN'S Ltd.

BOOKSELLERS

SHOPPING

is a lot easier when you have first read the advertise-ments in The Christian Science

british isles england With the ACCENT ON BERVICE LONDON

Borough of Waltham Forest Harold E. Levi & Co.

FSVA., FRVA AUCTIONEERS SURVEYORS and

PATTERN BOOKS AVAILABLE FOR HOME SELECTION ESTATE AGENTS Ronald T. White 760/762 Les Bridge Road London, E17 9DH 01-336 9211

LONDON E. Tallors — Hosiery

and School Outfitters WARNE'S

Outfitters Ltd. 128 GEORGE LANE AND 122 HIGH ROAD $14 LEWISHAM HIGH ST. LONDON 8.E, 13

Also at Loughten Chinglord Upminster and Brentwood ALTRINCHAM

City Floorings Limited

Floorcoverina Specialists GLASS - WALLPAPERS

Carpets Linoleum Vinyl Tiles

ARTHUR J. HODKINSON Telephone 980-3853
also at Total St., Manchester 1998
Telephone 834-0502

RISTOL WILDING &

Specialists in Ladies & Gents Rainwear.

GENTLEMANS: OUTFITTERS.

england

A. C. WOOD

Tuckwell LTD. 43/44 High Street Ladies' and Gentlemen's Tailors

and Boys' and Girls' School Outfitters TELEPHONE 55261 Agents for:

Pinder &

CHILPRUFE AQUASCUTUM BURBERRY

All over the World by Interflora

Maynards Florists

Foughest of all children Fine Selection of

can make them

Quality Shoes 64 Deamgare, Manden Tel.: 061, 834, 1399 ramitted New Road, Aloi Fel: 1/61, 928, 1487 ter Cinaldhall Street, Prette Pala: 0772, 54987 4 Kang Street, Lantein Tel.; 0524, 2916

THE MANCHESTER

Seven Floors of Furniture and Cames where experi furnishing advice is an art

OPEN DAILY 9 THL 53 Frank Clark Paint and

Wallpaper Merchant 10-12 Market Place, Kendall Agent for

SMITH & WALTON'S HADRIAN PRODUCTS hone 353 Trade Supplier

LEEDS RHODES & MIRFIN Motor Engineers

> Reliable Repairs and Servicing Buslingthorpe garage

Meanwood Road Leeds LS7 2HZ TEL: 624649

MONITOR READERS RESPOND

england LIVERPOOL

HE CHRISTIAN SCENCE THE

Philip, Son & Nepher Ltd.: BOOKSELLERS and

STATIONERS ARTISTS COLOUBMEN itechapel . Liverpor Tel: 051-236 (246

De lane Wat Kill -i Brows Lane 54 Pensby Road

ANCHESTER J. Edwards & Son, Ltd

OF OXSHOTI fine footweer since 1830 As tough as START-RITE

TELEVISION HI-FI, GRAMS, RADIO AND ALL BLECTRICAL APPLIANCES SOLHULL

england

TTOHEXO

LESLIE

BURROUGH

Bespoke Tailor to

Ladies and Gentlemen

NORTHWOOD 25961

66 High Street

Northwood

Middlesax

BEI WEEN ESHER & LEATHERHEAD

OSMANS

OXSHOTT 2029

COMPREHENSIVE SALES & SERVICE TELEVISION RENTAL

solib Permud Service & Astronomy DYNATRON, BUSH, DRCCA, EKCO, PYE, SANYO, MURPHY, ETC. Only our stouths deposit No flood remind period

Quality Radios by Roberts & Hacker Pro Delivery in Surrey Cash Discount or Interest-Proc Credit

SHOPPING

is a lot ensier when you have first read the advertisements in The Christian Science

Soft Furnishing Specialist

Wm. G. Boyden Batimares & expert advice on interior furnishings given without obligation

> 8 High Street, Pinner Middlesex 01-866 7918

Owen Faulkner

Goldsmiths, Silversmiths and Watch Specialists Omega and Tissor. Royal Doulton, Wedgwood, Stuart and Waterford Crystal ION MARSH ROAD, PINNER 3 RED LION PARADE, PINNER 01-866 1698 and 01-868 5603

L. G. Dwyer, Ltd.

MAINTENANCE and DECORATIONS Specialists in Oil and Gas Fired

Heating Installations O Love Lane, Pinner, Middle 01-866 1928

HOOVER CENTRAL MERCHANTS LTD. MACHINES

J. E. COULTER Ltd.

Ford Main Dealers

Phone BELFAST 744744

BELFAST

PARTS SERVICE

5 UPPER QUEEN ST TEL 29767 BELFAST

Hair Stylist

C PENRHYN ROAD

COLWYN BAY

TEL 30548

The advertisements in

The Monitor contain

VALUABLE

INFORMATION

BROADWAY

PUTTING

GREENS

CRAIG-Y-DON

LLANDUDNO

PARKSTONE PENRHYN Motor Co., LTD. SALON Austin - M.G. Ladies

Wolsley-Vanden Plas Retail Dealers Automatic Car Wash Sales and Service STATION ROAD, PARKSTONE PARKSTONE 745000

POOLE & DISTRICT Elizabeth

> (Mrs. R. Field) ₩00L & HANDICRAFTS, HABERDASHERS.

69. Commercial Road, Parkstone, Poole. Tel: Parkstone 742637

Patrick

Arnold COMPANY, F.R.I.C.S. Surveyors, Valuers

& Estate Agents 187 WARWICK ROAD, OLTON, SOLIHULL WARWICKSHIRE

021 706 1482

YORKSHIRE'S LEADING GROUP OF RADIO, TV & ELECTRICAL STORES CandL

In York; CUSSINS & LIGHT Ltd. In Scarborough: GOOD'S--23 Newborough In Whitby: BARRATT'S-30 Bextergets

in Salby: GOTCH'S—Micklegate Gimbert's Seek

Out Monitor Advertisers

northern Ireland LAMOUDNO Coulter For Fords Shoes

SALES: 38 Chichester Street Distinction Parts and Service: 58/72 Aritrim Road COMMERCIALS: 78/82 Antrim Road

PHONE 76461 Knightsbridge House

LLANDUDNO North Wales

LLANDUDNO Marie et Cie

129 Upper Mostyn St.

LLANDUDNO

TEL. 0492-78455

FOR ALL LADIES AND CHILDRENS.. FASHIONS ND HOUSEHOLD LINENS

GLODDAETH STREET TIANDUDNO TEL 77564/5

PROMENADE

GARAGE

north wales

PETROL SERVICING TYRES CAR WASH ACCESSORIES

Craig-y-Don Llandudno Tel. 76795

Joyce

EXCLUSIVE SUITS, GOWNS, COATS CASUAL WEAR Created for the elegant women who enjoys personal attention 13. RHOS ROAD, RHOS-ON-SEA TEL. COLWYN BAY 44251

RHOS-ON-SEA

HI-FI + AUDIO FOR A CHANGE Pioneer-Leak-Philips Garrard-Thorens-Arens BE A 'DOER' RECORDS NOT A VIEWER All Labels and Budget Discs

LANDUDNO

LANDUDNO

TAPE Lerge Stocks of Branded and Bargain Priced Recording Tapes Faibe Tiger SHIRTS Turner's Viyelle, Louis Philippe Audio Centre KNITWEAR Jaeger, Peter Soutt and many other leading brands.

GWYN E. OWEN scotland Menswear Specialists EDINBURIOH 41 MADOG ST., LLANDUDNO

Tel. 75598 Martin LANDUDNO

George Street China and Crystal

COMPLETE HOUSE FURNISHERS

TEL. 44119

83 GEORGE STREET EDINBURGH Phone 225-2933

Also at 10 ACADEMY STREET INVERNESS

EDINBURGH GRAYS FOR

A. ERARD CAREFREE GARDENING David Roberts We can supply every kind of gardening tool Imaginable Concessiónnaire, from trowels to trimmers, from St. François — Grand-Pont as a whole range of garden fur-

> GRAYS 89 George Street Edinburgh EH2 3EZ 031-225 7381

FOR PEOPLE WHO ENJOY GARDENS

Speak to Monitor Advertisers

scotland EDINBURGH

LABOOW

FURNITURE

CARPETS

PRINTERS STATIONERS COMMERCIAL

PROFESSIONAL PERSONAL STATIONERY Geo. Stewart & Co. Ltd.

92 George Street, Edinburgh

A. Gardner

& Son Ltd.

Handsome

Home Furnishings

36 Jamaica Street, Glasgow

CURTAINS

BEDDIN

Family Controlled Since 1832

Open Thurs, till 7 P.M. All Day Salurday

WODSALE 87 Renfield Street, Glasgow Furnishers and Jewelle: Scandinavian Shop

041-331-1894 Scandinavian Shop

53 Sinciair St., Helensburgh

Piåtrerie-Peinture

O. DELAPIERRE

isolations thermiques et phoniques

Tél. (021) 36 78 52 Lausanne

Devis sans engagement.

OMEGA

CONFISERIE,

PATISSERIE

DE1 .. CHOIX

BEETSCHEN

ie Enging 2 - Tél. 22 58

Home-Made

CAKES and

Pose tous papiers - paints

Plafonds préfabriqués (plafonds tendus en PVC)

Tous giclages de plastique et de fibres

Revelement de facede etc.

AUSANNE

AUSANNE

europe

switzerland

THINK FIRST of Monitor Advertisers

Farben in

Tel. 231423 Obere Hautgasse 39 ZURICH

> Haushaltartikei Porzellan-Kristali

Ditting

ZURICH 1, RENNWEG 36

Eisenwarenhandlung Ernst A. Schmid

TEL 32 30 76

READERS RESPOND

Schaefer Sports LAUSANNE ROTILLION

BOUTIQUE

D'EQUITATION

TEL, 22 16 49 SOLOTHURN

switzerland

St. Urs. Biberist

HOTEL RESTAURANT

COMFORTABLE ROOMS EXCELLENT KITCHEN

Tel. 065.32.32.91

Kandahar Shoe Ltd.

Shoes and boots means niteup but stokmon abambush for good walking in Winter and Summer ask for pampblet 645 Gwatt-Thun Tel. 044 361 334

Danish Coffee Room, 1825 Murren Switzerland

FUEL

HEIZ-OEL

OTTO ED. KUNZ A-G

grosser Auswahi

Kunstgewerbe

Haushaltartikel +

Household-&

A.-G.

032 ZURICH — KREUZPLATZ Hardwarestore

MONITOR

CHOCOLATES

ames Wren & Co. Lid

ARTHUR BARNETT LTD Olago's Leading Department Stores Dunedin

And a full range of a merchandise in our apacious and modern

Branches at BALCIUTHA .

and ALEXANDRA

98a Whiteledies Road Bristol, England

GARLICK

FAMILY BUTCHER

ARNBIDE ROAD SOUTHMEAD

TEL. 621065 Painting, Decorating & Repairs

PREE ESTIMATES Compeletive Charges

BRISTOL

WIRELESS

LTD.

80 Queens Road Bristol B88 Ire., Tel.: 20304

Specialists In

COLOUR . MONO

TELEVISION . RADIO

RECORDS

For 50 Years and Over

W. M. REYNOLDS

& SON

Qualified Radio and Television Engineers

Over 6,000 Lighting Fittings in Stock

35/37 Masons Hill

Bromley, Kent

Phone: 460 2803

The advertisements in

VALUABLE

INFORMATION

OVER'S

. P. Over & Sons, Ltd.

DEPARTMENT

STORE .

REMOVALS, STORAGE

PACKING, SHIPPING

PARK STREET

PILFORD

GARAGE

280 OLD BATH ROAD

TEL. CHELTENHAM 22564

QUALITY USED CARS

24 Hour Breakdown Service

WILFRED M.

DAVIS

HIGH CLASS

18 Winchcombe Street

Tel. Chekenham 22703

DELIVERNES PO ALL PARTS

 $(a,b) = 10 \, \mathrm{Mpc} = 3 \, \mathrm{f}$

HELTENHAM

TEL. 25601

The Monitor

AMBERLEY

MBERLEY

HELTENHAM

BRISTOL

BROMLEY

16-17 Windmill Street, Gravesen Cables: Mayflower Gracesend

Phone: 69541 H. Hogarth

JEWELLER BRANTHWAITE BROW KENDAL

TELEPHONE 2166

CENDAL

(ENDAL

FUDGE SHOP (The Wishing Well) BRANTHWAITE BROW, KENDAL HOME MADE FUDGE.

CHOCOLATES GREETINGS CARDS OF DISTINCTION Tel. Kendal 23708

Furnishing Fabri EXTENSIVE RANGE CURTAINS MADE TO MEASURE Gifts of Distinction Tel: 445,4894 806 Wilmstow Rust Distribury, M/cr.

> Tell them you saw their ad in the Monitor

MANCHESTER SHAWS OF OXFORD STREET

70 Oxford Street

Manchestei

Phone 236-5431

C.O.E

Gallahge

MANCHESTER_

science

financia

West Germany: coping well with recession

By David R. Francis Business and financial editor of The Christian Science Monitor Frankfurt, Germany

"The paradox in [West] Germany," noted economist Herbert Wolf, "is that the economic position is worse while the political situation is more stable."

Commerzbank's Mr. Wolf was referring to one aspect of what is sometimes dubbed "the second German economic miracle."

The first such so-called "miracle" was the reconstruction of the Federal Republic in the 1950s and 1960s into the greatest economic power in Europe. The second, still under way, is the ability of this prosperous nation to come through the world recession in relatively good

A year or so ago most observers would have said that if unemployment in West Germany exceeded one million, the nation would be wracked by social turmoil.

Well, the one million jobless mark was passed earlier this year, and, as Mr. Wolf pointed out, there has been no political explosion. Rather, in state elections, the parties that comprise the coalition government of Helmut Schmidt have been doing

"No one would have thought that Germany would take this so calmly," commented a central banker here.

This fact is a vast relief to many in other nations who recall how left and right radicalism thrived in the economic misery of the 1930s in West Germany.

Of course, the economic situation here is nowhere near as bad as in the great depression - nor, for that matter, as in the United States in the current recession.

The West German economy had slackened more than expected. Total output, according, to Mr. Wolf, was down about 3 percent in the first quarter, will slip another 1 or 2 percent in the current quarter, remain flat in the third

The Christian Science Monitor

A great debate is beginning to determine whether a hike in crude-oil prices by export-

Statements and counterstatements will sound like economics but will boil down to

They hold that there really is no such thing as a "justified" price in the case of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Coun-

If a producer of oil or any other product or service is operating in a free and competitive market, his price will be the highest one at

EXCHANGE RATES

Belgian Irano Brezilian cruzeiro

Colombian peso

Dutch guilder Hong Kong dollar

Danish krone

French franc -

israeli pound'''

Japanese yen

Spanish peseta Swedish krona

Swiss Irano '

Norweglan krone

Portuguese escudo South African rand

Venezuelan bolivar

W. German deutschemark

Mexican peso

ing nations, scheduled for Oct. 1, is justified.

politics, according to some observers here.

Washington

DOLLARS

Australian dellar and a second second

2.175

.205 185

.001 .003

.080

1.405

.018

quarter, and grow 2 percent in the final

West German statistics put its unemployment rate at 4.5 percent. If reckoned in the same manner as in the U.S., it would be slightly more. But it would still be not much more than half of the U.S. rete.

Further, when a German joins the ranks of the unemployed, his unemployment insurance payments equal an average 68 percent of his former net salary for an entire year and 45 percent thereafter.

As a result, many Germans are enjoying their jobless status. Some work "black" - do a little illegal moonlighting without paying taxes on their earnings — and can be even better off than before.

Others take long vacations. Germans have been traveling abroad in record numbers this

Some 200,000 of the unemployed are also not Germans — these foreigners are called "guestworkers" - and therefore without political power. Perhaps another 200,000 are wives or youngsters who are not the primary breadwinners in the family.

High government officials here and in Bonn speculate that the mood of German workers will change should they remain jobless for more than a year. But since they are counting on a solid recovery soon, they appear only mildly worried.

Though called a "miracle," Germany's superior economic performance is nothing of the sort. It is to a large degree based on good governmental management and hard work.

From Ludwig Erhard, Finance Minister under former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, to. the present team of Hans Apel and Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, Germany's economic managers have believed in a liberal, free-enter-

When a producer tells his customers that his prices are going up, he may seek to justify the increase on the grounds his costs have risen or with some other reason. But that will be just an attempt to keep his customers' goodwill.

The only test of whether a price is justified is whether the producer can sell enough of his

OPEC and its individual members have both an economic and political stake in convincing the rest of the world that whatever

The oil producers naturally want to increase their income as much as they can, given the ability of their customers to pay, their customers' willingness to pay, and the politi-

At one extreme, there is probably some extraordinarily high price that would produce the Shah of Iran that higher prices of the things the OPEC hations buy from the industrial nations have eroded OPEC's real oil earnings by 35 percent since the last oil-price increase at the beginning of 1974. That would mean about a $4 per barrel hike above the present $10.35 price for oil in the Persian Gulf.

In fact, the terms of trade between OPEC countries and the rest of the world have deteriorated far, far less than that since the beginning of 1974. As usual, no detailed calculations backing up the Shah's figure have ever been made public. But even more to the point, why is early 1974, when the price of oil

had just been raised fivefold the proper point

At the same time, the statement from the White House recently that a 7 or 8 percent for comparison? some here are asking.

a Western military response. No one in OPEC increase it decides upon at its September

OPEC's oil price-rise a matter of politics product at that price.

cal realities involved.

meeting in Vienna is justified.

Workers in Hamburg: weathering recession without social turnoll prise system. Germany has not had wageprice controls for 25 years.

Because of the German deep-seated fear of inflation, the result of sad experience with hyperinflation in the 1920s, German governments have also had to avoid overdoing economic stimulation.

Another stabilizing factor is generous but not overly wasteful welfare legislation, such as unemployment insurance and health insur-

Another key element in Germany's prosperity is the relative moderation of its trade-union leaders. Ironically, this is partially because the British occupation government insisted on reorganizing German unions into an industrial (vs. craft) system after the war. Britain itself remains bothered by its craft-union structure.

As a result of all these factors, Germany today is about as prosperous as the U.S., and I has nowhere near the degrees of poverty still basis either. No particular number does.

OPEC is a monopoly and as such can, within limits, set the price as it wishes. All the discussion of justification is intended to lessen

Between now and the September meeting.

OPEC will be milking the situation for every possible advantage, this view holds. At the OPEC ministerial meeting in Gabon this the October increase low by holding down its inflation and by making concessions in the continuing dispute over how the industrial nations deal with raw materials producers in

But however the industrial, oil importing counterclaims about justification will have no economic meaning. The reality is simply that most of the members of OPEC are finding that they have ways to spend even more than the $110 billion or so they received from oil exports last year, it is felt here, and they are

It was during the U.S. wage-price controls period, August, 1971, to April, 1874, that this

The rules concerning prices generally were written in terms of profit margins. Profit margins, rather than prices, were controlled.

Therefore, when a U.S. producer's costs rose,

he could raise his prices without violating the limits on his profit margin. "Cost justification" became the watchwords of the con-notion of price justification got a great boost.

lower increase than political pressure.

the so called "third world."

going to try to get it.

The upper limit seems to be the assertion by be in political terms. All the claims and any political backlash to an increase, according to one view being expounded here.

BUSINESS HIGHLIGHTS

Shipping company formed

Eight Caribbean countries have formels $30 million multinational shipping compay's a joint effort to protect their national height lines from the traditional big shippers.

An agreement forming the company as signed by delegates from Colombia, Can Rica, Cuba, Jamaica, Mexico, Panama, No. ragua and Veoczuela.

Refiners cut sugar price.

Two more major sugar refiners 🕬 price of industrial sugar by $3 per 🖛 dredweight Tuesday

Sucrest Corporation and CPC idenational's corn products division cech 🖻 nounced new prices of $24 for hundredwell bags of extrafine granulated sagar, and $15 for bulk granulated and No. 2 liquid sagar.

The current round of sugar price cut was initiated Monday by Amster Corporation 🗷 nation's biggest sugar rofiner, which also its industrial sugar products by $3 per lan-

Regulations held excessive month, officials declared the West could keep a symposium here Monday that excesse government regulations have inflicted a heavy least the principle. heavy loss in business efficiency in the prival

> CAMERITING · HANDLING STORING - WAREHOUSING ALL TYPES OF LIQUID PRODUCT MORNE TERP AND PAPICH. HEMPHAL BEH PROPE CHITAGORS HOMENAL Branch 读到是《沙哈 dredweight.

The federal government current about $2.2 billion unnually to overse has ican business firms, says a former top rains federal official.

Frederick V Malek, former deputy directs of the Office of Management and Budgel, bit Given the disparate nature of the OPEC nations, it is at least open to question whether political concessions would, in fact, lead to a

East-West science—the uneasy detente

By Robert C. Cowen

While U.S. and Soviet astronauts are preparing to put detente into orbit this month, many American scientists are less than enthusiastic about similar cooperation here on earth. They are increasingly put off by persecution of Soviet colleagues, especially of Jewish scientists wishing to emigrate.

This resentment has simmered since the basic agreement for scientific cooperation was signed by Richard M. Nixon and conid I. Brezhnev three years ago. Now it is heating to the point where it could soverely strain the scientific exchanges.

Members of the (U.S.) National Acadmy of Sciences frequently ask NAS to ntervene on behalf of individual Soviet scientists. This would be futile and would only dilute what little influence the academy might have, explains NAS president Philip Handler. But, he adds, he does press the point to the Soviets that the persecutions are endangering detente in he selences

Research notebook

Dr. Handler is not bluffing. No one can compel American scientists to cooperate. Dr. Handler says he expects to fill delegations for exchange visits or posts on engineering projects. But when it comes to one-for-one exchanges and cooperation in the sciences, he says it is becoming harder to find first-rate American experts to take part.

As though to underscore the point, Columbia University president William J. McGill announced this spring that Columbia will refuse to receive or deal with any visitors from the Soviet Union until Vitali Rubin, an expert on Chinese philosophy. is free to accept a guest appointment Columbia offered him three years ago. Soviet officials have denied him an exit visa since he tried to emigrate to Israel in Even at his high level of official contact, Dr. Handler meets the same frustration American scientists encounter when they protest individually. Their contacts look embarrassed and finally say, in effect, "Don't complain to us. It is a political matter."

Meanwhile, dissidents are harassed

arrested, and locked up in mental institutions where they may be drugged "to change their attitudes." And, as veteran Soviet analyst Paul Wohl reports elsewhere on this page, Soviet scientists generally are being forced anew to toe the party line of service to state purposes rather than being free to explore and develop new concepts of man, life, and the universe. This renewed conformity probably is why the 250th anniversary celebration of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, suddenly canceled last year when dissidence was rife, is being allowed to take place this October.

The Soviet Government denies the persecution. KGB head Yuri Andropov recently observed that citizens whose nterests coincide with those of society have broad freedoms. He added, "It is a different matter when those interests in some way fail to coincide."

A highly placed Soviet scientist summed up the matter when he told an American colleague, "It is not only the Jews who would like to get out."

Kremlin clamps down on scientists

Written for The Christian Science Monitor

The Kremlin is clamping down on the Academy of Sciences of the U.S.S.R. as that famous institution, after much delay, prepares to celebrate its 250th anniversary.

Gala celebrations were originally set for May 14 to May 26 last year. Suddenly, on May 6, Prayda announced that the festivities had been adjourned. The "several hundred" foreign scholars who had been invited had to cancel travel plans at short notice.

The Soviet intelligentsia has never accepted the official explanation for postponing the affair - that the celebrations would have collided with the electoral campaign for the Supreme Soviet.

The Kremlin must have been concerned over the political risks involved with a meeting of nearly 700 Soviet academicians and Western scientists. Novelist Alexander Solzhenitsyn, as well as scores of dissident scholars who since have left for the West or have been interned in insane asylums, were still at liberty in the U.S.S.R. at the time.

Now that Soviet cultural life once again seems tightly controlled, the Kremlin may feel that the presence of many foreign scholars at the anniversary celebrations of the academy no longer represents much of a risk. The fact that the celebration now is rescheduled for this October is taken by many as confirming this analysis.

In the meantime, the academy, one of the two major cultural institutions to survive the revolution (the other is the Orthodox Church), is being drawn firmly into the Marxist-Leninist line.

Speeches by two of the party's most influential ideologists last month told the academicians to take an active part in "the struggle against . . . imperialism."

Mikhail A. Suslov, senior Politburo member and the party's chief ideologist, held's closed, meeting with the academy on May 19: Subsequently Boris N. Ponomarev, candidate emy of Sciences since 1962, addressed the organization. Mr. Ponomarev is the party's second ideologist and was elected to the scientific organization on the strength of his book, "History of the International Workers : and National Liberation Movements."

The Academy of Sciences is no mere scholarly body, Mr. Ponomarev said, In every field of science and of the humanities, academicians are called upon to function as elite shock troops of the regime. Whenever the U.S.S.R. is confronted with a major problem, members of the academy are assigned to solve it. The academy presently is helping draw up the new Soviet economic development plan.

During the war, Mr. Ponomarev said in his of tanks and aircraft and missile installations, ... similar to the extinct ancestors of early man.

elaborated new technologies for the manufacture of arms and ammunitions, and helped to redeploy industry to the east."

Today Soviet nuclear science and space programs are under the direction of academicians. The projected diversion of Siberia's mighty northern-flowing rivers to the Volga River in the south is under their planning and

Mr. Ponomarev praised the academy's historical branch, of which he is a member. and other "representatives of the humanities" for having performed "a large amount of propaganda work."

Because of traditional Russian respect for science, the academy has enjoyed a privileged position. For example, Nobel prize-winning hysiologist Ivan Pavlov combined membership in the academy with the regular practice of the Orthodox religion until his passing in

The human rights activist nuclear physicist Andrei D. Sakharov remains a member of the academy. Some other nuclear physicists, such as Pyotr Kapitsa and the late Lev D. Landau and Igor V. Kurchatov, retained a freedom of opinion unknown in any other Soviet in-

Yet, as shown in the case of Mr. Ponomarev. the party has been able to infiltrate the prestigious academy just as it has done with much of the Orthodox clergy. At one point, under Stalin, the academy was completely in the grip of the party.

The subjugation of the academy, however, did not last. And such fields as nuclear and space research never were touched by party propaganda.

But this is intended to change. Ideological streamlining of the institution started in 1973 when Voprosy Filosofii (Questions of Philosophy), the monthly of the academy's Institute of Philosophy, was accused of providing a forum for overtly reformist thoughts. The journal's editorial board was thoroughly overhauled after an internal discussion which went on until the beginning of this year.

In light of that, the postponement of the Academy of Science's 250th anniversary celebration should have come as no surprise.

OUT OF THE LABORATORY

Anthropologists study pygmy chimpanzees

Man's closest living relative may be pygmy chimpenzee (pan paniscus), a little studied, 3 foot-tall primate living in the forests of Zaire. This rare and endangered species serious scientific studies have been conducted with them until recently.

For the past several months, however, three have been under observation at the Yerkes Regional Primate Research Center in Atlanta, Georgia. And according to the center director, Dr. Geoffrey H. Bourne, they have already shown signs of being quite different from the better known (pan troglodytes) variety. For one thing, they have not exhibited the usual fear and intense excitement of newly captured chimpanzees. Also they seem to walk more often on two legs than ordinary chimps.

Because of these and other things coming to light at Yerkes, several anthropologists have speech, academicians developed "new types." suggested that the pygmy chimp is extremely

Desert-shrub oil may save sperm whale

A desert shrub could help save the sperm whate and, at the same time, provide an income for impoverlaned Indians in Arizona and southern California, according to the National Research Council.

The shrub is the jojoba bush, which grows wild in the southwest United States, A group of scientists has analyzed the properties of its oil and found that its chemistry is so close to that of sperm oil that it probably could be used as a direct substitute. Sperm oil is currently used in relatively small quantities as a lubricant blended in automatic transmission oil, for cold-rolling steel, and in precision instruments.

The report suggests that the jojoba plants could be profitably cultivated on 17 reservations in Arizona and California and their oil used in the same way. The current price of sperm oil is 40 cents per pound: Jojoba oil probably could be marketed less expensively and might make hunting the sperm whale uneconomical, the report suggests.

Divers delights

By Annette Bartle Special to

The Christian Science Monitor

glamorous and much frequented sister islands, Curacao and Aruba, unpretentious

Bonaire remains a haven of unspoiled tran-

Not an island surrounded by a coral reef, as is the case with most diving resorts, Bonaire is a coral reef, a volcanic mountain risen out of

A mere 112 square miles of Bonaire are above the water. The scenery is rugged, arid, fascinating in its desertlike quality. Thorny vegetation consists mostly of many-specied cactus and mesquite in shades of tired greens.

A four-mile ride from the tiny airport brings visitors to the Hotel Bonaire, which shares its lovely white beach with the Aquaventure Dive

Center. And you'll want to dive if you come to

At the Dive Center, everything you could ever need for scuba diving is available.

Captain Don Stewart has successfully headed

A man who loves all living things, Mr.

Stewart was a prime mover in motivating the Antillean Government to declare Bonaire's reef a national monument. Indeed, it is 26

If you are a certified diver, all facilities at the center are at your disposal. If you want to learn diving, a "resort course" is available beginning every Monday ($48 for four consecutive days). If you want to aim higher, an accelerated YMCA Certification Course is given for a full five days; starting the first of

More than 60 dive sites are accessible from the island's numerous beaches, all trails carefully marked for your safety and protection by Mr. Stewart and his staff. Or you can ioin Aquaventure's daily diving trips. Each group consists of no more than 12 divers. led by a knowledgeable guide. At $10 for half a

Actually, one of the most rewarding adventures is right at your feet, as soon as you submerge off the Aquaventure beach, a dive

A 30-foot descent in company of elegant palometo fish, scores of needlefish, and at least a couple of velvety damsels, brings you to an elaborately coral-encrusted anchor. The anchor dates back to the 1600s when Dutch ships came to collect the salt Bonaire still

With visibility easily 100 feet or more from this underwater vantage point, ornate shapes of many hues appear all around, hard corals in all sizes, inhabited by exotic creatures.

day, it is always a rewarding adventure.

appropriately named The Porch.

produces today.

this efficient operation for 12 years.

miles of uninterrupted fairyland.

each month. (Cost: $130)

Less than a half hour's flight from its

Bonaire:

the sea a millennium ago.

arts/books

'Shardik,' highly praised in Britain and generally disliked by American critics, puts in question the reputation of Richard Adams, author of the bestselling 'Watership Down.' Here Robert Nye reviews 'Shardik' and analyzes its confused reception.

Shardik, by Richard Adams. New York; Simon and Schuster. $9.95. London: Allen

By Robert Nye

When an author's first book is slunningly well reviewed and becomes a best seller, you often find the critics giving his second book a stunning reception in quite the opposite sense. This is now happening in the case of Richard Adams. Mr. Adams — in the improbable event of anyone not having heard - first sprang to fame with a long and comfortable story about rebbits, "Watership Down," which he made up in its original form to amuse his daughters. That first novel, freely compared by the reviewers to the works of Tolkien and C. S. Lewis, has achieved something of contemporary classic status.

Books

'Shardik'' is its successor. It has, to date, received what you might describe as a mugging in the American press, "Amateurish," says Paul Zweig, in The New York Times Book Review. He went on to speculate whether the book couldn't have been written before the saga about the rabbits. "A vale of tears," says Christopher Lehmann-Haupt, daily reviewer for The New York Times, whose piece concluded with a wish that the book had been placed on a burning raft before it came along to trouble him. "Cheapened by watery supernaturalism," says John Skow, in Nothing peculiar about any of this, you might reckon. It is quite in line with the process defined in my first sentence, and whatever the merits or demerits of "Spardik" - which I will try myself to review in a

'Jaws': a rousing thriller

sharoik

moment — it could be supposed by the less charitable that an element of natural envy creeps into and disfigures literary judgments made in these circumstances. It is one thing to discover a book for yourself, and to praise it. When everyone else has already proclaimed a previous book as a masterplece, there is sometimes delight to find fault in what the

However, in the case of "Shardik" there is the further and complicating oddity that the book has had a tremendously good press in Britain, where most of the weekly reviewers hailed it as - if anything - an improvement on "Watership Down," The London Sunday Times came out boldly with the opinion that "Shardik" was "an epic of classical proportions," while in The Scotsman a critic had to invoke Coleridge to help him place what he took to be the achievement of Mr. Adams; and Michael Ratcliffe in The Times spoke of the author as "one of the most talented descriptive writers to emerge from this country in years" with "artistic ambition to match." Yell, this is all very strange.

Is there anything in the nature of the book to explain or clarify the confusion?

I think there is. 'Shardik'' is a novel about a bear, a gigantic bear, a bear that is believed by a half-barbaric tribe to be the sacred Messenger of God. Wars break out as these people, the Ortelgans, inspired by their faith in the bear, march to reclaim the vast empire which they once ruled. There is opposition to the cult of Shardik. The bear's priest and interpreter, Kelderek, a young hunter, gives his support to a vile trade in child slaves to finance his ambilions and keep the country prosperous. This corrupt deed could be seen as the germ from which the deterioration of the bear cult quickly derives - although Kelderek himself eventually marrying a beautiful priestess and of the archetypes I am not sure, especially setting up a community to care for the former slave children.

That is the plot. As plots go, it is little enough. What is extraordinary about the book is in the first place its riot of physical detail, the ability which Richard Adams clearly possesses to make you feel what it is like to cut your way through a forest and smell a bear coming at you - this gift is comparable with that possessed in poetry by British author Ted Hughes. That Mr. Adams has been praised more by British critics than by Americans also places him in Mr. Hughes's company. It would seem that in England there is a keener reception awaiting any writer who can create an animal world with some of that feeling for its quiddity and aliveness which distinguishes the work of D. H. Lawrence at his finest. I do not say that Mr. Adams writes as well as Lawrence. He does not. But he has a good deal of Lawrence's intuitive passion for describing "the force that through the green fuse drives the flower" (Dylan Thomas's phrase, but then he was another Lawrentian in this sense at

Second, and I think that this is most germane, Mr. Adams is also adept at pushing down with his simple plot until it reaches the place where all plots come from: Jung's collective unconscious. The bear, Shardik, is emblematic of all unknowable divinities. The priest Kelderek is emblematic of all fallible interpreters of such divinities. The whole novel is saturated with symbols of incarnation, some Christian, some not. Il carries two epigraphs, two clear clues as to its meaning - one is a quotation from the Bible. the other from Jung. The Bible quote refers to the messenger of God as being "like a refiner's fire." The Jung proclaims, "Superstition and accident manifest the will of God."

Why American critics should be so averse to is permitted to survive and atone for his sins. a novel which burrows deeply in the direction

when. American fiction in the last 20 years he been if anything, more psychologically ad mythologically adventurous than its English counterpart. It might be that Mr. Admis versions of the myth of leadership, and is particular preoccupations with animals ad children, are so fundamentally English to they appear as unintelligible passas to anyone outside these islands. I would not like to have to believe that.

However, it does seem to me that "Shark" introspection, and some sentences red paradies of schoolboy cribs to liomer.

that in "Shardek" Richard Adams has & tempted a novel of a moral and imminist seriousness which should at least comment. to all readers who turn to fiction for supplied more than a graceful figure-skaling over the surface of life the difference between an allegory like "Sigdik" and a real masterpiece of the aligned mude like Herman Melville's "Moby Dick" that here the symbols are too conscious, contrived and understood by the Melville wrote in order to find of My No. White Whole filled his dreams Nr. Alans writes to tell you what he thanks he has already found out about his animal obsession.

For this single remore—which the security explicit prose style embodies—I incline the content of the content leadness Axe in a part, critic, t research which can be allead.

'Mountains'

Crown, $12.50.

Some men climb mountains, others 18 als by all three stars (plus Lorraine Gary in a small but affecting landium and the control of t 255-page panorama of the world's great

John Cleare, well-known BBC cameran is a quintessentially English story, for #$ setting in an exotic Iron Age wilderness, at that to appreciate it fully you need to be been brought up in a world with Kiplingam end of the nursery and Winnie the Pohate other. I do not think that the allegory die bear is as completely worked out, on ask of the imagination, as the book's anim scope requires it to be. And the actual will leaves quite a lot to be desired — 뺴 passages are hectically overwritten, in a sq that closs up the flow of both action

That said, on the credit side I would dis

You might decide, in the final analysis; ist doubt whether "Shardik' is going to process enduring work But it is assuredly a set which every reader should try for himself herself, for at its best its writing provides world to be experienced, sot just a std.

Mountains, by John Cleare, New Ya.

Near the Superdome

300 luxurious balconled Park and Lock Your rooms, each with color TV Own Oat Rooftop terrare and pool 1 Meeting Rooms

Free parking in 500-cer ... No Alcoholic Beverages indoor garage ... Served ... Served ... For rates and reservations write, was or sail The DownTown Heward Johnson's ... 330 Loyola Avenue ... New Orleans, La. 70112 ... Yelephone 504-581-1600

Scuba diver snaps fish in the translucent waters of Bonaire

Don't leave Anchor Square too quickly: A crowd of sea folk come to great you, all wearing their best colors. They're accustomed to the sight of such as you, a rubberfinned giant with eyes and nose covered by a

Even if you're wet-suited for extra warmth, and gloved, you're a welcome guest to these: friendly denizens of the deep. Hopefully you've heeded the Dive Center sign suggesting: "Feed All Fish," and brought some stale bread provided there for that purpose.

Spotted coneys change colors before your eyes as they rush to your hand for a treat; trumpetfish wearing shades of orange and topas stand on their heads (a position they prefer). A hawkfish seems to be swimming ackward guided by what looks like a huge black eye near his tail as he gorges himself. It's an underwater eating marathon.

ROMA

The leading first class hotel

Choose MONITOR ADVERT

Yellowtail snappers, however, win hands down. With deeply forked tails of bright gold, they are quicker than anyone else at gobbling They are so graceful in their quest no one seems to mind their avariclousness

Above you, swimmers with masks and snorkels glide on the surface watching through the prism of clear waters.

The feast over, a pair of parrotfish, intricately woven needlepoint pictures of yellows, blues, and greens, are back nibbling with their birdlike beaks at hard white skeletons of coral. Obligingly, they produce in-this fashion tons of the pristine sand Bonaire is

Don't think diving is strictly a daylight pursuit! The glassy nighttime water opens up

Myriad reds, lost to the human eye in the deep blue waters during the day, become dazzling in the incandescent light of the strong flash a diver carries. It's as though every Inhabitant of earlier hours has moved out, and new tenants moved into dwellings reconstructed and repainted since sundown.

A majestic personage in royal scarlet, on a matching throne of cerise, hardly resembles the brown squirrelfish you met this morning. Delicate starfish shine crimson as they peer out of castles of rubies, Dainty plumeworms dance in dizzying spirals, shaking their feathery orange gills.

Nighttime is the time when the builders of the rest emerge. Looking like bright flowers, blooming vermilion, purple, and shocking pink, the polyps rise from their shelters of stone to keep the reef alive and growing.

If you're not interested in diving but you' like birds, the primitive roads of Bonaire's:

Washington National Park will take you to a wilderness populated by close to 120 species of tropical ones. And the elegant flamingos for which Bonaire is famous congregate in sait lagoons in the southern part of the island.

Bonoire is comfortable all year round, with an even temperature of about 80 degrees. The trade winds are always at play; there are brief showers only in November. Like many other winter playgrounds, Bonaire's prices are lower in the off season, from April 15 to Dec.

The Hotel Bonaire, a rambling modern structure, charges from $13 per day per person in off season (European Plan, double occupancy), and $20 in high season. It is two miles from Kralendijk, where pint-sized Dutch Colonial houses shine in rainbow colors, and where several small restaurants offer good meals at reasonable prices, (Typically, the open-porched Zee-zicht serves an authentic Chinese chicken dinner for about $4.)

The Flamingo Beach Hotel, adjoining town, consists of bungalows, has a small beach, and prices start at $11 per day.

The Rothsline is the simplest of the three. It's in town, spotlessly clean, and overlooks the docks, Prices from $8, Bieveles rent at $3.50 a day, cars start at $11.50 a day, and taxis average $2.50 a ride. The tourist office in town will help arrange.

A variety of all-inclusive diving and nondiving packages" are offered by the Dutch airline KLM at considerable savings. For specific information on anything Bonerian, contact The Bonaire Tourist Office, 685 Fifth

CAR --HENTALS IN BRITAIN seasonal weekly rates

from U.S. $55.00 winter U.S. $65:50 summer

The lending first class hotel with a personal touch, in the center of Rome, next to formous Via Venete and overlooking the heautiful Borghesa Cdrdens, Gell-Room featuring Italian and international specialities, Roof-Carden, Managing Proprietor: H. A. Witth 18 Was Resident Manager: H. E. Hürlimann U.S. $65.50 summer

Paliver to nees gravate at ar mapo U.K.
airporta di sesponal rates, irom $55.00 weekly inclusive VAT and untimpted free mileage. Choice of shaloos (sedans), astate care (atench wagons), motorized carevarias (carepra) and minibuses. Antomatics, available. Spocal tariff for onersy, rantats. White or quadrian advision in programate of these M. Tel. 48 00 52 Teletype 6 12 12 You Companie 41, 00187 ROME

Rapiles by pirmail from: CARS, P.O. Box No. 38 Cobham, Surrey, England KT11 3BT.

WISLANDS TRAVEL (PVT.) LTD. of TRAFALDAR COURT, SALISBURY TELEPHONES 81150 and 61258

Direct dialing -overseas

By the Associated Press

Vancouver. British Columbia

Telephone customers in Vancouver will be the first in Canada to be able to dial direct to overseas countries sometime next year; British Columbia Telephone has an-

His motive is money, plus a weird love-hate for the finny foe whose savageness sparks the plot (sometimes in scenes of distastefully explicit violence).

"Jaws" goes like this:

There's Richard Dreyfuss as a bearded boy icthyologist who has loved sharks ever since one ate his boat (but not him) in a chance

There's Robert Shaw as the crustiest old barnacle in many a movie, more full of fish lore than "Moby Dick," driving himself and his mates and his boat too hard in hot pursuit of a Great White Shark that's been bothering

the locals. He's so "colorful" it's ridiculous.

encounter He's teddy bearish and funny and has he thiest way if making faces at the crusty old barriadic. He's chesing the Great White too, His motive is that he's a bearded watery at the thought of water. So what's he . The film also deletes the adulterous love doing in a boat with the barnacle and the affair that dominated much of the novel. icthyologist, chugging along the Atlantic in "Jaws" on screen divides neatly into two search of a very toothy fish? Seems he's the parts — in the town (the shark strikes) and in only one who really understands how dan- the boat (man strikes back). It's in the old gerous sharks can be to the beach-blanket crowd, and so takes it upon himself to save the with no messing about. day for Our Town. Besides, he's the only one on the boat who feels like I'd feel surrounded poking a hole in the hull.

There's Roy Schelder as the hard-as-nails thut levable r police chief whose knees go all of rivalries among all the male characters.

And — last but not least, ho ho — there's the various outcomes. set of swimming, chomping, oversized jaw- Director Steven Spielberg has pulled no

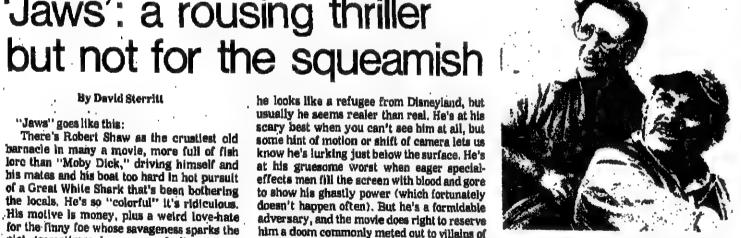

he looks like a refugee from Disneyland, but usually he seems realer than real. He's at his scary best when you can't see him at all, but some hint of motion or shift of camera lets us know he's lurking just below the surface. He's at his gruesome worst when eager specialeffects men fill the screen with blood and gore to show his ghastly power (which fortunately doesn't happen often). But he's a formidable adversary, and the movie does right to reserve him a doom commonly meted out to villains of science-fiction epics.

One of the problems faced by "Jaws" (the movie) is that half the world already knows "Jaws" (the book). Actually, Peter Benchley's novel is incredibly schlocky, and the film version outdoes it on almost every count especially during the second half, which begins with the shark-bunters shoving off in a handsome shot framed by, you guessed it, a shark's jaws. Gone are those brief but sly summations of human character that the Benchley book comes up with occasionally. But gone too are the bumpy prose, the lowbrow allusions and metaphors, the labored set

men-against-beast, fight-for-survival tradition

Best of all, the "Jaws" screenwriters - Mr. Benchley and Carl Gottlieb - have changed by open sea with no radio and a Great White the plot around considerably, so even an avid "Jaws" reader should be surprised at the bones that's causing all the fuss. Sometimes punches in visualizing "Jaws." The nau-rousingly adventurous.

Robert Shaw, Roy Scheider in 'Jaws'

seating implications of shark-attacks are spread across the wide screen more than once, more graphically than they might have been. Regrettably, this unsuits "Jaws" for even the mildly squeamish, thus sharply limiting its audience - and its appeal,

Yet most of the way "Jaws" is an expertly rendered thriller, the best of its type in ages. Some neatly calculated cuts will have you clear dut of your chair with surprise, and near the end the suspense builds to outlandish proportions. There is also some laugh-out-loud humor to lighten the chowder, not to mention terrific John Williams music and deft portraysmall but affecting landlubber role).

"Jawa" marks an unexpected turn for Mr. peaks is bound to excite. Splelberg's directing career. His previous feature was "The Sugarland Express," a highly unusual drama that seemed to mark horn, and scaling just about any chieff of horn, and scaling just about an him as a "personal" filmmaker. "Jaws" isn't personal, it's as slick as a sharkskin. It is the work of a first-rate craftsman, however: this book would be an excellent glit for the control of the contro harrowing, sometimes nasty to look at, but climber or the armchair clinger.

HOTELS AND RESORTS

In New Orleans... Moderately Priced

THE DOWNTOWN HOWARD JOHNSON'S

A magnificient 17-story building just a short walk to the old city's famous attractions and the new city's dynamic business centers.

25. metropolises

24, chassis

alaylani .SS

so: crises

is, oftomans 17. courts-martial ig. tubles d'hote 15, opera or opuses

14. dormice

amin .ei

24. chassis

Wal-dl-snon ,St.

A. sheaves 8. menservanja

3. Illes

3. Cupfuls 6. passersby 5. resolutes 6. viscolu

liding saltabon . ntermin

ANSWERS

chess

home/children

9. sheaf

0. vermin

Swimming lessons start from the cradle

By Barbara Sundberg Baudot Written for The Christian Science Monitor

Bathtime for our infant daughter, Elise, was primarily a swimming lesson. The usual misshing of hands and feet were only part of the daily bathtub session, where together we worked on floats and arm and leg movements.

Having been a water safety instructor for many years, it seemed sensible to me to take advantage of the baby's natural love of water and to teach our firstform to swim before she came to think of the aquatic environment as foreign. While living in the United States and Switzerland, I studied and subsequently adopted various approaches to training such in the spring, when Elise was nine months old, we transferred operations to the local pool. Here I was able to support her pudgy body against my side and move her hands so as to dig in the water. Then with her arms around my neck and her knees in my hands, she learned to flutter-kick back and forth across the pool. These exercises were steps toward teaching her to dog-paddle. Soon she was propeiling herself underwater between

The following year when Elise was one and a half, we repeated this program still giving emphasis to awimming in the prone position. Before her second birthday, she was swimming three and four yards underwater and could climb out of the pool unessisted.

Shortly after she turned two, there was a span of a couple of months when we were unable to go to a pool. And when I brought her again, all seemed lost. An apparent stranger in her watery domain, tears of protest streamed down her cheeks as we repeatedly tried to encourage her to swim as before.

At this time I met Jean Fouace of the Bebe Amphibian School at the Hotel du Parc, Villars, Switzerland, His emphasis on the dorsal float contrasted with my emphasis on the prone swimming position which Elise readily preferred.

Mr. Fouace's method is aimed primarily at the development of what he feels is a baby's natural ability to be self-sufficient in the. water. He concentrates on developing the child's reflex action so that the child automatically assumes the back float upon surfacing from any situation under water. His small pupils remain in this floating position for an extended period of time alone and at ease.

We must be aware, Mr. Fouace told us, that in comparison with adults, the body surface of bables is greater in proportion to their weight. Moreover, their center of gravity is higher than adults given the greater relative weight of their heads. It is for these reasons they are able to float easily and for long periods of Appealing advantages of Mr. Fousce's approach are that the back float permits the baby to breathe while alone in the water and that this conditioned reflex is not easily lost if the child is away from a pool for periods of time, Also this elementary tool for water survival is not dependent on proximity to the

Finally, this movement to the back float being a conditioned reflex, no reasoning process would seem to be required by the child if he is taken by surprise when falling

Probably due to her previous swimming experience, it took Elise only seven consecutive daily lessons to be conditioned to assume automatically the back float when she surfaced in the water.

The following summer. Elise, not quite three years old, was again in a pool, Although she had been out of the water nearly five months, she automatically assumed the back position in order to breathe. She quickly regained the old enthusiasm for water adventure and responded to frequent lessons. She paid attention to instruction and was able to. distinguish between different arm and leg

Like a baby seal she amused herself with surface dives, popping up frequently for air and then plunging under again. By the end of the summer she could easily swim the length of the thirty-foot pool, doing a mixture of dogpaddle and primitive breast stroke or back crawl and elementary back stroke. Our amphibian of spring was truly as at ease in the blue depths of the water as on the grassy earth

From singular to plural

Do you furrow your brow when the time comes to decide whether it's "teaspoonfuls" r "leaspoonsful"? If so, here's a quiz to reshen your knowledge of this tantalizingly nconsistent phase of the English language.

y is a list of we What is the plu	ords, each in the siaguar wal?
mono	11. notary public
lsman	12. son-in-law
pful	13. nemesis
secrby	14. dormouse
adame	15. opus
scus	16. table d'hote
ſe	17. court-martial
anservant	18. ottoman

19. alms

How many words can you make?

How many words can you form by making various combinations of the letters in the word WHOLESALE?

Rules: Each word must contain at least four letters. No proper names permitted (e.g., Lowe).

Scoring: 15 to 20 words, average; 21 to 35 words, good; 36 words or more - excellen

Westel, Well, Whale, Wheat, Wheel, dow, sole, swell, wale, wall, wash, sioal, shoe, show, slaw, slew, sloe, wel, sell, shale, shall, shallow, snell, lose, lash, lease, leash, lose, sale, esse, essel, else, hale, hall, hallow, else, des, hell, hell, hell, holl, holl, Answers: alee, allow, aloe, also,

Can you find and circle the hidden prehistoric animals? They read vertically, horizontally, diagonally, forwards, and occasionally, even backwards

																				A
M	E	G	A	T	H	E	R	Ī	U	M	A	S	T	E	R	A	N	D	M
N	A	U	T	١	L	0	1	D	T	E	T	0	Ν	ı	U	8	ı	Κ	Α		,
A	P	S	Α	M	В	0	Κ	N	ı	G	U	A	N	0	D	0	N	E	M	Brachlopods	Nautiloid
М	R	A	T	P	T	E	R	0	D	Α	C	T	Y	Ł	N	Α	S	Т	M	Brontosaurus	Ornlihoped
Т	0	N	Y	0	M	Α	S	D	T	C	E	0	Н	1	P	P	U	S	0	Bryozoans	Plesiosau
0	T	S	R	A	D	U	R	0	U	A	S	A	R	N	S	X	D	0	T		Protocers
N	0	T	A	P	Ť	0	ĸ	Ŀ	·A	M	P	C	A	P	τ	0	N	D	H	Diplodocus	Protocel
P	C	A	N	T	P	A	N	1	T	E	L	Ę	0	C	E	R	A	S	A		Plerodach
s	E	T	N	A	L	U	S	M	E	L	A	G	R	A	G	T	R	D	N		Smiledon
ũ	R	P	0	Ł	0	N	U	S	γ	U	N	T	Ú	G	0	A	U	0	R	Epigaulus
R	A	X	S	U	D	E	M	В	A	S	S	A	A	X	S	S	A	P	S	Fells alrox	Stegosaun
U	T	E	A	M	0	S	T	В	A	N	D	0	S	R	A	1	S	0	1	ichthyosaur	Teleoceras
Ā	0	T	Ü	N	C	A	·Ľ	R	М	U	8	K	0	X	U	Ĺ	0	H	N	iguanodon	Teleosis
s	P	i	R	E	Ū	T	E	Y	A	A	L	M	ı	H	R	E	Y	T	R	Mammoth	Teretornis
lo	-	B	ü	Ŧ	8	Ċ	R	ò	N	ï	T	R	8	A	u	F	Ĥ	i.	0	Mastodon	Telonius .
ĬŤ	н	0	S	Ė	ō	T	Α	7	ii	ĸ	M	Ÿ	E	N	s	À	T	Ň	T		Triceratop
Ň	н	ĭ	Ü	Ŧ	F	ì	E	ō	s	T	S	À	ī	ü	Ř	E	н	R	À		Trilobile
ò	+	ī	ŏ	P	S	В	R	_	C		ĭ	0	P	ŏ	D	S		ö	-	Musk ox	Tyrannossi
Ī		p	Ā	A.	B	S	Ö		R	-	s	ŭ	i	ü	A	ä	ĭ	P	E
В		T	6	P	S	4	7	S		P	Ö	T	Ā	R	E	C	÷	R	7	ł
Ľ	-	 		_	9	_	17	3	-	-	Ľ	.	_	17	-	-	-	-0	_

House martins fly in for the summer

Veronica A. Ragatz Answer block appears among advertisements

Eldroth, Yorkshire I have a number of regular summer visitors o my farmhouse here in the north of England. They usually let me know they're coming.

But there are some who just come without even a "by-your-leave." They don't eat with me at my table or sleep in one of my here they raise one or two families. They sleep in snug-feather-lined beds made of mud and bits of grass, and they eat while darting or gliding through the air.

They are the house marting. These delightful birds build their mud-nests inder the eaves or in the corners of windows.

They stick them onto the walls and glass. This year for the first time a pair has built in the top corner of my bathroom window. I can get a very good view from inside and watch the gaping, chattering nestlings poke their heads out of the entrance hole ready for the parent birds to feed them with insecis. Every minute or so one of the pair filtrs up to the nest, clings momentarily to its rounded walls. and is off again weaving round the barns and through the yard after more food.

House martins are five inches long. Males and females look alike; they have blue-black coming back:

feathers above and are all white underseal with a white rump which makes it early identify them in flight. This is the most noticeable difference they have from small lows, to which they are closely related. Swallows have tails which are more forbed. and a reddish-chestaut color on their beat

White, in his book "The Natural History Selborne" described house martins (and obs hirundines) sa "a most inoffensive, harmen entertaining, social, and useful tribe of his they touch no fruit in our gardens; delight. in attaching themselves to our houses; amile us with their migrations, songs, and me velous agility; and clear our outlets from the annoyances of grats and other troublesses

But one thing puzzled Gilbert While house martins which still, oddly enough puzzles naturalists today, 200 years also where do they migrate to? In Europe they are just summer visitors. My modern bird but published in 1969, states: "Winter distributes uncertain, but European birds may to southern and tropical Africa."

Wherever they go, I'm just happy they be people/places/things

Problem No. 6707 Problem No. 6708

By Frederick R. Chevalier

(First prize, Two-movers, Schacho-Echo, second half-year 1974.)

Solutions to Problems No. 6705. A-B4

No. 6706. 1 P-Q5 threatens 2 R-K3ch If 1..B-R2; 2 P-B5

If 1.. RxB; 2 B-K7 If 1.. Q-B7; 2 B-B3 If 1.. Q-K7; 2 R-K4

End-Game No. 2207. White wins: B-B7, KxB; 2 RxR, QxR; 3 Q-Kt7ch, K-Kt; 4 Q-Kt7ch, K-Kt; 4 QxR, and wins. If 1 . . QxB; 2 RxR, etc.

Good Spassky Game

The 1975 Tallin tournament, which concluded March 10, was won by veteran Paul Keres, barely ahead of Boris Spaesky and Iceland's grandmaster Fredrik Clafeson. This event included nine grandmasters; the players with the top Elo ratings generally drew with each other. This helped Keres to the top rank since he won from five of the six tail-enders, drawing with all the others except for D. Marovic of Yugoslavia, whom he deisated. Marovic, however, won from Spaesky and Clafeson.

Spassky's win from Hungarian grandmaster Lengyel shows that Fischer's victim is still nearly first among equals.

Queen's Gambit Declined

White	Binck	White	Sisci
1 P-Q4	P-Q4	11 PxP	Kt-Kt3
2 P-QB4	P-K3 -	12 B-KI3	QKt-Q4
3 Kt-QB3	B-K2	13 Kt-K5	KI-QKIE
4 Kt-B3	Kt-KB3	14 R-K	B-Q2
5.B-Kt-5 6 P-K8 7 B-Q3	0-0	15 Q-K2	P-QKt3
8 P-K8	QKI-Q2	16 P-Q5	B-E
7 B-Q3	PXP	17 QR-Q	Q-B2
8 BxBP	P-B4	18 PxP	BxP
8 O-O	P-QR3	19 BxB	PxB
10 P-QR4	PXP	20 KI-Q7	Resigns

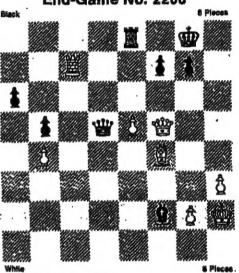

Michigan Experts

Tubby

THE ONLY REGION I PLAY BRIEBALL IS BECAUSE WOMEN SUPULDIN'T GROW UP TO BE JUST SPECIATORS

A four-round Swiss was held in Detroit last January. The winner was Stephen Feldman, who won two and drew two Each of the other. players lost at least one game. Feldman won the Michigan junior title for the seventh time shortly after this event (which was not limited to ju-Steady play on Feldman's part led to pres-sures on the O-file, with a quick K-side attack. The winner missed 24 Kt-Kt5, which led to a

TO PLAY-

BIIBURA datèk	et with
Nin	zo-India	n Defense
Fekimen White	Brooks	Feldman White	Be
1: P-Q4	Kt-KB3	14. Q-Q3	K
2 P-B4	P-K3	15 QR-Q.	C
3 Kt-QB3	P-Q4	16 P-Q5
4 Kt-83 5 P-K3	B-Kt5 O-O	17 BxP 18 Q-K4	K
6 B-Q3	P-B4	19 RxKt	ď
7 0-0	BPXP	20 RxKt
8 KPxP	PxP	21 QxB .	Q
9. BxBP 10. B-KKt5	Kt-B3 8-K2	22 KI-Q5 23 KI-K7ch	. '
	O-NZ	ACAD INTERVIOLE

By Guernsey Le Pelley

BECAUSE THE SAME'S EVE MORE STUPID TO WATCH

Diana Rigg: a yen for directing

Diana Rigg: thinking of Phaedra

Staff correspondent of The Christian Science Monitor

Diana Rigg can draw a roomful of people to their feet. It is not just that she is tall, has a deep voice, and is glamorous. It is her dignity. Her thoughts these days, she says, are very much centered on the role of Phaedra, her new play that will open at the Old Vic in London in September. Rehearsals for the new translation, which is being called "Phaedra Britannica," begin in July.

'Up ahead looms large something that is oing to demand a great deal of me," Miss

As for ambition about future roles, she explained. "My ambition is simply to be doing Phaedra as best I can. I think that to say, 'I'd like to do this or that role' is a great mistake. It is beguiling to think that everything along the way is a preparation. It is a preparation, but not a preparation for one part: It is a preparation for learning, for becoming better,

After she had commented on the problems of many aspiring actors, she said, "As a young girl, I had a very rough talent — and I still consider it in certain areas quite rough - but I was very lucky to get into a company, the Royal Shakespeare Company, where they nurtured me, and taught ine and allowed me; to fall, which is one of the most valuable shifts? in the process of learning.

ing, I seldom turned things down because I thought I was too good for them. And whatever I've done, I've learned from it, And I had so much to learn."

Miss Rigg, who can still be seen in the United States on television reruns of "The Avengers," has learned from fallures without having been a failure herself.

Unlike many stars who blame a fallure of a alevision series on everyone but themselves, she accepts (perhaps unfairly) the failure of a television series that was called "Diana."

"I don't believe in avoiding responsibility for what you do," she said. "You've done it, and it has falled. That way you cut out a lot of nonsense. You don't embrace failure, but you n from it, And you don't pretend that it

Miss Rigg bowed out of "The Avengers," a successful series, eight years ago to continue her work in the theater. She has just closed here in "The Misanthrope," for which she received a Tony nomination.

One of the things she wants to do in the theater is to direct. But she explained, "You have to reach a stage where directing is not an ego trip you are taking because you feel, as an actress, it is an elevation to become a director.

"A lot of people do that, and it is for the wrong reasons. It is not that your knowledge is greater. It isn't. It's that in a journey tha you are all taking together, you've reached a stage in life where the totality somehov becomes greater than one's own persona participation. And then as a director, you become extremely valuable because you have. that objectivity to see the piece as a whole and an overall appetite for seeing a play done

When asked if she could foresee the opportunity for her to direct, she matter-of-feetly

Il could create the opportunity any min ute, if I wanted to."

Changing pronouns, she added, "One is well-known, so one could write to any of th repertory theaters in Eingland and say, would like to direct, please. And that is wher if whild begin if certainly wouldn't begin of the Old Vic, or in a West End production.

"I would go into the provinces - no because I wouldn't give just as much care, o that the actors aren't as good as in the Wes End, but only because one's first attemy. when one is established (as an actress) would automatically be given far too much impor tance. In other words, one would wish to do: gentle apprenticeship somewhere so that to much emphasis wouldn't be put on the name but on the product.

What could she say about how to survive and grow in the theater?

"I think the most valuable thing is to hav self knowledge and to be honest about you self. Then from that comes realization of whe you don't know and how far you have to go And from that comes a sort of invulnerability where you are not afraid to ask Why? 'c

Cut eggplants in half lengthwise; hollow out and chop or grind remaining eggplant with the meat. Combine with onions, spices, melted, butter, and half the cheese. Stuff mixture into eggplant hollows. Top with remaining cheese. Bake in a pan of water 40 minutes at 350 degrees F. Pop under the grill to brown slightly if desired Serves four.

##CPersiant Copplant

1 Cup provolone cheese, or sharp cheddar

medium eggplants (aubergines)

grated teaspoon ground corlander teaspoon tumeric

1 % pounds mince 1 cup chopped onlons Melted butter to moisten

Pinch of basil

Note carefully this lead sentence in a took place in 1950. dispatch to the Washington Post from Bel-

"President Kim Il Sung of North Korea has mounted a diplomatic offensive to secure 'third-world' support for a move to dissolve the United Nations . . , forces in Korea." It makes bad reading.

It is perfectly obvious what Mr. Kim is up to and it bodes ill for the integrity of the UN.

The reason the news comes out of Belgrade is that the North Korean Communist leader has been on a sweep of the Communist countries and their present allies among the developing nations in the hope of getting them to join in the very purposeful maneuver he is working on. What he wants is to get enough backing in the General Assembly this fall to force the withdrawal of UN troops still remaining in South Korea.

Mr. Kim may well succeed. He has already been pounding on sympathetic ears in Romania, Bulgaria, Algeria, Mauritania, Yugoslavia and other places. While in Yugoslavia he managed to get Marshal Tito to engage in the kind of diplomatic double-talk made to order for another "liberation" war in Korea.

President Tito delivered one of those Marxist "on-the-one-hand-and-on-the-other" speeches. That is, on the one hand he wanted to see the two Koreas united "only by peaceful means" and, on the other, he thought that the withdrawal of UN forces would be the best guarantee of peace!

If this other-hand argument had any truth in it, there wouldn't have been any Korean war in the first place, because there were no foreign troops in South Korea when the attack

The presence of foreign troops did not provoke the attack and their absence won't protect against its renewal.

Hopefully it may not be easy to persuade the majority of the UN members to go along with this kind of thinking.

To do so they would have to repudiate the evidence on which the UN found North Korea guilty of aggression in the first place, would have to pretend that the attack across the South Korean border never took place, would have to conclude that South Korea started the war by defending itself and, for all of these nonexistent reasons, would have to reverse its original verdict and make out that the nation it called guilty was innocent and the nation it called innocent was guilty.

That would have to be the basis for the UN to do what Mr. Kim wants it to do.

It is a brazen thing to propose. But it cannot be assumed that for their own reasons the Communist and third-world nations might not go along. Already this coalition of expediency has mobilized sufficient votes to receive a Palestinian guerrilla leader on the rostrum of the UN as though he were a head of state, to deny South Africa its membership right of participation in a General Assembly debate, and to exclude Israel from a regional meeting of UNESCO - all violations of the UN

At the very least Kim II Sung is conducting psychological war against the morale of South Korea and, at the very worst, he would like to get the UN forces out of the way.

M. Kim, qu'a-t-il en tête?

importante en tête d'une dépêche au Washington Post en provenance de Belgrade:

«Le président Kim Il Sung de la Corée du Nord a monté une offensive diplomatique pour s'assurer le soutien du "tiers-monde" en vue de dissoudre les forces... des Nations Unies en Corée. »

Volla une nouvelle peu agréable. Ce que M. Kim mijote est parfaitenoni clair et cela est de mauvais augure nour l'intégrité des Nations Unies.

La raison pour laquelle cette nouvelle nous arrive de Belgrade s'explique par le fait que le leader communiste nordcorcen a fait le tour de tous les pays communistes et de leurs alliés actuels parmi les pays en voie de développement dans l'espoir de les gagner à sa la commencé la guerre en état de légicause dans la manœuvre bien déterminée à laquelle il travaille. Ce qu'il raisons inexistantes, ils devraient modidésire, c'est gagner suffisamment de fier le verdict original et conclure que suffrages lors de l'Assemblée générale la nation dite coupable était innocente cet àutomne pour forcer le retrait des et que la nation dite innocente était troupes des Nations Unics encore stationnées en Corée du Sud.

Il se peut bien que M. Kim réussisse. Il a déjà frappé à coups redoublés aux portes de sympathisants tels que la que veut M. Kim. Roumanic, la Bulgarie, l'Algérie, la

Yougous (4 %) mangelys bout fifted a mangelys bout fifted a mangelys a bout fifted a mangelys and the standard of controllers diplomatique mbigu fait sur mesure en vue d'une gutra guorre do allboration de la

Le president Tito fit l'un de ces discours marxistes base sur l'alternative dune part et dautre part , soit qu'il désirait. Voir d'une part les deux Corées unles «sculement par des moyens pacifiques , et, d'autro part, il pensait que, le retrait des forces des Nations Unies constituerait le meilleur garant de paix!

aurait pas eu de guerre de Coree en des Nations Unics.

premier liou, parce qu'aucune troupe étrangère ne se trouvait en Corée du Sud lorsque l'attaque cut lieu en 1950.

L'attaque n'a pas été provoquée par la présence de troupes étrangères et leur absence ne sera pas une protection contre une nouvelle attaque.

Espérons qu'il ne sera pas facile de persuader la majorité des membres des Nations Unies d'admettre cette facon de nenser.

Pour ce saire, ils devraient infirmer l'évidence aux termes de laquelle la Corée du Nord fut reconnue par les Nations Unies coupable d'agression au premier chef, ils devralent prétendre que l'attaque à travers la frontière sud corécine n'a jamais eu lieu, ils dovraient conclure que la Corée du Sud time défense et, forts de toutes ces coupable.

Ce scralent là les éléments sur lesquels les Nations Unies devraient se fonder pour agir conformément à ce suffisamment do suffrages pour recovoir un chef de guerilla paleathien à la, ribune des Nations Unics comme s'fl statt un chet d'Etat, pour reluser à l'Afrique du Sud son droit de participer en tant que membre à un débat au soin de l'Assemblée générale, et pour exclure Israel d'une réunion régionale de l'UNESCO toutes décisions en viglation de la Charte des Nations Unics. A tout le moins, Kim Il Sung meno une guerre psychologique contre le Si cette dernière alternative avait moral de la Corco du Sud et, au pire contenu quelque vérité en soi, il n'y il voudrait obtenir le retrait des troupes Roscoe Drummond Was hat Kim II-Sung vor?

Washington

Lesen Sie einmal sorgfältig den folgenden ersten Satz in einem Bericht aus Belgrad un die Washington Post:

"Präsident Kim II-Sung von Nordkorea hat eine diplomatische Offensive orgriffen, um die Unterstützung der dritten Welt' für seinen Vorstoß zu gewinnen, der dahin geht, die Streitkrüfte der Vereinten Nationen in Korea auf-

Das sind schlechte Nachrichten. Es ist vollkommen klar, was Kim Il-Sung beabsichtigt, und es verkündet Unheil für die Integrität der UN.

Diese Nachricht kommt aus Belgrad. weil der kommunistische Führer Nordkoress die kommunistischen Länder und ihre gegenwärtigen Verbündeten unter den Entwicklungsländern besucht hat, in der Hoffnung, daß sie sich seinem äußerst zweckvollen Plan, an dem er arbeitet, anschließen werden. Er möchte nämlich diesen Herbst in der Vollversammlung genügend Mitglieder auf seiner Seite haben, um den Abzug der UN-Truppen, die immer noch in Südkorea stationiert sind, zu erzwingen.

Kim Il-Sung mag sehr wohl Erfolg ihm, Marschall Tito in eine diplomatische doppelsinnige Redewelse hincinzuziehen, die so gut zu einem neuen

Befreiungs"-Krieg in Korea past. Prisident Tito hielt eine jener marxistischen Reden, in denen es von "einerseits und andererseits" wimmelt. Das heißt, einerseits würde er gern ein vereintes Korea schen - "jedoch nur auf friedlichem Wege" ---, und andererseits meinte er, daß der Abzug der UN-Streitkräfte die beste Friedensgarantie

Wenn an dem Argument des Andererseits etwas Wahres ware, ware es erst gar nicht zu einem Koreakrieg gekom-men, well keine fremden Trugs b Südkoren stationiert waren, als 1900s Anariff erfalate.

Die Prinanz fremder Streitkräfte un olso nicht der Anlaß zu dem Angil, und the Abzug wird nicht vor einer Wiederaufnahme der Feindseligkeite schützen.

Hoffentlich hill sich die Mehrheit der UN-Mitglieder dieses Argument nicht leicht einreden.

Wenn das der Full wure, dann millen sie den Beweis ableugnen, aufgrund dessen die UN Nordkorea des Angrills ursprünglich für schuldig erklifter, sie mißten vorgeben, daß der Endl über die südkoreanische Grenn niemali stattgefunden habe; sie müßten folgen, daß Südkoren den Krieg von Zeine riß, indem es sich verteidigk inden all diesen fiktiven Gründer wisten sie ihren ursprünglichen Urtellispruchum kehren und so tun, als ab das Land, das sie für schuldig erklicke, inschuld dig und das Land, das sie für unschulde erklärten, schuldig wäre.

Die UN müßten von dieser Basis auf gehen, wenn sie das tun wollten, we Kim Il-Sung von ihnen erwartet.

Es ist ein unverschämter Vorichis Mun darf jedoch nicht annehmen die kommunistischen der driften Welt sich vielleicht aus ik eigenen Gründen nicht ans würden. Diese Gelegenheitskon hat bereits genügend Stimmen me slert, um einen palästinensischen P sunenführer auf die Rednerbühne UN zu bekommen, als ob er ein Stat oberhaupt würe, Südafrika dat gliedsrecht zu vorwehren, an einer ich batte der Vollversammlung ich nehmen, und Israel von einem refe nalen Treffen der UNESCO aus schließen — alles Verslöße gegen Charta der Vereinten Nationen. Zumindest führt Kim Il-Sung eine psychologischen Krieg gegen die Ma Sildkoreas, und im schlimmslen fall mochte er die UN-Streitkräfte aus Weg schaffen.

French/German

[This religious article appears in English on the Home Forum page] aduction de l'article religieux parassant en anglets sur la page The Home Forum

Etre digne de confiance

Chacun a le privilège et le devoir de se fixer pour lui-même le but élevé qui consiste à être digne de confiance. Un passage de la Bible, d'une profonde signification, du prophète Michée, qui vivait au huitième siècle avant Jésus Christ, dit ceci : «On t'a fait connaître, ô homme, ce qui est bien; et ce que l'Eternel demande de toi, c'est que tu pratiques la justice, que tu almes la miséricorde, et que tu marches humblement avec ton

Dieu ? » 1 La bonté, à cette époque, qui semble parfois tellement chargée de mal? Oui. Christ Jésus nous a montré que la justice, la miséricorde et l'amour étaient exactement là où les croyances au mal qui nous enchaînent parais-saient prédominer. Pourquoi ? Parce que c'est Dieu qui en vérité règne. harmonie domine dans Son royaume. Mais Son royaume — le seul royaume - n'est pas un royaume de matière contrôlé par des lois limitatives de la matière. Le royaume de Dieu est entièrement spirituel, y compris l'homme, et il est gouverné par Dieu seulement, l'Entendement divin.

La Science Chrétienne*, en accord avec les enseignements de la Bible, explique que Dieu est omnipotent ; que l'homme, créé à Son image et à Sa ressemblance spirituelles et parfaites, reflète tous les attributs de Dieu, pleins de sollicitude. L'homme que Dieu a créé ne peut manifester que des qualités spirituelles. 'Celles-ci comprennent son vrai moi, sa vraie identité. L'homme existe en l'Esprit, Dieu. Ici aucune hypocrisie ne peut entrer. Aucune pensée fallacieuse émanant de l'entendement matériel ne peut limiter ou emprisonner. L'Entendement divin, la Vérité et l'Amour, gouverne tout. Ce que nous com-prenons de la réalité spirituelle se manifeste aussi dans notre existence humaine. La qualité de notre existence dépend de la qualité de nos pensées.

Comprendre ces vérités nous permet de mener une vie pleine de sens, d'exprimer la santé et le bonheur, de faire face aux défis avec calme et assurance, d'être dignes de confiance dans nos rapports avec nos semblables.

Mary Baker Eddy, qui a découvert et fondé la Science Chrétienne, écrit : L'ambition désintéressée, de nobles mobiles de vie, et la pureté, — ces éléments de la pensée, se confondant, constituent individuellement et col-lectivement le véritable bonheur, la force et la constance. • 2

Nous est-il possible de trouver plus d'honnêteté dans nos rapports avec d'autres personnes, même d'autres na-tions ? Oui, quand nous donnons à Dieu la première place. La Science Chrétienne montre que l'humanité peut s'élever au-dessus de la lutte et de la confusion que produisent les faux appuis à la reconnaissance de Dieu en tant que Principe divin. Etre digne de confiance est un attribut du Principe. Le Principe contrecarre les fausses croyances tenaces du manque de confiance et de la crainte. Reconnaître Dieu en tant que Vérité - toute la vérité qui existe - aide infiniment à surmonter les situations humaines auxquelles nous avons à faire face et

Nous devons voir le fait éternel de a perfection de Dieu et l'homme en tant que l'image et la ressemblance de Dieu. Cette compréhension spirituelle peut ouvrir la voie qui nous amènera ainsi que toute l'humanité à bénéficier des riches bénédictions de l'harmonie.

¹ Michée 6:8; ² Science et Santé avec la Clef des Ecritures, p. 58.

*Christian Science : prononcer 'kristienn 'salennse.

La traduction française du livre d'étude de la Science Chrettenne, 7. Science et Santé avec la Clef des Ecritures de Mary Baker Eddy, salate avec la loxte an-glais en regard. On peut l'acheir dens les Salins de Lec-ture de la Science Chrétienne, ou le commender à Frances C. Ceulson, Publisher's Agent, One Norway Street, Boston, Massachusetts, U.S.A. 02116.

[This religious article appears in English on the Home Forum page]

Ubersatzung des auf der Home-Forum-Seite in englisch erscheinenden religiosen Artikels

Zuverlässigkeit

Jeder einzelne hat das Recht und die Pflicht, sich das hohe Ziel zu setzen, zuverlässig zu sein. Micha, ein Prophet aus dem achten Jahrhundert v. Chr., sagt in der Bibel die tiefgründigen Worte: "Es ist dir gesagt, Mensch, was gut ist, und was der Herr von dir fordert, nämlich Gottes Wort halten und Liebe üben und demütig sein vor deinem Gott."

Güte in der heutigen Zeit, wo mit-unter so viel Schlechtigkeit zu herr-schen scheint? Ja. Christus Jesus zeigte uns. deß Gerechtigkeit, Gnade und Liebe genau dort waren, wo versklavende Annahmen des Bösen vorzuherrschen schienen. Warum? Weil in Wirklichkeit Gott regiert. In Seinem Reich herrscht Harmonie. Aber Sein Reich - des einzige Reich, das es gibt — ist nicht ein materielles Reich, das von begrenzenden materiellen Gesetzen regiert wird. Goties Reich, einschließlich des Menschen, ist völlig geistig und wird nur von Gott, dem göttlichen Gemüt, regiert. Die Christliche Wissenschaft* er-klärt in Übereinstimmung mit den Lehren der Bibel, daß Gott allmächtig ist; daß der zu Seinem vollkommenen geistigen Bild und Gleichnis erschaffene Mensch all die liebevollen Eigen-schaften Gottes widerspiegelt. Der von Gott geschaffene Mensch kann nur geistige Eigenschaften zum Ausdruck bringen. Sie machen sein wirkliches Selbst, seine wahre Identität, aus. Der Mensch existiert im Geist, in Gott. Keine Heuchelei kann hier eindringen. Keine einer materiellen Gesinnung entspringenden Trugschlüsse können begrenzen oder einschränken. Das göttliche Gemüt, die Wahrheit und Liebe regiert alles. Was wir von der geistigen Wirklichkeit verstehen, drückt sich auch in unserer menschlichen Erfahrung aus. Die Art und Weise unseres Lebens hängt von der Art und Weise unserer Gedanken ab.

Wenn wir diese Wahrheiten verstehen, können wir ein inhaltsreiches Leben führen, gesund und glücklich sein, Problemen ruhig und zuversichtlich begegnen und im Umgang mit un-seren Mitmenschen zuverlässig sein.

Mary Baker Eddy, die die Christliche Wissenschaft entdeckte und gründete, schreibt: "Uneigennütziges Streben, edle Lebensmotive und Reinheit — diese Bestandteile des Denkens bilden, wenn sie sich vermischen, für den einzelnen wie für die Gesamtheit wahres Glück, wahre Stärke und Beständig-

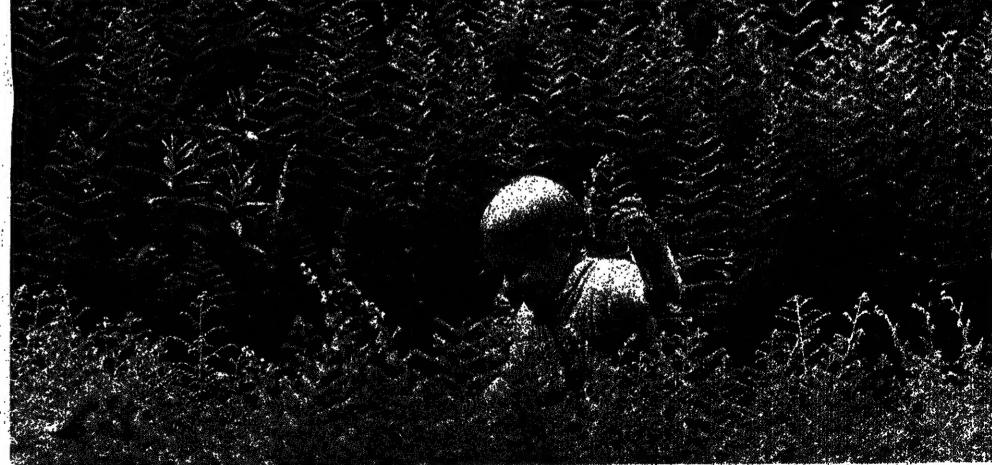

Ist es möglich, mehr Zuverlässigkeit in unserem Umgang mit anderen, ja mit anderen Völkern zu erleben? Es ist dann möglich, wenn wir Gott an erste Stelle setzen. Die Christliche Wissenschaft zeigt, daß die Menschheit sich über den Zank und die Unordnung, die durch falsche Hoffnungen hervorgerufen werden, zu der Aner-kennung Gottes als das göttliche Prinzip erheben kann. Zuverlässigkeit und Vertrauenswürdigkeit sind Eigenschaften des Prinzips. Das Prinzip wirkt den falschen, hartnäckigen Annahmen von Mißtrauen und Furcht entgegen. Gott als Wahrheit anzuerkennen - als alle Wahrheit, die es gibt — hilft uns außerordentlich, die menschlichen Probleme, denen wir gegenüberstehen, anzupacken und zu lösen.

Wir müssen die ewige Tatsache der Vollkommenheit Gottes und den Menschen als das Bild und Gleichnis Gottes sehen. Dieses geistige Ver-ständnis kann den Pfad auftun, der uns und die ganze Menschheit dahin führen wird, uns der reichen Segnungen der Harmonie zu erfreuen.

¹ Micha 6:8: ² Wissenschaft und Gesundheit mit Schlüssel zur Heiligen Schrift, S. 58.

*Christian Science: aprich: krietjen sistens

Die dautsche überseitzung des Lehrbuchs der Christichen Wissenschaft "Wissenschaft und Gesundheit mit Bchiussei zur Heitigen Bchrift" von Mary Baker Eddy, ist mit Gen englischen Test auf der gegenüberlegenden Selts erhältlich. Das Buch kann in den Leserimmern der Christlichen. Wissenschaft gekauft werden oder von Frances C. Cartson, Publisher's Agemt, One Norway Street, Boston, Massenchuseits, USA 02115.

A aummertime forest of ferns, Needham, Massachusetts

this "Nothing." For Harry, my husband, who is a field naturalist, is forever appearing my daughter there are the creeks and the foresters speak of this profusion as "story vitality without seasonal stop or slowness, a realm still unknown, still unrealized and husbanded in its potential for fruition.

This is all understandable to her who has come out of a culture that has many plants weeks old radio commericals rang in my head, I had never realized how much verbal than one's own hands.

This "Nothing" is pointed out with an expansive sweep of the hand indicating quite a bit of the earth. Someone says, "Out there is 'Nothing." The implication is that humankind cannot live with this "Nothing."

Primitive and peasant peoples who have its growing root and leaf, it is scarcely lived next door to a wilderness imaginatively noticeable and little lamented. And like the

make it "Something," the haunt of creatures plant which has many a brave adventure allied to humans, giants, fairies, trolls, elves, ahead, one forgets that aloneness back there demons, spirits or even gods and goddesses. in the darkness for now is the time of living

We may smile at such fancies now; the earth in the well-watered garden, home to the has less wilderness today, rather it is become the precincts of petroleum, gold, uranium, chievous monkey and all those who build in timber, and animals to be hunted for one the old waste places.

Nothing— or a great

Something

The woman is kind to receive us so graciously as strangers. Every hotel is filled so we ask for hospitality at the mission. For these few minutes of our acquaintanceship

we chat easily enough. We recognize one another without saying so, because we've received similar schooling, been tutored in the common graces and in dedication to the highest truths given mankind. But she is puzzled. Her question is simple enough,

many have asked us the same: "Why do you

If a model were made of our delights, our interests and our goals, I am sure a computer would furnish in a matter of seconds what we have been years working out. Starting with a desire to live with the wildlife unthreatened and still unaware of predatory man with bow and arrow, blow pipe or gun, to plant and husband a plot of ground unthreatened by cattle ranching or plantation agriculture with its villages of half starved laborers —

wanting this plot, which we call a homestead to be in the Tropic Zone smid the fullest bloom of the vegetable kingdom and situated upon a mountain slope - all this seemed to result in the location "no one has ever heard

But I think I understand what is troubling the woman. And merely to explain why we want the wilderness will not satisfy her. To explain the factors making for remoteness is not enough. Her own life has been lived remote from the world of actual civilized life, but possession of a radio plus access to an airplane seems to her a partial ex-planation for her venturing so far afield.

What really bothers her is the confrontation wish to live so remotely?"

Barbara Hepworth looking through her sculpture "Four-square walk through" 1966

Hepworth: a vision heroic and harmonious

"Single Form" is probably the best known sculpture by the late Barbara Hepworth. A memorial to former Secretary-General of the United Nations Dag Hammarskjold, it slices the air in front of the UN like an enlarged tool of prehistoric man or the fin of a giant fish. A bronze monolith, 21 feet high, the sculpture suggests a kind of totemic power as it stares at the world and frames it in its immense, omniscient, cyclopean eye. It is modern but primitive, mysterious but familiar, and evokes a tactile memory of those smooth, flat rocks one found along the shore and skipped across the water as a child.

Hepworth, whose work has an affinity with that of her countryman Henry Moore, her former husband Ben Nicholson, and her other famous contemporaries Brancusi and Arp, was concerned throughout her career with the relationship of sculpture to architecture and the environment. "Single Form" oltomizes their successful integration. There is fluidity in this sculpture, a mobility completely that it different with and in completely to the building it is almost alive, not as an organism but as an essence. The sculpture resembles the water that encircles it, the same but slways different, and the view through the hole changes like the endless series of droplets splashing on its surface.

Hepworth teems to have thought of her sculpture as if it were alive, an extension of human vitality, "You can't make a sculpture, in my opinion, without involving your body. You move and you feel and you breathe and you touch. The spectator is the same, His body is involved too. If it's a sculpture he has to first of all sense gravity. He's got two feet. Then he must walk and move and use his.

"Single Form": Sculpture by Barbara Hepworth eyes and this is a great involvement. Then if a form goes in like that - what are those holes for? One is physically involved and this is sculpture. It's not architecture. It's rhythm and dance and everything. It's to do with a swimming and movement and air and sea and all our well-being."

The Home Forum

Hepworth executed most of her 500 sculptures and a considerable number of paintings in her studio in St. Ives, Cornwall: A slight woman whose size did not limit the monumentality of her work and a mother of four whose children were an "inspiration" rather than an obstacle, Hepworth's vision is fundamentally heroic and harmonious. She used tension and conflict to produce "af-firmative work," accomplishing a transfer of energy from the personal to the universal. One senses in her work the unrelenting drive for peace and perfection, and she once said of her sculpture, "I would hate it if I did things heedlessly. I would hate them so I would set fire to the whole studio. I really

Diana Loercher

The Monitor's religious article

Reliability

what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?"

Christ Jesus showed us that justice, mercy, and love were right where enslaving beliefs of evil seemed to predominate. Why? Be-cause God actually reigns. In His kingdom harmony prevails. But His kingdom—the understand that there is something for us in only kingdom — is not a kingdom of matter ruled by limiting laws of matter. God's a fantasy of bird life, a ballet of forest kingdom is wholly spiritual, including man, and it is ruled only by God, divine Mind. creatures, a perpetual pageant of intimated forms and moods and designs. For Rebecca Christian Science, in accord with the teachings of the Bible, explains that God is flowers, especially the shy, exquisite or-chids, creation at its fount. For me, there is the realm of plants growing so vibrantly that spiritual image and likeness, reflects all the loving attributes of God. The man God has created can manifest only spiritual qualities. They comprise his real selfhood, his true and understory" as though speaking of the different levels within a building. It is identity. Man exists in Spirit, God. No hypocrisies can enter here. No fallacies of material-mindedness can limit or imprison. The divine Mind, Truth, and Love governs. all. What we understand of spiritual reality manifests itself in our human experience too. The quality of our existence depends on called into being from a primitive state. What bothers her is that to live for such rewards one must confront aloneness. It is not an aloneness we deliberately choose, and few there are who do. We simply have not been joined by others who share dealings with our fellowman.

similar motivations - with desire enough to persist in the effort of achievement. This aloneness is very difficult and even inpleasant for one strange reason — the resence of oneself. There are here no easy distractions, no ready identification with other persons in their activities or moods, and small are the comforts provided by other This loosening process can be fascinating, even startling in a detached manner of observance. Like seeing still another underlying layer of wallpaper in the renovation of an old house. Or hearing "voices" i For

> He looks like a moth. The wings (Why do wings always look so fragile?)

are of nylon not wax and today it is a sport -"hang gliding". "sky surfing." But, seeing a boy leap from a cliff to hover between sun/sea makes one remember of his father's crafting

also fleeing his own invention counsels "the middle course" but the youth would aim higher as the young always will. With his wings sun-seared the myth ends in disaster as mythe always do.

But who can say with certainty that reality must do the same?

Margaret Teuda

Goodness in this present age that some-times seems so loaded with badness? Yes.

the quality of our thoughts. ,

An understanding of these truths enables us to lead purposeful lives, to express health and happiness, to meet challenges calmly and with assurance, to be reliable in our

Mary Baker Eddy, who discovered and founded Christian Science, writes, "Unselfish ambition, noble life-motives, and purity, - these constituents of thought, mingling, constitute individually and collectively true happiness, strength, and permanence."

Is it possible for us to find more reliability in our dealings with other individuals, even nations? It is when we put God first. Christian Science shows that mankind can rise above the strife and confusion of false

The Icarus Impulse

Daedalus, the father

The individual has the privilege and duty to set for himself or herself the high goal of are attributes of Principle. Principle counreliability. A profound passage in the Biblo by Micah, a prophet of the eighth century B.C., asks, "He hath shewed thee, O man, as Truth — all the truth there is — helps immeasurably to meet and solve the human situations facing us.

We must see the eternal fact of God's perfection and man as the image and likeness of God. This spiritual understanding can open the pathway that will lead us and all mankind to enjoy the rich blessings of

*Micah 6:8; Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 58.

BIBLE VERSE

Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Fa-ther which is in heaven. Matthew 5:16

A deeply Christian way of healing love and compassion that moved Jesus when he healed. In his ministry he turned the thought of those seeking healing to a fuller understanding of God's love and goodness.

In a deep, prayerful search of the Bible, Mary Baker Eddy discovered that Jesus' teaching and healing were scientific. She learned that health, freedom, and abundance are the natural and provable effects of God's overflowing goodwill for His children.

After proving this in her own healing work, she taught others how they could be healed by spiritual means alone. She explains this method of Christian healing in her book Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures. A careful study of its message can give you the clear understanding of God that heals. You can obtain a copy with the coupon below.

Miss Frances C. Carlson Publisher's Agent 4-5 Grosvenor Place, 8th Floor, London SWIX 7JH Please send me a paperback copy of Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures. (H) the thinker than to My chaque for £1.07 enclosed as payment in full.

Live

motive or another.

delicately like the sanderling whose timing is so exact: the sea can't throw him a curve he can't greet and elude in one act. Close to the sand his white belly glides on tiny twig legs whose racing defeats the eye. His search is ours

His rhythm is the sea's rhythm always. in a split second at the mouth of the gathering wave he finds the virgin sand — then off never more than an inch shead of the whispering lace of the wave's intricate edge .

As the next event of your calm life breaks: and spills across this sandy hour you find your feet and move that Inch shead of catastrophe with such finessel You're learning rapidly.

Godfrey John

Nixon loyalists and Mr. Ford

From Mid-America

A year ago the millions of die-hard Nixon supporters who populated the nation's midsection had not yet given up on What's happened to these Nixon supporters?

Melvin Maddocks

'A lonely

hunter'

When the late Carson McCullers was a girl in Columbus, Georgia, she used to stare out from under her bangs with those dark, intense eyes and tell comparative strangers: "I'm going to be very famous."

Like her fellow Southerners, Tennessee Williams (with whom she was very (riendly) and Truman Capote (with whom she was not so friendly), she seemed to find her special sense of aristocracy in being an Artist (with a

The Artist — if one reads between the lines of "The Lonely Hunter" or "The Member of the Wedding" - belongs by Carson McCullers's definition to an elect.

He or she is a visionary, conscious of a profounder goodness and an intenser love, aware of possibilities to

But if the Artist is thus a kind of priest, he is also his own sacrifice. To be an Artist, Carson McCullers suggested, was to have no skin. In exchange for the gift of more exquisite perceptions, the Artist is condemned to more exquisite pains too.

Carson McCullers's concept of the Artist as a solitary, alienated aristocrat-of-the-spirit is hardly unique. In fact, it may well be the consensus view of the post-bourgeois Artist as seen by himself and a considerable portion of the modern audience. What

Carson McCullers did was carry the notion to an extreme and make a challenge of it.

Nothing seemed to matter but The Work, and a new blography of her; "The Lonely Funter" by Virginia. Spencer Carr (Doubleday, $12.50), details in over 500 pages just what Carson McCullers was willing to sacrifice in her own life and the lives of others in order to produce. To be her friend, said one friend, was "an occupation that took 100 percent of your time." She was, at the minimum, "a handful."

"Carson burdened everyone who got close to her,"

"I always felt Carson was a destroyer," summed up

Love me, and I will give you Art - this seems to be

Was not this bargain more than fair? Surely as Artist's unique offering exempts him from other responsibilities? Indeed if an Artist tried to play by the ordinary rules, wouldn't he cease to be extraordinary?

The notion of the Artist as a Dionysian hero, illuminating life even as he burns up lives (including his own) is a notion Carson McCullers appears to have accepted instinctively. On the Artist's part, nobody suffered more, From the age of 24 on, she did her work with a body that was ailing and often wracked. A gallantry went with that monstrous egotism. She once planned a book called "In Spite Of," about writers whose achievement represented the overcoming of unusual obstacles. Who was more qualified to write it?

are in the Undecided Seventles about our attitude toward the Artist. In the less undecided Sixtles there on all aides by a creas society — to mote the too-earnest words of Carson McCullers's biographer And the artist (with a small a), idealized as a service member of the community - a kind of cobbler of the Muses — celebrating in music, dance, and poetry everybody's festivals. Yet through these caricalures a

"How did the Artist (capital A) get lost in his own Ego (capital E)?" wa cry, sensing the loss for him as well as for ourselves. But we don't complain too loudly because, in spite of Grandma Moses and the guitar player down the block, folk art isn't what it used to be.

And for our own sense of loneliness as well as our variable ecstasies, the Artist (capital A) is all we've real chance of function is measured.

Carson McCullers reminds us of how undecided we

the only bargain Carson McCullers knew how to strike declared the playwright Lillian Hellman.

the Irish novelist Elizabeth Bowen.

And these were friends speaking.

with her friends and with the world.

life beyond the range of others.

From our many conversations, with political leaders and with people, generally, in this region - and in other regions, too — we have come to these conclusions: The Nixon die-hards, by and large, are particularly unforgiving and bitter. They stood by him, but he did not · However, they are not as vindictive toward Nixon as are many liberal Democrats. They think the Ford pardon was in order, that Nixon had been punished sufficiently by the indignity of being forced out of office.

• These former ardent Nixonites don't seem to be too impressed with President Ford, Many find him too liberal. They don't like his selection of Rockefeller as Vice-President. They find his Vietnam war amnesty moves not at all to their liking. And they think he is doing far too little to hold down federal spending and to balance the budget

 Even today, one seldom hears these Nixon byalists say they were "wrong" -- that they were wrong in their failure to perceive the great moral collapse of the Nixon administration. They tend to say, "Well, it was no worse that what former presidents — Democratic presidents — had been

 Also, there are a few within the Nixon hard core who refuse to admit he has done anything wrong. They loved Richard Nixon. They still love him. To these people Nixon remains a hero, unsullied except by the malice of others.

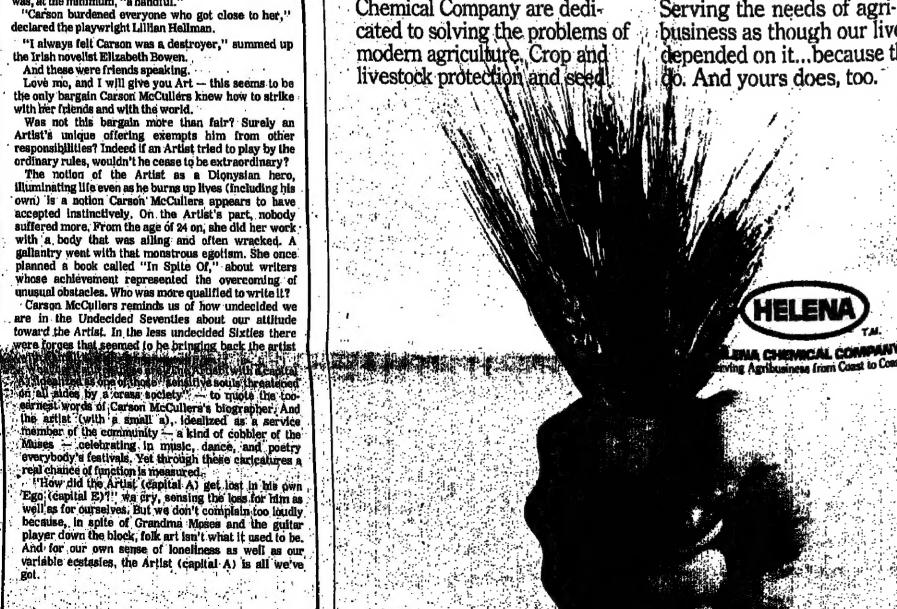

It means that the Nixon loyalists, although very quiet now, have not really come back into the mainstream of American They may act as a potent "negative" force in next year's presidential race — their lack of support for President Food (if this feeling persists) being potentially sufficient to deler-

Helena helps the hand that feeds you.

Today's agribusinessman has a tough row to hoe. Despite spiraling food prices, farmers' "incomes dropped 16% last year ...and the picture for 1975 isn't much brighter. We at Helena Chemical Company are dedicated to solving the problems of products are our specialty. Constant research and innovative methods are helping us to help the farmer feed and clothe the Helena Chemical Company: Serving the needs of agribusiness as though our lives depended on it...because they do. And yours does, too.

COMMENTARY

Waging war with the weather

By Victor Zorza

This is the second of two articles discussing likely

At first sight, the possibility of environmental warfare may seem "completely fantastic," says a Soviet journal, but its use in some form or another "cannot be excluded." It says that U.S. research shows that the electricity in the atmosphere could be used "to suppress the mental activity" of large groups of people in target areas. A sonic generator tuned to an infrasound frequency (a frequency below the hearing level) could induce "feelings of depression, fear, panic, terror, and despair," and could even kill, "Work is in progress to find ways to change the nature of lightning." to ncrease its power and "to direct electric charges of tremendous power against specified targets."

The banning of these and many other science fiction weapons was demanded in a draft convention presented to the United Nations by the Soviet Union last September. No one paid much attention then, but Party Secretary Leonid Brozhnev's new call for international agreements to ban the creation of new weapons, "even more awesome" than nuclear arms, suggest that the Kremlin may soon demand more attention for its proposal. Mr. Brezhnev did not say that he had environmental warfare in mind, but these are the only weapons developments now conceivable which seem to qualify for "more awesome" category.

International Life, the Moscow journal in which the article on environmental warfare appeared, is the most serious and authoritative Soviet monthly dealing with foreign affairs. Krasnaya Zvevda (Red Star), the main army daily, also had an article on "the exceptional danger to the whole world" posed by the modification of the environment "for destructive military purposes.'

In Soviet discussion of the subject, the "special danger" of environmental warfare is seen in the possibility that "it may be waged by the aggressor secretly for many years," with his victim being unaware of it and therefore unable to take action to counter it. Hurricanes, floods, droughts, and earthquakes occur quite frequently in some areas, says International Life, and it would be difficult to identify any of these that might be

The Soviet articles say that nuclear tests were used in Nevada to experiment with artificially induced earthquakes. and that other methods were used for the same purpose in Colorado. The Soviet Union admits only to rainmaking and rain suppression efforts, and to hail and fog dispersal, but it concedes that such programs also could be used for destructive military ends.

The Pentagon, which also concedes as much, is spending about $2 million a year on weather research. Pentagon officials say that this is necessary both for peaceful purposes, and for the development of weapons in case a potential enemy

No one admits to any work on the modification of the climate and the environment for military purposes. Both the Soviet Union and the United States agreed, during the last Nixon-Brezhnev summit, to work to avert any such danger, and officials of both countries have since met a number of times to discuss the issue.

Among the dangers discussed in the Soviet press is the possible melting of the Arctic ice which could be brought about by a small nuclear explosion, causing tidal waves which would roll over coastal cities and regions. Tidal waves also might be caused by explosions on the edge of the continental shelf, and the Soviet draft convention calls for a specific ban on these and many other such activities. Among them are modification of the climate which might create desert areas, and the deliberate destruction of the ozone layer in the upper

The Cyprus dilemma

A localized "window" in the ozone layer would, it is said, let through dangerous ultraviolet rays. What the Soviet press does not say is how such a window could be kept localized. There is, indeed, good reason to say that none of the dangers foreseen by the Soviet draft convention and specified in it, are becoming "more acute and urgent with every day" to use Mr. Brezhnev's phrase.

Why, then, the sudden sense of urgency and of dire danger which Mr. Brezhnev now seeks to communicate?

Dr. Kissinger has made it clear that there would not be much point to the projected Ford-Brezhnev summit in the autumn unless the SALT-2 agreement was ready for signing. Mr. Brezhnev badly needs the summit meeting as part of his preparations for the new Party Congress, but neither side seems inclined to make the concessions now needed for a SALT agreement.

An agreement to ban environmental warfare might be easier to reach. It might give Mr. Brezhnev a pretext for a summit visit to Washington - if the White House is prepared to play his game - and for claiming a momentous victory in the cause of peace and the security of future generations.

©1975 Victor Zorza

Joseph C. Harsch

Anyone wishing to understand why prob-lems in foreign affairs take so long to resolve should have a careful look at the present "Cyprus problem." It is a classic case of how emotions arising out of history make it difficult for statesmen to behave rationally.

If there were no history, no emotions, no religions, no ethnic rivalries getting in the way it would be relatively easy for reasonable and responsible men to sit around a table and sort out the Cyprus problem and arrange to have the Greek majority on that island get along fairly and happily with the Turkish minority. But if you look at the details you will realize that not a single party to the matter can at present act objectively — much as all of them would like to be able to do so.

Let's start with the American position. There is an American embargo on sales of American arms to Turkey. The government of the United States in Washington would like to lift that embargo. Its existence makes it impossible for the government of Turkey to begin serious negotiations with the government of Greece. To negotiate under the pressure of the arms embargo would be giving in to military pressure exerted by an ally. Public opinion in Turkey is outraged by the embargo, A Turkish Government which knuckled under to such pressure would be overthrown — the next morning. It is politically impossible for the Turks to negotiate so karios, the President of Cyprus, who was long as the embargo hangs over their heads.

But Congress will not allow President Ford to lift the embargo because there is an extremely effective and powerful Greek lobby backed by the well-organized Greek community in the U.S. There are few Turks in the U.S. and no effective Turkish lobby to balance off the Greek lobby. The Greek lobby has enlisted the tacit support of the Israeli lobby which has recently showed its muscle by lining up 76 senatorial signatures to a petition to President Ford on behalf of Israel. No other lobby in American history could ever muster such strength in the Senate.

The Greeks in the U.S., and in Greece and Cyprus as well, have reason to seek American pressure on Turkey. A year ago the Turks used their superior military power in the area to seize a large segment of Cyprus. It is proportionately larger than the Turkish mi-nority in the population. It includes the best and most prosperous resorts. The seizure dispossessed a lot of Greeks. It also prevented the Greek Cypriots from seizing control of the whole of Cyprus.

But then, this Turkish use of military power had been triggered by an attempted coup d'etat on Cyprus launched by the former probably the last best chance Cyprus ever had of a compromise solution to its problems. The old junta destroyed itself in what was probably an effort to save itself by the coup on

But now we have probably the best govern-ment in Athens that Greece has enjoyed certainly since World War II and some would say the best in this century. It should be encouraged. It is in the best interests of Turkey to encourage the new Greek Government. It would do so — if it could. The Turks certainly should not be in the position of nishing the new Greek Government of Prime Minister Caramanlis for the misdeeds of the old junta which Mr. Caramanlis himself helped mightily to overthrow.

Where is the fault? The old Greek junta triggered the whole problem, American policy shares in responsibility for allowing the junta to come to power and for upholding it for so long. Both Greeks and Turks, with much reason, blame Washington. Both believe that if Washington had withdrawn its support from the junta it would have collapsed and lost its power to do harm long before it did fall. And even at the last moment a firm warning from Washington could have prevented the coup Greek Government of the colonels. An attempt which unleashed the war on Cyprus and the was made to assassinate Archbishop Masubsequent Turkish use of military power. which unleashed the war on Cyprus and the

Both Greeks and Turks inevitably look to Washington to help right their respective wrongs. Washington certainly should do all it can to encourage the excellent government of Mr. Caramanlis. It has every reason to be friendly and helpful to its important Turkish ally - without whom there could be no effective southeastern flank for NATO.

But how does anyone break the vicious circle which surrounds the problem? The Greeks can hardly make a first move so long as Turkish soldiers occupy more than a fair share of the territory of Cyprus — and won't negotiate about it. But the Turks cannot make a first move so long as they are under the pressure of the American arms embargo. President Ford can't lift the embargo because the Greek lobby is strong in Congress. Congressional resistance on the embargo is made all the stronger by the Turkish threat to close down American bases in Turkey. The Greek Government in Athens can't call off the Greek lobby in Washington unless there is public assurance of eventual fair treatment for the Greek majority on Cyprus, which the Turks can't give at this juncture - because of

Perhaps the lesson, if there is one, is that Washington should try to rise above its reflexive fondness for dictatorship by right-

Southeast Asia: dangerous power vacuum

American military power is being fastshuffled out of mainland Southeast Asia, and when the last troops leave Thailand, a new and incertain era will begin.

For 35 years, the United States has tought diplomatically and militarily to prevent any fattening on the wealth of Southeast Asia from the diplomatic pressures against Japan in 1939 that led directly to Pearl Harbor, through World War II, the stalemated victory in Korea and defeat in Vietnam.

Now, the most massive and threatening vacuum of power in modern history has been created by the debacle in Indo-China and Thalland's predictable reaction, the abrogation of its U.S. alliance. For the first time in something like 250 years, no foreign policesomething like 250 years, no foreign police—war proved the political advantage of subterman blocks the historic expansionist surges of - fuge, and Hanoi may be immobilized for the the region's most vigorous races. There is rein under present circumstances on the use possibly widespread turmoil. President have been undergoing special training. made of this vast power will be provided by Peking and Hanoi themselves or by encroaching Russia. The predominant hope is that the guarrelsome communists will block each other from physical expansion. Otherwise, the region's defense will rest on the possibility that an open invasion by any communist force would create unacceptable guerrilla opposition from local "nationalists." China may be restrained by the more practical reason that the Vietnam present by its gigantic task of rehabilitation.

little or no chance the U.S. will come back on But the continued existence of massive land.

Asian leaders fully recognize that they are the dominant political influence in Asia for at the mercy of the two most powerful land, the foreseeable future. It has been used armies in Asian history. China and Vietnam largedy for political blackmail. China's hit-marching individually, collectively, or even and-run invasion of India in 1962 was a well-

Bhutto of Pakistan has predicted publicly that upheavals spawned by Indo-China may reach Bangladesh and Assam, eastern India. This is the domino theory, which is accepted as a truism in this part of the world. And to the threatened Asians, the idea that a vacuum of power would remain unfilled is unrealistic; the Asian Instinct is to capitalize on every opportunity. The two power vacuums created in the past led to the Korean war and to a race to succeed the British in the Indian Ocean area by the Soviets and two new empires, Iran and India, with the U.S. a late starter.

At least seven insurrections of varied intensity are alive in Southeast Asia and India, five of them under direct Chinese control and a stitch dominated by Hanoi. All have been contained by local governments, and none would be threatening without sufficiently.

outside support. Asian leaders, even those in competitively, could overwhelm any possible remembered warning that Peking will not the relatively unconcerned capitals of South coalition of Southeast Asian armies and might hesitate to use punitive power.

Asia, expect both Peking and Hanoi to refuel make a shambles of the provident fine provident the provident fine provident to refuel the most provident from the provident fine provident for the provident from the provident form of the provident form of the provident from the provident form of the provident from the pr

> The immediate danger is that the communists will embroil Thailand in a war on the Vietnam pattern by using their new positions in Laos and Cambodia to intensify their two guerrilla wars in northern Thalland. In this way, the Asians expect a slow, but perhaps inexorable, communist march across Southeast Asia.

> "Well, what difference does it make if all Southeast Asia goes communist?" asks a well-traveled and polished Pakistani diplomat.

The answer is that the strategic importance of Southeast Asia - which precipitated the Pacific war and, later, the sacrificial American effort to save the region - is now immeasurably more significant.

Mr. Brines le q veteran reporter on. Asian offairs.

